OYAMA HAS FOUR CORPS

With These He Is Essaying an Enveloping Movement on Mukden.

IS 30 MILES SOUTH

Kuropatkin, Meanwhile, Has Been Reinforced by Two Army Corps.

RUSSIAN OFFICERS KILLED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—(3:20 a. m.)—The Japanese advance toward Mukden continues slowly, according to information received by the authorities here. Both official reports and press dispatches place Marquis Oyama's advance guard 30 miles south of Mukden, while stories printed in the foreign press that a great battle at Mukden has already begun are disproved by the actual development at the scene of operations.

There is no question in the minds of the Russian authorities of the importance of Mukden to the Japanese as a winter base. It is believed the Japanese will exert every effort to push out the Russians, but it is thought a serious struggle for the possession of the town is still some days distant. The Japanese probably will have to reckon first with a stubborn defense of the Fushun mines, where the next important fight is expected to take place.

Judging by present developments, Marquis Oyama is giving up the idea of cutting Gen. Kuropatkin's communication to the northward, and contenting himself with advancing upon the Russian front and flank in such fashion as to force the evacuation of the town and compel the Russians to retreat further north. The whole plan of the Japanese advance shows a considerable difference from the operations at Liao-Yang. At the same time it is possible the Japanese are again making undisclosed movements, as they have successfully done in the past.

Four Corps at Work.

According to the best information Oyama has three armies concentrated south and southeast of Mukden, while a fourth corps of two divisions, composed of men drafted from the armies of Gens. Kuroki, Nodzu and Oku, is detached to Dziantchan, thence sending out flanking columns northward and northeastward with the object of protecting Oyama's right, and at the same time driving in the Russian outposts. An enveloping movement on such a large scale as Gen. Kuroki essayed at Liao-Yang is not expected. Evidently the Japanese realize that their strength is inadequate to justify another attempt to surround Gen. Kuropatkin, who now is stronger by two army corps than he was at Liao-Yang.

The report has gained some credence here that it is the intention of the Japanese to winter at Mukden if they can take the town, and then hold on until an accumulation of Russian forces on their front compels them to retire to the Liao-Tung peninsula and Korea, the retreat in this direction drawing Gen. Kuropatkin after them.

Orders have been issued to prepare seven rifle brigades for service in the far east.

A detachment under Gen. Rennengampff while reconnoitering yesterday lost two officers and nine men killed, and had three officers and 23 men wounded.

During the repulse of the recent Japanese attack on Da pass, Gen. Peterhof took several prisoners and captured a quantity of arms and ammunition. The Russians lost a captain and three men killed, and had 45 men wounded.

Damaged Ships Repaired.

Capt. Cladot, Vice Admiral Skrydloff's chief of staff, has arrived here from Vladivostok with important dispatches for the emperor. In an interview Capt. Cladot said that the repairs to the protected cruiser Bogatyr have been completed, that the damages to the armored cruisers Gromoboi and Rossia did not necessitate their going into dry dock, and that both are fit to resume active service.

Cladot says the Russians will be unable to recapture Port Arthur in the event of its fall, without having the mastery of the sea and he urges the dispatch of every available ship to the far east, including the Black sea fleet.

Admiral Birileff, the Russian naval commander at Cronstadt, has ordered the battleship Orel, the cruisers Oleg and Jemtcug, and the transport Kamchatka to be ready for sea September 25, and the cruiser Izumrud on September 29. The captains have been granted full powers to use the whole of the dock yard staff at Cronstadt, which is working night and day in order to complete these vessels' trials by the dates specified. They will then proceed to join Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron.

The general staff has issued a revised list of the Russian casualties at Liao-Yang, showing that 1,810 men were killed, that 10,811 were wounded, and that 1,212 were left on the field. Fifty-four regimental officers were killed and 252 were wounded. Two generals were killed and three were wounded. Five officers were left on the field. Of the wounded 1,334 men and 34 officers have already returned to duty. Those reported to be missing are probably dead.

Both were born near Rising Sun, Ind. Albert chose farming, while his brother, Moses, served as a captain during the civil war and afterward entered the Baptist ministry.

LADY CURZON IS VERY ILL

King's Physician and Specialists from Paris Are Summoned.

SHE HAS PERITONITIS

Her Mother, Sister and Brother Rushing from Denver to Catch the Steamer.

HUSBAND IS OVERWHELMED

By PAUL LAMBETH.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The condition of Lady Curzon of Kedleston, formerly Miss Leiter of Chicago, is most serious, although she was slightly improved tonight. Acute peritonitis has developed and the physicians who are in attendance on her ladyship make no concealment of their anxiety as to the result of her illness. Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to his majesty's household, arrived at Walmer castle tonight on a special train. He had been on the continent, but was summoned by wire when Lady Curzon's illness assumed a serious turn and promptly responded. Two specialists also arrived from Paris.

As stated in these dispatches, Lady Curzon has never fully recovered from her accouchement in March. The ceremonies attendant on the induction of her distinguished husband as warden of the Cinque ports made a further draft on her vitality, and attendance on her social duties, together with the preparations for her departure to India, has left her in bad shape. While motoring Tuesday her illness assumed an acute form in the shape of internal hemorrhages, which her physicians were unable to stop. Now it is declared that acute peritonitis has supervened, and while hope of her recovery has not been given up, her enfeebled condition makes the situation exceedingly grave and the worst is feared.

Lord Curzon, who has indefinitely postponed his departure for India, has received many messages of inquiry and sympathy from the highest in the land, including their majesties, the king and queen, and Premier Balfour.

LEITERS ON HURRIED TRIP FROM WEST TO NEW YORK

Said to Have Received Even Worse News from Lord Curzon Than Is Made Public.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, COL., Sept. 22.—A race with death, which will cover 5,000 miles, was begun by Joseph Leiter, the Chicago millionaire; his mother, Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter, and his sister, Miss Daisy Leiter, today when they left Denver for the east, hoping to reach the bedside in England of Lady Curzon, Mr. Leiter's sister, before she dies. The fastest trains, the speediest ocean liner that is due to leave New York when they arrive, will be taken by the Leiter family in their hurried trip. Already tickets have been purchased from Chicago to New York and from New York to London. There will be no delay of any kind.

The Leiters decided to take the trip when they received a cable message today from Lord Curzon, in which he said that the illness of Lady Curzon was more serious than had been made public. A second dispatch stated that the chances were against her recovery. When the first news of his sister's illness reached young Joseph Leiter he was in Wyoming on his ranch, where he had gone to recuperate from the strain of his labor troubles in the Illinois coal mining town, which he owns. He took the first train for Denver. There he met his mother and sister.

Mrs. Leiter and her daughter prepared for the trip, while Mr. Leiter called a stenographer and dictated messages to Omaha, Chicago, New York and London. The dispatches arranged for private cars, special trains and steamship transportation. Mr. Leiter and his mother and sister then drove to a depot, where they caught a train for Chicago, by way of Omaha. They will arrive in Chicago tomorrow, and will jump from one train to another. Twenty-four hours later they will arrive in New York. From the ferry they will take a cab to a steamship pier without wasting any time, and if all goes well they expect to arrive in London on October 1.

MARRIED HIS STEPMOTHER AND CAUSED SENSATION

Alabama Financier's Wedding May Be in Violation of the State Laws.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MOBILE, ALA., Sept. 22.—The news of the marriage of Sidney Lowenstein to Mrs. Clara Lowenstein, his stepmother, in Chicago on Tuesday last created a sensation here and in fact all over the state. Lowenstein is at the head of two banking firms, and is well known in financial circles in New York city.

His stepmother was formerly a Miss Linneberg of Port Gibson, Miss., and there are several attorneys who are of the opinion that under the law against relatives marrying one another, that they cannot live together in this state as man and wife. Lowenstein made two efforts to obtain a marriage license in this city, but was informed by the judge of probate that under the law it could not be granted.

ACCIDENT DELAYS PRESIDENT'S TRAIN

Drive Wheel of the Locomotive Broke Near the Baltimore Tunnel.

ROOSEVELT NOT DISTURBED

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President Roosevelt came back to Washington tonight 45 minutes behind time on account of an accident to the engine at Baltimore near the long tunnel. He was met by a guard of about 50 policemen in uniform and 25 men who were said to be secret service men. It was dark when he arrived. Nevertheless, he took off his hat and the crowd knew him and cheered.

In the party with the president were Mrs. Roosevelt, three of the children, Mr. Loeb, private secretary, and Mrs. Loeb. The president as usual paid his respects to the engineer and fireman and then took the carriage on the Sixth street side of the Pennsylvania station and was whirled away to the White House, with a retinue of bicycle policemen and secret service men.

Fortunately the train was proceeding at a very slow rate of speed when the accident occurred. In some unaccountable manner the tire of the rear drive wheel on the left side of the engine broke and curled off. One end of it protruded upward and jammed through the boiler of the engine, causing an almost immediate shutting off of the steam. This soon deadened the engine, and the engineer, Joseph Weatherby, promptly put on the airbrakes and the train came to a stop without delay.

Word was immediately sent to the yard to have another engine sent to the scene. The call was promptly responded to and the train proceeded to Washington.

The president and his party took the matter very cooly and did not manifest any alarm. Some members of the train crew went back to the president's car to shake hands with him on the run from Baltimore to Washington, and in their brief conversation with him spoke of the accident. The president, however, assured them that he had not been alarmed and remarked that if all his troubles were as slight as that he would be "getting along beautifully."

Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania joined the party in Philadelphia and came on to Washington with them. The senator announced that his speech to the Philadelphia Business Men's club will be delivered on October 1.

RUSSIA'S GOLD KEEPS PACE WITH HER PAPER

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—The Imperial Bank of Russia has made a further issue of 20,000,000 rubles in paper notes. At the close of August the Bank of Russia reported a note circulation of 713,000,000 rubles, an increase of 123,500,000 rubles, or $61,000,000 since the war broke out on February 5. Within the same time, however, the gold on hand at the bank, which is technically the security for the notes, had risen from 742,000,000 rubles to 860,000,000, an increase of $79,000,000.

KILLED HIMSELF WHILE NIECE PLAYED A HYMN

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—As Dora Vollmer, 12 years old, started to play on the piano the second bar of the well known hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," her uncle, George Vollmer, who had not had regular work for two years, shot himself twice through the heart and fell dead on the floor in the parlor of his brother's home in [illegible] today.

MAD MOBS AWAIT CAPTURED NEGRO

Patton and Ebensburg People Watching for Officers and Mrs. Boggan's Assailant.

THINK OFFICERS DECEIVE THEM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, Sept. 22.—Crowds at Patton and Ebensburg, excited with the mob spirit, are tonight expecting the appearance of Constable Jackson and deputies having in custody the negro who yesterday, near Patton, drove Mrs. Thomas Boggan, aged 30, at the point of a revolver into the underbrush and there held her prisoner from 9 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Patton is practically in control of a drunken crowd tonight and a lynching is certain if the officers and prisoner arrive and the fact becomes known.

Reports came here today that a tall, yellow negro answering in every particular the description of the man given by Mrs. Boggan, had been caught at La Jose, Clearfield county, and Constable Jackson and deputies hurried there from Ebensburg. No word has been received and the belief is now general that Sheriff Lenhart has directed Constable Jackson to take the prisoner to Ebensburg by an obscure route, and not to make his appearance at the jail until late tonight, when it is expected the mob will have dispersed. The officers early today admitted the arrest. Tonight the same officers were non-committal.

Mrs. Boggan is still in a serious condition, but will recover. She said today she could identify her assailant "among a thousand."

STOLE GOLD TO PROVIDE FOR HIS DYING WIFE

Pathetic Appeal Made to Court for Leniency for a New York Dentist Charged With Larceny.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Dr. Edward T. W. Ellis pleaded guilty before Recorder Goff today to a charge of larceny in the second degree in stealing $200 worth of gold for filling teeth from his former employe, Dr. Nathan J. Baker, a dentist.

Since his arrest friends of the family, including his wife, who is an invalid, and two children, have interested the Charity Organization society and the Legal Aid society in the case. Recorder Goff remanded Ellis until tomorrow for sentence and directed Detective Sergeant Kearney, who arrested the doctor, to investigate the case in the meantime and see if there are grounds for leniency. Friends of Dr. Ellis say that he stole the gold to provide necessaries for his family. Dr. Ellis' father was a brigadier general under Gen. Grant in the civil war. He came here several months ago from Rockford, Ill.

"Have mercy upon my husband. I am dying of consumption and he stole to procure food for me and to feed our two little children."

This was the pathetic appeal written today to Recorder Goff which led him to suspend sentence.

MADE DEMAND FOR $2,000 UNDER PAIN OF DEATH

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Capt. Harmon of the police force of White Plains and his detectives are today trying to get a clue as to the writer of a letter which was sent to Thomas Holden of Brookfield street, this village, demanding $2,000 under a threat of death. It is believed that the author of the letter was a member of a "Black Hand." The writing looks like that of an illiterate person.

BOY "BLOWS" ON HIS PALS

Desperate Gang of Chicago Thugs Rounded Up as Result.

HELD FOR MURDER

Lad's Confession Also Reveals Companions in Many Other Large Crimes.

POLICE PUT OUT A DRAG-NET

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The remarkable confession of a pale-faced boy robber—John Francis Smith, aged 18 years—today betrayed into the hands of the police one of the largest and most desperate cliques of criminals ever captured in Chicago. Eight men have already been taken into custody, charged with specific crimes, ranging from murder to burglary. Much booty has been recovered, and many more captures are expected.

Young Smith confessed taking part in the murder and robbery of Hans Peterson, the West Side tobacco dealer, and told the whole inside story of the crime. He implicated five of the men now under arrest, branding "Jocko" Briggs as the man who fired the fatal shots.

The boy told of dining with his mother, of dressing in a new suit and borrowing a nickel from her to ride to the appointed place of murder. He rode to the scene chatting with a girl friend, Miss Minnie Olson, who is said to have betrayed him.

Two of the five men branded by Smith's confession as accomplices in the Peterson murder were caught as they were trying to flee from the city on a west-bound train. Later, three other men charged with a long list of burglaries on the West Side under leadership of Smith were captured. Four suspected highwaymen were taken on the North Side and charged with crimes. A score of alleged criminals were caught in the toils during the day, half of them as a result of young Smith's confession.

The five men charged with part in the Peterson murder and robbery are:

John Francis Smith, aged 18 years, living with his mother in 1910 West Lake street, who claims to be an old partner in crime with Briggs, and who confessed to acting as spy for the Peterson robbery.

Joseph Briggs, known as "Jocko," ex-convict and old offender, charged by Smith with killing Peterson and wounding the negro porter Potee and implicated in a score of robberies.

John Leonard, known as "Lefty," ex-convict and all-around criminal, friend of Briggs, charged with proposing and planning Peterson crime.

Harry Brown, alias "James Devine," ex-convict and notorious criminal, recently released from a southern penitentiary; caught today fleeing from the city with Leonard.

Three men captured as alleged members of a large West Side holdup gang, under leadership of young Smith, and charged with three big burglaries are:

James Finley, known as "Circus Solly;" William Gordon and an unknown, under arrest on telegraph orders in Coldwater, Mich., to be returned to Chicago.

These three, with young Smith and others, are said to have committed holdups and burglaries all over the city. Three crimes in the Warren avenue district charged to them are the robbery of the jewelry store of S. J. Hathaway, the hardware store of P. W. Nouges and the residence of Charles Fanning, all recent crimes. Booty worth $300 was recovered and several "fences" are under surveillance.

TOM WATSON STRIKES NEGRO HACK DRIVER

John Had Introduced a Black Woman Into the Cab as Presidential Candidate's Seatmate.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HOUSTON, TEXAS, Sept. 22.—Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, Populist candidate for president of the United States, who is to speak here tomorrow, arrived unexpectedly tonight, and the committee failed to meet him.

At the station Mr. Watson hired a hack to drive to a hotel, and was requested by the driver to admit another passenger. The driver presented a negro woman as his seatmate, whereupon Mr. Watson left the hack and struck the negro driver a blow.

ODDS ARE ON ROOSEVELT.

Syndicate Is Formed to Take Up a $5,000 Bet in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Betting on the election results on the curb became more brisk today after languishing for weeks. There was little betting on the presidential ticket, but the odds were on Roosevelt. The general betting talk was on the situation in New York state, and it was significant. The prevailing odds named were 10 to 8½ that Roosevelt will carry New York state.

A $5,000 syndicate has been formed with William Leary as managing director, to make an election bet with ex-Mayor Robert A. Van Wyck, who will arrive here from abroad next week. According to a London cablegram Mr. Van Wyck offers to bet $5,000 that New York City will give Judge Parker the biggest majority it has ever given a Democratic candidate. The Leary syndicate says it is eager to take up the bet.

TETER TO OPPOSE SCOTT FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

PHILIPPI, W. VA., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—C. F. Teter, who was defeated for the Republican nomination for governor by W. M. O. Dawson, states that in the event of a Republican legislature being elected this year, he will be a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Nathan B. Scott.

HE LOST HIS SLOUCH HAT

Only Incident That Marred Fairbanks' Delight at Reading Reception.

WAS GIVEN ANOTHER

Bill Will Be Presented When He Receives Presidential Nomination.

PREDICTS A SWEEPING VOTE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 22.

"The convention at Reading of the League of Republican Clubs was without doubt one of the most successful in its history," said Chairman Penrose this afternoon. "Senator Fairbanks was more than enthusiastic in his appreciation of the magnificent welcome in the Democratic stronghold in which the convention was held.

"Senator Fairbanks told me," said Senator Penrose, "that the meeting last night was the most satisfactory in point of numbers and in its measure of interest of any he has addressed since he took the stump. He said he was surprised to find in Pennsylvania, where the result is such a foregone conclusion, so far as the Republican majority is concerned, such an enthusiastic display of sentiment as that which greeted him when he spoke last night at Reading. He said that such a spirit as was manifested by the Republicans of the State League of clubs at their convention mass meeting clearly and fully demonstrated that there was no lack of enthusiasm in the Keystone state, and that the November majority would undoubtedly surpass any which has been given to the Republican national ticket during the past generation."

Somebody Stole His Hat.

Chairman Penrose and Senator Fairbanks, escorted by the congressional committee, of which George A. Castor is chairman, returned this morning from Reading. There was only one incident of his visit to the Gibraltar of Democracy which disturbed the equanimity of the next vice president of the United States. Somebody stole his hat. It was not the value of the hat that gave such a haggard appearance to the facial front of the presidential running mate, but the fact that it was an old hat, one that fitted all the bumps, and although slouchy in appearance, harmonized with the protective curves, the reciprocity indentations, the imperialistic promontories, the rugged corrugations of Republican foreign policy, and the fundamental lines of "prestige abroad and honor at home," that disturbed "the gentleman from Indiana." It was only natural that he should feel an official and personal loss.

But Chairman Castor of the congressional committee—the Beau Brummel of the Philadelphia delegation—is one of those happy individuals who is never "down and out." Hardly had Senator Fairbanks discovered his loss before Chairman Castor presented him with another slouch hat, of the same shade and quality as the one which had been misappropriated.

"Thanks, very much," said Senator Fairbanks; "how much do I owe you?"

Credit Good for Four Years.

"I will give you your bill four years from now when you receive the Republican nomination for president," said Congressman Castor. Senator Fairbanks smiled and made no further suggestion in the line of liquidation. It was altogether evident that he felt certain that the courtesy was one that he would be able to pay at the time stipulated.

Among other callers today at Republican headquarters was Col. Samuel Moody of Pittsburgh. Col. Moody was a life-long friend of Senator Quay, and one of his most trusted advisers. He had a long chat with Senator Penrose, who greeted him most cordially, and who has a most high regard for the western political representative of the Pennsylvania railroad system.

Col. Ned Arden Flood of Meadville, who has had a most successful stumping career in Pennsylvania, as well as in Colorado, was today notified that, commencing next Monday night, he had been assigned to Illinois for a week, in which he would occupy the platform with Mr. Deneen, Republican candidate for governor. Chairman Penrose regretted very much to lose the services of Col. Flood, who is one of the most successful young Republicans now on the stump.

Lafean Is Confident.

Erie county sent a large delegation to headquarters this afternoon. Among others who called upon Chairman Penrose were Isadore Sobel, postmaster; County Chairman Charles Martens, Clark Olds, Thomas P. Cole and Jacob Roth. From Bradford, McKean county, the visitors were M. L. Willis, L. C. Longacre and T. B. Wilson.

Congressman Lafean of York was another caller. Mr. Lafean has a very hard fight for re-election. He believes he has it won, and so does Chairmen Penrose. Robert C. Bair of York accompanied Mr. Lafean.

Capt. Richard R. Quay of Pittsburgh arrived this evening at the Bellevue-Stratford. He was met at the hotel by Senator Penrose's messenger, who made arrangement for a meeting this evening. Capt. Quay said there was no political significance attached to his visit; that he was merely here on private business.

WORKMEN RIOT AT GLASSPORT

Strikers and Non-Union Men Use Revolvers and Stones in Battle in the Street.

SEVERAL RIOTERS WERE HURT

When the non-union men employed to take the strikers' places in the Glassport plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Company met a crowd of strikers yesterday at the entrance to the mill, a riot resulted. Stones were first thrown and then revolvers were used by men on both sides. During the melee several men were hurt. James Fidler, a striker, was hit in the right leg by a bullet, but is not seriously injured. Fidler was taken to the Hotel Morrissy in Glassport, where his wound was dressed.

The strikers and non-union men collided at noon and from that hour the borough in the vicinity of the mill was in a turbulent state till late last night. Glassport police officers were unable to cope with the situation and the rioters had things pretty much their own way during the day. Officers were placed on duty in the plant last night to learn who the men were who participated in the fight and the names of the men hurt.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon about 100 men, said to be strikers, went to the office at the foundry plant and after smashing the office windows went inside and wrecked the office furniture. No one interfered with them and they took their time about leaving the place.

The strikers allege the trouble yesterday was started by non-union men. It is said that about 75 non-union workmen came out of the plant and met about 15 strikers in the street and started to fight. The strikers defended themselves with stones. The other side adopted the same method and the strikers were put to rout. The revolvers were then brought into play. No arrests have been made.

A small riot occurred near the plant last Tuesday when strikers and non-union men met. Stones were used by both sides in that fight. Nine strikers were arrested on a charge of riot, but when they were called for a hearing before a McKeesport alderman the prosecutor failed to appear and they were dismissed.

The strike at the Glassport plant has been going on for some months and is the result of a difference over wages. The strikers are becoming very bitter against the men who have taken their places.

In addition to Fidler, William Stewart and George Carl, strike-breakers, were severely injured in last night's row by being beaten with clubs.

CONFERENCE WAS HELD.

Trainmen Confer With General Manager Peck, but Reach No Conclusion.

General Manager George L. Peck of the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, conferred yesterday afternoon with the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

While no definite conclusion was reached, it is the belief of those interested that the matters in dispute will be adjusted without strife. It is expected that another conference will be held today. Mr. Peck stated last night that "matters are not yet in shape for public announcement," and refused to discuss the situation. Third Vice President Valentine Fitzpatrick of the brotherhood was also silent on the situation.

At a hearing before Justice Nicholson the detectives testified that the women were on a car throwing off coal and that 100 bushels had been carried away. They were fined $10 and costs each.

CZAR'S TROOPS ARE SHIVERING

Buy Chinese Padded Overcoats to Keep Out Sudden Manchurian Cold.

MADAME STOESSEL WOUNDED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MUKDEN, Sept. 22.—It is stated by Russian spies that Marquis Oyama has detached a considerable force to co-operate with the army before Port Arthur.

The Russians have taken many Chunchuses prisoners, among them being a number of Chinese regular soldiers.

The weather has turned suddenly cold. The supply of uniforms is inadequate, and the soldiers are being supplied with Chinese padded overcoats, which have been bought in large quantities.

The Chinese are extensively counterfeiting Russian money.

Chinese have brought into Mukden 10 soldiers who had been thought either killed or captured at Liao-Yang. They had been rescued and cared for by natives. The Chinese had refused payment for the men, but they were suitably rewarded by the officers of the regiment.

The surgeon of one of the Siberian regiments, who was captured at Liao-Yang, has arrived here. The Japanese found him attending the wounded. They treated him well, entertained him at a concert in the famous Liao-Yang summer garden and offered him a position as surgeon in the Japanese army. Finding that he preferred his own regiment, the Japanese good naturedly escorted him to the lines and allowed him to return to Mukden.

Capt. Shubert and four Buriat Cossacks have returned from a long scout south of the Japanese main army. The captain brings important information regarding the Japanese locations and movements, and says active operations in this vicinity probably will develop within a few days. Capt. Shubert experienced great kindness at the hands of the Chinese, who fed him and his men and offered to disguise them in Chinese clothing. This, however, was not necessary, as the party eluded the Japanese pickets, passing within a few yards of one and reaching the Russian lines in safety.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Various unconfirmed rumors have reached London that the Vladivostok cruisers have sailed out, that Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel has made a counter attack and recaptured a fort from the Japanese, that Madame Stoessel was wounded in the shoulder while attending wounded soldiers at Port Arthur, that the Russians are leaving Mukden, etc., but little reliable news has been received here.

Bennett Burleigh wires from Tokyo to the Daily Telegraph, denying that the Russians destroyed the railway bridge at Liao-Yang. He says that only the woodwork was burned and that the steel girders are intact. He adds that the Russians hardly damaged the railway between Dalny and Liao-Yang.

The Daily Telegraph's Tientsin correspondent reports bodies of Russians cavalrymen at Fakoman, a rich district across the Liao river, west of Tie pass.

YOUNG WOMAN DIES ON FLOOR OF PRISONERS' PEN

Ill and Helpless, Her Appeals for Mercy Fall Unheeded on Ears of a Cynical Magistrate and Hardened Police Officers.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—In the prisoners' pen of the Yorkville court today, a young and helpless woman, said to be a victim of police negligence, died before a physician, summoned at the eleventh hour, could reach her. She had been hurried to court and sentenced for five days on a charge of intoxication. Not the slightest effort had been made to ascertain the truth of this beyond the bare statement of the policeman who arrested the woman.

In a faint voice the girl gave her name as Miss Eliza Smith. She said she was homeless, but the police sergeant, noting her neat attire, guessed differently. When Magistrate Flammer heard the policeman's story, he glanced at the woman, who swayed even then as the policeman clutched her arm. He did not ask her a question, but said, "five days," and turned for the next case. The woman sank to the floor.

"Get up," said Policeman Flynn, as he pulled on her arm.

"I cannot," moaned the woman. "I am sick."

Even this had no softening effect on the policeman. He motioned to four others and they carried her bodily to the prisoners' pen.

There she was thrust in with a batch of other prisoners, some sodden with drink. Again she sank to the floor, her face betraying the pain she was suffering.

As Keeper Mountain passed the pen a moment later he saw her lips move. "I guess she's going to die, mister," whispered a hard-looking woman who was holding the sick woman in a sitting position. The keeper bent nearer and heard the sick girl say: "Please get me a glass of water."

He hurried to get it, and then notified acting Warden Lynch of the city prison. The latter telephoned to Dr. Frank A. McGuire, who hurried to the court. When he arrived the woman was dead.

The doctor refused to give a diagnosis, but emphatically expressed the opinion that the woman should have been sent to a hospital instead of a police court.

WORLD'S LEADING JURISTS DISCUSS WAR AND PEACE

Institute of International Law Listens to Speech by Lord Rosebery at Edinburgh.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

EDINBURGH, Sept. 22.—A conference of the Institute of International Law, comprising the leading jurists of the world, commenced here today under the presidency of Lord Reay. Many well-known European lawyers were present. The proceedings, which were private, were conducted in French. The principal subjects discussed were arbitration treaties, their proper interpretation, international conventions, the position of foreigners in the military service of belligerents and declarations of war and neutrality.

Sir Thomas Barclay, vice president of the International Law association, said the consideration of the question of neutrality alone would probably occupy the institute for four or five years.

Lord Reay, in the course of his opening address, said an international conference should be held before long to deal with the question of contraband and also with the constitution of prize courts, in order to give the latter a more impartial character. The transformation of merchantmen into men-of-war would have to be made subject to certain conditions, excluding all possibility of recrimination as to the nature of the transformation.

At the banquet of the Institute of International Law this evening Lord Rosebery, toasting the foreign delegates, dwelt upon the importance of questions of international law. He said it would be foolish to ignore the fact that there is supposed to be some rivalry between Great Britain and Russia, but he was convinced there is room in Asia for both powers, and when that is recognized by both, it will be the better for the world's peace.

"TECH" SCHOOL PLANS.

Committee Will Spend Another Day Examining the Drawings Submitted by Architects for New Buildings.

The Carnegie technical schools committee spent yesterday afternoon in a preliminary examination of the drawings submitted by architects of the United States for the new school buildings. The best available plans were so many that the committee found it impossible to complete its view of the details, and another meeting will be held today. Twenty sets of the drawings present so many novelties that the matter of final choice will be difficult to decide.

W. N. Frew, president of the board of trustees of the Carnegie institute, and a member of the committee, said last night that the committee had an immense task on its hands and that there would be no haste in examining the plans. The merits of each architect's work will be fully considered and to do this several days will be required. It is not known how soon the choice of plans can be announced.

STAFF ELECTED AT LAST.

One Faction in the South Side Hospital Carries Off the Victory.

Dr. W. T. Burleigh and his friends were finally victorious in the staff election of the South Side hospital last night, and Drs. W. S. Charles, W. H. McCombs, W. H. Weber, J. M. McDonald and A. J. Barchfeld were defeated.

It was a special meeting of the board of directors and at times the discussion was warm. Drs. W. T. Burleigh and George P. Rossman were elected on the first ballot. The rest of the staff was chosen on the second ballot, after William E. Sankey had withdrawn the names of Dr. Charles and Dr. McCombs.

This is the complete staff: Surgical, Drs. Burleigh, Rossman, W. H. Lehner and Austin Frank; medical, Drs. J. D. Criss, M. F. Creaven, W. C. Bohl and R. J. Phillips; proctologist, Dr. A. D. Husted, no opposition; eye and ear, Dr. Frederick Krehler, no opposition.

STEWART SEES DACHROTH.

Possibility of an Investigation of "Graft" Charges Against Allegheny Officials.

District Attorney Stewart was closeted for more than three hours yesterday with Amos A. Dachroth, the former Allegheny police officer who has made charges of "grafting" against certain officials of the North Side. Neither Mr. Stewart nor Dachroth would make any statement after the conference, but it is understood that informations are being prepared against those charged with criminal actions in the alleged graft system.

Dachroth has been busy in Allegheny for weeks past gathering evidence to be used in the promised investigation, and it is said Mr. Stewart was obtaining data from him to be used when the informations are made against those wanted in connection with the charges.

CHINAMEN PROTECTED.

Their First Statements Cannot Be Used Against Them in Deportation Cases.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 22.—By a ruling of United States Commissioner E. A. McKee the first statement of a Chinese taken after his arrest for being illegally within the boundaries of the United States, before a Chinese inspector or any inspector, cannot be used by the government as evidence against the oriental. The decision was made during the hearing of the case of Dong Sam, held for deportation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Acting Commissioner General of Immigration Larned said today that Commissioner McKee's decision would not affect the question of the admission of Chinese into the United States one way or the other, as that is confided to the decision of the executive officers.

YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE MAKE FUN FOR THE COURT

Yale Law Student and His Wife Recite Their Domestic Trouble and Then Make Up.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Sept. 22.—David G. Hathaway, a young husband and a law student in Yale university, was in the police court today on a charge of breach of the peace brought by his wife. Mrs. Hathaway said that her husband had spanked their young child with a hair brush, and that led to a dispute. The morning following she said he threw a batter of bread at her while she lay in bed, and she gave chase to him with a pancake turner.

Hathaway admitted that he had mildly spanked his wife with a light cane, but said that he acted under unusual provocation. He told the court that his wife had remained in bed and refused to get breakfast.

Scarcely able to refrain from joining in the amusement of the spectators, Judge Tyner admonished the young couple to cease quarreling and continued the case until January 2. The husband and wife left the court arm in arm.

HOSPITAL GOT MONEY.

Ball Game Fund Donated After Fall Out Between Teams That Earned It.

Inspector Milton E. Bailey of the East End police station turned over $410.10 to the East End hospital yesterday. The money represented the receipts of the baseball game played by the East End police and the E. L. Rileys on September 15. It was secured by selling tickets, and the No. 6 station policemen did all the selling except about $50 worth.

Lieut. William Hitty said last evening that the Rileys wanted to divide the receipts of the game instead of donating the money after such an agreement had been entered into. This resulted in considerable friction between the two teams, and it is not likely that they will cross bats again for a while.

The East End police were agitated last evening over a disappointment yesterday morning. They went to Friendship park for the second time this season to play the Central station team and the latter for the second time failed to be on hand, claiming the weather was too cold.

SHRINKAGE IN STEEL.

It Was Physical and Amounted to One and a Half Inch in Trolley Rails.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—A shrinkage in steel, unlike any which the stock market ever experienced, forced itself today on the attention of the contractor who is laying the new tracks for the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company on Thirteenth street. During the unprecedentedly cold September night the great steel rails, accurately measured out to be placed in position between Race and Arch streets, shrunk one and a half inch. They had to be pieced out before they could be used.

In railroad construction, where the rails are always fully exposed to sun and air, a quarter inch is allowed to every 30 feet for contraction and expansion.

THROAT CUT AND $200 MISSING

Unknown Italian Found With Death Wound in Shores Alley House.

WAS DRINKING WITH NEGROES

With his throat cut from ear to ear, slashed by a razor, and his pockets rifled of $200 which he was known to have, an Italian was found on the floor of a room at 40 Shores alley, shortly after last midnight. Mabel Lane and her man, William Duern, both negroes, who were in the room with the Italian a short time before he was found, are missing and the police are endeavoring to locate them.

The Italian, whose name could not be learned, for when found he was unable to speak, was taken to the Passavant hospital and will probably die.

The affair occurred at the house of Mrs. Mitchell in Shores alley. The Lane woman had brought the Italian to the house and was followed later by Duern. The three were drinking in an upstairs room for some time.

Other members of the household were out getting luncheon. When they returned they found the Italian lying on the floor, bleeding profusely from a terrible gash in his throat. Duern and the girl were not to be found.

The police were notified at once and Detectives Lally and Leff and Capt. R. H. Robinson, with policemen from the Center avenue station, made a thorough search of all the houses occupied by negroes in the hill district for the pair, but were unable to find a trace of them. All the outgoing trains are being watched.

Little is known by the police of either Duern or the Lane woman. She is said to have come from Chicago a short time ago and has no fixed residence. Duern is not known to the police, as he, too, has been in the town but a short time. Mabel Lane is about 26 years old and light-colored. Duern is short and stout. He is 22 years old and very black.

AULTMAN COMPANY FAILS.

Receivers Are Appointed for That Concern and the Arctic Manufacturing Company.

CANTON, O., Sept. 22.—Judge Wing of the United States district court at Cleveland tonight appointed J. J. Sullivan, president of the Central National bank, Cleveland, receiver for the Aultman company, manufacturers of farm machinery. The action was taken by heavy creditors upon the insistent demand of smaller creditors. The Arctic Manufacturing Company of Cleveland, the product of which came from the Aultman works, was also placed in the hands of Ernest A. Pfleuger of Akron as receiver. The order of Judge Wing authorizes the Aultman company to continue operation of the plant without interruption.

The trouble of the Aultman company came through the embarrassment of a number of western houses, who had taken over the season's product and paid for the same in their paper and allowed that paper to go to protest. The affairs of the Aultman company are believed to be solvent. No figures are obtainable tonight.

FIGHTING TRADING STAMPS.

Homestead Merchants Have Filed Bonds That They Will Not Use Them.

The fight against trading stamps on the part of merchants of Homestead was commenced in earnest yesterday when the drygoods merchants of the town filed $5,000 bonds each as guarantees of good faith, and the shoe dealers and grocers filed $1,000 bonds which are to be forfeited in case trading stamps are given by them.

The bonds, if forfeited, will be divided among those who stick to the agreement. The merchants alleged the stamp people have violated their agreements by reducing the value of premiums given. A majority of the merchants in Homestead have filed bonds guaranteeing not to give trading stamps.

PARKER AGAIN INVADES GOTHAM

Judge is Surrounded by a Mysterious Band of Politicians at a Hotel.

NECESSITIES OF CAMPAIGN

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

Judge Parker had between 30 and 40 callers at the Hoffman house today. Half of them were campaign leaders, about a dozen were personal friends and the rest were men who entered his suite quietly and made every effort to keep their visit and identity secret. One of the purposes of the presidential nominee's visit to the city is that he may meet prominent men who wish to confer with him without having wide publicity given to the fact. It would be impossible to keep secret a visit to Esopus.

Senator Gorman was his first visitor; William F. Sheehan was his last. What was regarded as proof that the candidate is anxious that everything possible be done in this state was the departure of Senator Gorman late in the afternoon for some point "up the state." No one would say where he had gone. When asked if the trip was for personal business, a man close to him said Senator Gorman has no personal business at this time.

From the time Judge Parker reached the Hoffman house, shortly after 10 o'clock in the forenoon, until shortly after 11 o'clock tonight he was constantly in conference with at least one Democrat, and often with five or six. It was learned that the chief things discussed were:

The necessity for a stirring campaign in New York state; the desirability of spreading broadcast the information that, in the interest of harmony, all the Democrats of the Empire state forgot the differences of the past and agreed to work shoulder to shoulder for victory; the advisability of firing the biggest guns of the campaign in this state; the need for opening a rousing campaign immediately in every section of the country where victory is not assured.

The Allegheny Preparatory school reopens September 21, 1904. The Headmaster will be at the school office after September 8, between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m., to meet and classify pupils, to talk with intending patrons and to show those who may wish to see them the building and equipment. A well equipped gymnasium and a large playground, under the exclusive control of the school offer ample opportunity for sports and games. There are individual "corrective work" under trained directors, give the physical development of both boys and girls its due emphasis. Oral expression, drawing, singing, reading aloud, public speaking and debates have their proper place in the curriculum.

BRENNEN WEARS HIS GUM SHOES

Democratic Boss Is Secretive About Makeup of His Slate of Assemblymen.

HIS PARTY IS QUITE A JOKE

Under the management of William J. Brennen, the Democrats are pursuing a "gum shoe" policy in the nomination of candidates for assembly in the eight legislative districts of Allegheny county. The work of filling the ticket has been left to committees and these bodies are not making public their places of meeting.

It was announced by Brennen that the nominations would all be made yesterday, but at Democratic headquarters no information could be secured. The Democrats generally will have no knowledge of the make-up of their ticket until Brennen sees fit to announce the slate he has decided upon.

Brennen says that it is necessary to be secretive, as there is danger of the Republicans inducing candidates to keep off of the ticket. The Republican managers care nothing about Brennen's slate and would really like to see the Democrats nominate their strongest men this time just to show by the returns of the election how much of a joke the Democracy of this county is considered by the voters.

The fusion movements in the county have robbed the Democratic party of any organization it might have had. The men who attended to getting out the vote have all got county or city jobs and have ceased to worry. At least 40 per cent of the city payroll is composed of Democrats. Democratic headquarters are desolated, save for the secretary, janitor and a half-dozen loungers who want to keep warm. It is seldom that a real Democrat ever visits the place. Brennen does not want them about, as they might interfere with his plans. All he desires is to retain control of the party name, keep the present "air-tight" rules in force, and have Col. Guffey pay the freight.

W. H. S. Thomson, who was nominated by Brennen for congress in the Allegheny district, will probably decline to run. There is also no assurance that John C. Reilly, the nominee in the Thirty-first district, will remain on the ticket. Brennen intimated yesterday that he might make these legislative nominations: Fleming Jamison and James P. Walls, Second district; August Bearman of Emsworth and P. B. O'Donnell of Sharpsburg, Seventh district; William Kellar of Carnegie, Sixth district; J. P. Williamson, Third district; John B. Yellig, John Ferrick and John Hughes, Fifth district.

The Republican Cavalry club of the Thirty-second ward will meet tomorrow evening at Boggs avenue and Leila street for the purpose of organizing for the coming campaign. Officers will also be elected. The club is an old one and the members hope to make a good showing in the coming campaign as they have in the past.

SEASON'S FIRST FROST.

Pumpkin Was Properly Coated and Half the Corn Is Unshocked Yet.

Jack Frost got a little ahead of the corn cutters Wednesday night and Thursday morning. Although the pumpkins have about reached maturity and are ready for the coating so delightfully described by James Whitcomb Riley, the frost arrived before the corn harvest was fully made this year. Only an occasional field of fodder is in shock, and it was a heavy frost that fell Wednesday night.

From Bridgeville, Oakmont, Coraopolis, and other valley towns, frost reports were received yesterday morning. More frost was predicted by the weather bureau for last night. The damage to flower gardens was considerable, but vegetable gardeners are not caught napping much at this time of the year and they escaped comparatively unscathed.

WILL PRESS THE CHARGES.

Agent Gamble of Sabbath Observance Crusade Will Allow no Defaults.

"I will see Justice Walker tomorrow and not allow my informations to go by default," said Agent P. T. Gamble of the Allegheny County Sabbath Observance association last evening, when informed that Justice Walker had announced that unless he heard from Gamble by today that 16 informations made by him some 10 days ago against Wilkinsburg druggists would go by default. There have been no warrants issued as yet in the cases.

Mr. Gamble also stated that he had been waiting to hear from Justice Walker and was under the impression that warrants had been served.

Gaelic Language Students to Resume.

After a vacation of three months, the Irish language classes of the O'Growney Gaelic society will reopen tomorrow evening in Lyceum hall, Washington street. A short musical program will be given before taking up class work. The increased interest taken in Irish affairs generally has encouraged the society to extend its plans, and the music, history and language of Ireland will be given equal attention during the coming session. The tuition is free.

PITTSBURGH GIRL ON ROAD TO TIBET

Her Husband Lies Wounded in Lassa, the Forbidden City of the Lamas.

SHOT IN STORMING MOUNTAIN

The Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine, rector of Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, has received letters written by English officers praising in high terms the bravery and courage of his son-in-law, Capt. Lancelot Baldwin, who was wounded in the Tibetan campaign.

Capt. Baldwin, who is Scotch by birth, has been under Col. Younghusband's command in the English campaign carried into Tibet during the past few weeks. The letters were written by fellow officers after Capt. Baldwin was carried to the army hospital and were sent to his wife, who was a month's march in the rear, and by her forwarded to her parents in this city. They spoke of Capt. Baldwin's indomitable courage, pluck and endurance in one of the fiercest engagements of the march, when the natives hurled down volleys of stones and fired upon the advancing English soldiers as they stormed one of the rough and almost impassable rocky ascents of the mountainous region.

Capt. Baldwin was wounded by a bullet, but thinking it nothing but a stone which had struck him, continued on until the height was gained, when he fell and was carried to the hospital, where his wound was found to be much more serious than he had imagined. By the last reports received he was said to be improving. Mrs. Baldwin and their little daughter are still in India, a month's march behind Younghusband's command.

Dr. and Mrs. McIlvaine lived abroad for several years with their daughters, who attended well-known schools in Switzerland. It was while abroad that Miss McIlvaine met the young English soldier whom she wedded and who is now taking part in one of the most interesting and picturesque expeditions of the early part of the twentieth century.

Dr. McIlvaine spent a portion of his vacation this summer among the Thousand Islands, returning to Pittsburgh September 1. Last week Mrs. McIlvaine returned from their summer home near Birmingham, in Huntingdon county, but Miss Edith McIlvaine is still there, where she has been sketching and painting this summer. She will be home next week.

Our Collection of Furs

should be of great interest to prospective purchasers. It is not a garbled collection, but each piece in the generous assemblage was selected by one whose knowledge of furs is undisputed, and one whose acquaintance with the preference of Pittsburg women is of long standing.

Our word goes out that our prices are now infinitely lower than they will be when the real cold weather sets in. It is good merchandising to anticipate a season. We sell summer cottons in January—advance styles; we sell furs in August—advance styles. We prepare for these sales months in advance, and it is perfectly well understood that to induce people to buy out of season special prices must be quoted. The one element that contributed to the unbounded success of our August sale of Furs, and thus far into September, was the underprices, seconded by great variety.

If you are to buy a Fur piece this coming season, why not purchase now? Everything is in you favor—lower prices, newest styles, ample selection. Note these prices—they are from 15 to 25 per cent lower than regular prices.

Fine to Finest Handkerchiefs for Women.

If any woman fancies a handkerchief of finest linen trimmed with real lace, she can buy it here, and the price will be thirty-five dollars. If she wants just a good handkerchief for everyday use, she can buy it here, and the price will be nine cents. That is a pretty good illustration of the range of handkerchiefs at our Handkerchief Counter. In between the highest and lowest price given there are handkerchiefs at about any price one can name. We are very strong on fine handkerchiefs at 25c.

French hand-embroidered, hand-hemstitched, hand-drawn and altogether hand-made Handkerchiefs, from 75c up to $35.00.

French Handkerchiefs of fine sheer linen, having Val. lace edge, from $1.00 up to $15.00.

Fine French Sateens for Comfort Coverings.

In the Fourth Floor Curtain and Upholstery Department are to be found these pretty new sateens. The designs are beautiful and the material is of a splendid quality, highly mercerized. Really a much better covering for comforts than silk, as it wears better and will wash. A variety of colors and patterns to select from. 40c a yard.

Kodaks and Kodak Albums.

A Pocket Kodak will cost you $5.00 or $20.00 as you list. And we promise you'll get more fun out of a pocket kodak than you did out of any other fad you ever took up. And the interest of the amateur kodaker grows. Say at first you take the snap shots merely, leaving it to someone else to develop and mount the pictures. By and by you will be doing that part of the work also, and keeping the results of your labor and pleasure in album form.

We have Albums at 15c each, or you can pay $7.50 if you want something very handsome.

Postal Albums, foreign and American manufacture, at 35c each and up to $3.50.

Men's London Made Hats.

Men who are fastidious about their hats will be glad to learn that the hats of that celebrated hatter, Victor Jay of London, England, are on sale here.

Victor Jay has made us his sole representative in Greater Pittsburg, so from now on we will carry this splendid line along with others.

It is not for us to extol the merits of these London hats. Victor Jay is the oldest hatter in that city, and enjoys a world-wide reputation for making high-class headwear for men.

Derbies and Soft Hats, $5.00.

$2.50 Umbrellas for $1.85.

Another remarkable value offered by our Umbrella Department. Surely no man should be without an umbrella at both ends of the line when they cost such a trifle.

But this $1.85 lot contains styles for women, too.

If you are looking for a durable umbrella, don't look any further—you could not do better than one of these.

Unusually tight, neat roll, tape edge union taffeta or tape edge union serge—mounted on fine natural or neat fancy handles.

Writing Papers Cheap.

Not cheap writing papers, but excellent writing papers for an underprice in each instance.

BRETON LINEN, a correct note paper, something that is high grade, regularly 40c, special at 25c a box. White, blue, gray.

SPECIAL CABINET OF PAPER, containing 60 sheets paper, 50 envelopes—of which we have sold over 50,000 boxes. A fresh lot just in—ivory, linen and vellum finishes—25c for the cabinet.

There are authentic advices of the capture of two more forts by the Japanese at Port Arthur. The significance of this gain is twofold—the captured positions give effective range against other important defenses and they were secured at much less cost than those taken by assault in the earlier stages of the siege. The indications are that the power of resistance of the garrison is declining, while the aggressiveness of the besiegers has taken on a more cautious character. Despite all Russian predictions to the contrary, Port Arthur will be taken before winter and will be an open commercial port long before the spring campaign begins.

The Russian cruiser Terek, engaged in holding up British commerce near the mouth of the Mediterranean, has put in at Las Palmas, Canary islands, for coal, just as though there were no neutrality laws to violate. The authorities there, however, have other ideas and have ordered the coaling stopped. They have also warned the Terek to leave the port at once. This warning is met by the stock Russian excuse that the vessel needs repairs, and the probable outcome will be to intern the ship. The Russian naval tactics in this particular are past understanding. The promiscuous raiding of commerce is as unexplainable as the disarmament of warships sent on this errand.

According to the report of Police Inspector Kennelly, there are 13 gambling resorts in the downtown district of the city. This statement will surprise many good citizens, though it is not improbable some of the "men-about-town" could add to the list and break the unlucky number. Director Moore promises that if the evidence is sufficient the keepers of these places will all be prosecuted. That is a proper attitude. It is the duty of the director to prosecute such persons and there is reason to believe the district attorney's office will lend all needed assistance to that end. Gambling is a vice without excuse. It is simply a drain on the community if conducted "squarely," as Mr. Taggart says it is at his springs hotel, and if not it is on a par with robbery.

Cuban reciprocity appears to be rather one-sided in its effects so far. Cuban exports to the United States show a marked increase, but what Cuba gains in this way goes to the advantage of other countries rather than our own. A report upon Cuba's import trade for the first quarter of 1904 has just been published and it appears that imports from the United States have increased only three per cent, while those from France, Spain, Great Britain and Germany have increased respectively 8, 16, 20 and 21 per cent. Unless better results than these are shown there will not be much inducement to continue reciprocity with Cuba. So far it is promoting Cuban trade with other countries and not with the United States.

For the first time in the history of this country the exports of manufactured products has exceeded the exports of the products of the soil. The exports of manufactures are larger than ever, while there is a marked decrease in agricultural exports for the period under consideration, and it may be assumed the conditions are not permanent. But this temporary exhibit is indicative of the trend of economic forces in the United States. Population statistics for several decades have shown relatively great increases in urban districts. This means increased domestic consumption of the products of agriculture and a decrease in the surplus for export—a matter far more serious to Europeans than to ourselves. American farms will produce an abundance of food for American homes for many years to come, but the food supply of Europe becomes yearly a more difficult problem.

The New York Times figures that if the same percentage of increase shown by the Democratic vote in Maine should hold good in Illinois and Indiana the Democratic party will carry both those states. That is certainly the case, but the percentage test is obviously deceptive. The Democratic vote in Maine dwindled to small dimensions when the party took up free silver, so that a gain of 11,000 votes now amounts to over 25 per cent. The Democratic vote did not fall off in the west, but the Republican vote made a still larger increase. For the Democrats to make a gain of 25 per cent in Illinois over their 1900 vote they would have to poll 176,000 more votes than they did then, and in Indiana about 130,000 more, which is practically out of all bounds of possibility. In New York state even that percentage of gain would not produce a Democratic plurality. The true significance of the Vermont and Maine elections is in their showing that if the Gold Democrats are returning to their old party no perceptible diminution of the Republican vote has been caused by it. The Republican vote in Maine is over 3,000 greater than it was four years ago, despite a Democratic increase of 25 per cent.

The events of the present war have demonstrated the supreme importance of the battleship as the core of naval efficiency. This confirms the views of our naval experts as regards the policy of our government. Plans are now being prepared to make one of the new battleships authorized by congress the greatest fighting machine now in existence. It will be from 18,000 to 20,000 gross tonnage and will exhibit a radical departure in the matter of armament. Instead of a series of batteries graduated in caliber, the new ship will carry only two types of ordnance, a main battery of 10 12-inch guns and a secondary battery of at least 20 of the new three-inch quick-firing guns. The large battery of heavy guns would make the vessel the most formidable afloat in such long range fighting as has marked the naval engagements of the present war. The secondary battery of three-inch guns is believed to be the strongest possible defense against torpedo or destroyer attack. The three-inch guns can be fired as rapidly as guns of smaller calibor with a much wider range and doing more effective work. Thus the new battleship would possess the greatest possible efficiency whether at long range or close quarters. As the ship is to be built with the idea that she can stand and fight under any circumstances, speed is not so great a consideration and 16 knots will probably be regarded as sufficient. The presence of such a vessel in any quarter of the world where our national interests are menaced would be a great peace-maker. That is why we need a strong navy—far more to prevent war than to make war.

Not in Line With the Platform.

There is an energetic boom in the south for the development of cotton manufactures. The leading idea is to induce cotton manufacturers of Great Britain and the continent of Europe to visit the south and investigate for themselves its manufacturing capabilities. Governors of southern states, executive officials of railroads operating in that section, manufacturers' clubs and chambers of commerce of southern cities are zealously co-operating in the movement. The argument in favor of the scheme is simple and strong. The cotton mills of Europe are almost wholly dependent upon supplies of raw cotton from the United States and they have increasing difficulty in getting what they need at prices which will leave a margin of profit for spinning and weaving. Why not then put the mills where the cotton is grown?

It is a plausible scheme and in the main sound. The fact that the south practically controls the world's cotton supply would enable it to control the world's supply of cotton goods if the raw cotton were manufactured at home instead of being sent abroad to be worked up by the cotton mills of Europe. But the present attitude of southern politics is directly opposed to the scheme. Such a vast extension of foreign commerce as would result would require for its protection an adequate naval and military establishment. A movement to transplant European cotton industry to the south would be certain to encounter the opposition of many countries whose governments would seek by every means in their power to restrict the market for our goods and to force us back into the position of mere growers of the raw material for their manufacturers to work up.

Even our present trade is menaced. The maintenance of the open door in the east is vital to the prosperity of the southern cotton mills. If Russia's policy of shutting out our cottons to secure the markets of northern China to her own products had not been checked it would have gone hard with the mills already in operation in the south. With a fair field in the east and no favor our cotton manufacturers would be assured of an immense trade, but to secure those such opportunities our government must be in such a position that other nations will feel the necessity of respecting our interests.

With the construction of the isthmian canal a new era will open for the south and our government should be prepared to sustain the enlarged responsibilities which will accrue from the expansion of our commerce. The party policy which claims to be assured of the support of the solid south proposes to make no such preparation, but on the contrary to decrease such preparation as now exists. The St. Louis platform calls for a reduction of the military establishment and commenting upon this in his speech of acceptance Judge Parker contended that "we should confine our international activities solely to matters in which the rights of the country or of our own citizens are directly involved." That word "directly" cuts out matters of vast importance, although the effect upon the interests of this country is only indirect. According to this doctrine we should have no right to interfere in a dispute between Germany and Brazil over the possession of territory and the activity of our government in maintaining the principle of the integrity of the Chinese empire is reprehensible. The ideals of the new south are incompatible with its party allegiance.

Their Only Hope.

The New York Democratic platform indorses the St. Louis platform and eulogizes the national candidates, but this formality is merely a tag to the long tirade against Gov. Odell, who is made the issue of the campaign. Indeed, the platform takes pains to declare that that is the one issue. It says: "There is presented to the people an issue broader than any merely partisan question, namely: Shall the methods and administration of Gov. Odell be indorsed and continued?"

There is nothing in the platform which echoes the St. Louis cry that Rooseveltism is the only issue. There is not the least mention of imperialism or any other of the campaign bogeys made in St. Louis. The Democratic campaign in New York is simply a personal attack upon Gov. Odell. The idea which inspired the making of that platform appears to have been the conviction that it is impossible to carry New York for the Democratic party on national issues, but that there may still be a possibility of repeating the result of 1888 when the Democrats elected their state ticket at the same time that the Republicans won the electoral vote. The Democratic national campaign is now so flat and lifeless that even the rainbow chasers are discouraged. Experienced politicians know that there is no chance of beating Roosevelt, but they still think that they have a chance to defeat the state ticket nominated by Odell's efforts. That is their only hope.

Freight Congestion Again.

It is matter for congratulation that the Wabash system has acquired ready-made terminals, so to speak, at this time. This will enable it to participate at once in the freight movement that already promises to swamp all lines of transportation. During this week there have been marked symptoms of a car famine. Some of the coal companies have been seriously affected by inability to get cars as needed. This stress is likely to increase since the coke producers have put all of their ovens in blast.

The freight congestion that came with the business boom three years ago is still fresh in the Pittsburgh memory. In fact, it is a sore that has not healed after barely a year of adequate facilities. Shippers then made what excuses they might for the railroads—that the growth of traffic could not have been anticipated, or that the railroads were taken by surprise. These excuses will not now have the same force. The railroads were shown in the most convincing manner that Pittsburgh could produce the tonnage and they promised they would not be caught napping again. They planned extensive improvements to meet the new conditions. Yet at the first wave of revival they are found only partly prepared.

Improvements begun three years ago have been allowed to lag for one reason or another. By false economies rolling stock and equipments have been permitted to deteriorate. It is true that traffic declined enormously a year ago, but the railroads must have known it would soon make greater demands than ever. It is true, too, that bonds sell better on a good basis of net earnings, but it was not wise policy to cut expenses in the line of preparation for better business. The Wabash continued to spend money right along and it will be strange if it does not reap its reward for looking to the future and realizing to the fullest on its opportunities.

Their Staying Power.

Since the Manchurian campaign has not resulted in a decisive victory for either side, the possibility is increased that the final victory may go to the power that is the better able to bear the strain of a prolonged contest. Hence it is interesting to note the effect of the war upon the trade of the combatants.

Our consul general at Yokohama has just made a report upon the trade of Japan for the first six months of the present year. It shows a large increase over the same period of last year. The interesting fact is disclosed that there is a steady growth of business apart from war expenditures. The imported articles in which the gain is greatest are mostly such as are used in the production of other articles. Thus imports of cotton, wool, and hides have greatly increased, while imports of cotton cloth, woolen cloth and leather goods have fallen off. The increase in iron imports was mainly in pig and ingot iron. Imports of phosphates for agricultural use have more than doubled. In exports, which the war could not affect except adversely, there is a gain of nine per cent over last year. The trade returns plainly indicate that Japan is making steady progress in the development of her manufacturing industries and that the calling out of her military reserves has not as yet perceptibly affected the supply of labor. Trade is brisk, the people are busily employed and commercial enterprise is extending its range. At present an active movement is going on for the promotion of trade with China by means of the establishment of commercial museums in Chinese cities. The chambers of commerce in several Japanese cities are co-operating in this enterprise.

No detailed reports of the business situation in Russia are accessible, but the general tenor of accounts of the industrial situation are gloomy. The domestic difficulties of Russia, nearly always great, appear to be rapidly increasing. All accounts agree that the war is intensely unpopular and that there is difficulty in mobilizing the troops ordered out for service. The war is costing Russia three times what it costs Japan and appears to be more exhausting in its effect upon the domestic situation.

Tancred commandery No. 48, Knights Templar, arrived yesterday from the triennial conclave at San Francisco, after a total journey of 7,500 miles through the United States and Canada. The fact that it came in just 45 minutes after schedule time indicates that railroading has become an art, if not an exact science. Not an accident for 7,500 miles and very slight delay.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The attempt to "follow the pace" is one of the chief causes of crime in New York. Theodore Troutman, aged 24, who was arraigned today on a charge of forging a check, is but a sample. He was trotting in fast company and couldn't keep up. "They had more money and I couldn't keep the pace," he explained. He ran into debt, was worried by his creditors, and at last he signed a better man's name to a check to pay his bills. The result was arrest, and he is now disgraced. Did the fellows who "had more money" help him out? Not a bit of it. They simply call him a fool—for being caught—and proceed along the same route, many of them, doubtless, to the same goal.

A well-known man about town is a son of a western manufacturer. Not long ago he remarked that "New York is no place for a piker. If I had money I would like to live here always." And be it known that this young man has $10,000 a year from his father. He might supplement this with employment, but he is too busy having a good time. Therefore, he goes on his way, "piking" on his $10,000. And if a fellow with $10,000 a year is a "piker" in New York, one can guess what will soon happen to a clerk who makes $1,000 a year or a little more. He must stick very closely to the "straight and narrow." Broadway is no place for him. If he cannot keep away from the Rialto his money will vanish like a snowflake from the dusty face of the desert.

But there is a magnetic influence that drags these poor fools to Broadway. The rattle of the hansom or the toot of the automobile is as music to their ears. They can't have either of these modes of conveyance, but they can sit in the cafes and drink and smoke and listen to the talk of the stage and the turf. The windup is just what the windup of young Troutman has been, anyway to get the money. A man without ready money in Broadway has no place. For a day or two he is welcome to drink with his old friends, and he may sample the free lunch, but he cannot go on for a week. Someone is sure to want to see the color of his money—and that is sure to end his chapter.

Always an Important Card Shy.

There are more "four-flushes" to the square inch in New York than in any other city in the country. You can see men traveling along Broadway in immaculate dress who have not been able to pay for their breakfast. But they were not hungry, they have had their "three square" pretty regularly and they have no fear of the future. They realize the value of a "front," and they would spend their money for a shine and a shave when they needed it for a meal. They feel sure of meeting a friend who will invite them to a dinner so long as they look as though they don't need it. And they play on that principle. The regular Broadwayite is more or less of a shark, and fellows like the lad Troutman are their prey. So long as there are Troutmans there is no hunger in Broadway.

Out in a New Role.

"Tody" Hamilton, the famed publicity promoter, who has so long been connected with the Barnum & Bailey show, is writing a play, and dramatic critics are interested. While Mr. Hamilton will not give a hint as to his subject, he has assured his friends that the play will be a serious one. So long identified with the circus, one would look for a beautiful equestrienne as the heroine and a daredevil Diavolo as the villain, with an assortment of freaks, contortionists, acrobats and clowns in the minor parts of Mr. Hamilton's play. But the public will find nothing of the kind. There is not a suggestion of the circus in it, nor of the knockabout variety of fun. The dialogue is illuminated with the arid humor of Mr. Hamilton, although the general tone of the play is serious.

"It Snows," Cries the Schoolboy.

The first fall of snow of the season is reported from Ithaca, Plattsburg and Malone, and the temperature is still hovering around the freezing point. The change came with a suddenness that made the low temperature particularly uncomfortable. It was still pleasant enough in this city this afternoon, but at the time when the crowds came out of the theaters, it was extremely chilly and those who were not provided with overcoats sincerely wished they were. The snowfall in Ithaca came rather early this year. Last year the first snow fell in that city on October 24. At Saranac Lake and at other points in the Adirondacks the temperature fell below the freezing point, and at Malone and other places light snow fell at intervals during the night.

Money for Missing Youth.

The police of Greater New York are searching for Michael Loth, a young German, who landed here from a German steamer on September 9, and has not been seen since. Loth's mother, a wealthy widow in Hamburg, died while Loth was on his way to this country and the young man's disappearance was brought to the notice of the authorities when a letter arrived from his home in Germany informing him of the death of his mother and announcing that he had fallen heir to a fortune estimated at $100,000.

Grout Is Tired of the Game.

Comptroller Edward M. Grout is going to retire from political life. He has declared that with the expiration of his term as comptroller he will devote himself to building up again the legal practice which he gave up in 1895. Two old friends who have stood with him in his political struggle met him in the Hoffman house after the convention and spoke with regret of his failure to get the nomination for governor.

"Two years hence," said one of them, "you will be stronger than ever. The nomination will be yours sure."

"Never," said Grout. "I shall never again be a candidate for an elective office. I have neglected my own private business too long."

Answers to Correspondents.

Mrs. John Meyers, Elizabeth—Samuel Hazard in his "Annals of Pennsylvania," says there is no list extant of the Quaker colonists, 100 in all, who accompanied William Penn to America on the ship Welcome. They set sail September 1, 1682, and arrived October 27. About one-third of them died of smallpox on the voyage. The names of some of the survivors can be learned by the records of the real estate transactions of the period.

Equal Taxation in New Jersey

If party platforms could be accepted as a sufficient pledge of future action, the people of New Jersey might regard "equal taxation" as already assured. As both parties promise it, the voter who is concerned upon this issue will have to determine which party he thinks more likely to perform the promise.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Everybody is sending up petitions for fair weather during the remainder of this week, not that the ground is too wet, but because the Edinboro fair is on, and they want it to go off all right.

It must have required a lot of nerve to set the fair right plump in the midst of equinoxial week.

But some people have the nerve for anything, neither do they fear the ides of September, nor of March, June or December.

Heretofore they have been taking the equinoxial period into account and oftener than not they have caught bad weather, which may have caused them to become defiant and to brave Jupiter Pluvius on his gala days.

It is concluded up here that the Edinboro fair is a bigger thing than the Stoneboro fair. Of course, Jim Williams and other Mercerites won't concede this, because they can't believe it.

Crawford and Erie counties join hands in this affair, and when the weather is favorable they make it hum. And the Erie and Cambridge Springs trolley line has given the fair a big boost as far as attendance is concerned.

There are the usual horse races on the bills, and there are horses and men galore on the grounds, and others. In order to please these others they have added a sort of midway pike in which may be found trained dogs, ponies, freaks and many curious things.

Among the curiosities announced is a Republican who proposes to vote for Parker.

* * * * *

City folks poke a good deal of fun at the country fair, but they don't often touch it, or at least don't poke it very hard. In very truth city folks sometimes get the worst of it, for they are apt to make a more or less notable show of ignorance concerning the things exhibited at these fairs.

As to fun poking neither side can claim a monopoly, so that when it is all over they are usually willing to call it a draw.

If nothing else, the country fair affords the farmer a good excuse for giving his family an outing. That they need it is clearly shown by the hearty manner in which these country folk enjoy the show. Stock raisers linger around the stock pens, women throng the departments given over to preserves, needlework and flowers, while the young folks crowd the pike or watch the baseball games.

Maybe you think the country boy isn't up-to-date on baseball. Well, he is, and he can name the good ones in nearly every good club. And he can play some himself, don't you forget.

A country fair without a ball game wouldn't amount to much, and without a pike or a carnival, it would surely be a failure.

Some of the old-time farmers regard these as desecrations, but all such old-timers are kept off the board of directors, or at least off of the committee on attractions.

A prize fight would be a great drawing card, but the farmer hasn't got on that far yet, but he keeps inching along.

* * * * *

Horse racing and baseball are holding about even as drawing cards, with the horse race a slight favorite. It draws horsemen from all parts of the country and as a rule they are a good-hearted, liberal set.

Women take more interest in racing than in ball playing, which is one of the excuses given for offering bigger prizes for races than for games.

The woman who doesn't like a good horse is an exception to the rule and the better stepper it is the better she likes it, which is much the same as she regards a man.

You may not think it, or at least you may never have thought seriously of the fact that a woman hasn't much use for pokey, slow-going men. The man who steps lively, even if a little fast, is always more attractive than one who is slow but sure.

Wasn't it Shakespeare who said that women loved men all the more for being a little bad?

Mind you, only a little bad.

The automobile may take the place of the horse in the estimation of men, but not of women. They don't mind taking a jaunt in a horseless carriage just for the fun of the thing, but when seeking real enjoyment they prefer good teams and competent drivers—drivers who know how to handle the reins and talk at the same time.

A pokey man behind a good team is not much more attractive to a brisk woman than a pokey team in front of a pokey man.

* * * * *

When you get so confoundedly sleepy that you can't see the lines more than half the time, what do you usually do?

Well, that is the condition you are apt to find yourself in if you put off writing until after supper, particularly if you have eaten heartily of mush and cream, followed by steak, ham and eggs or cold meats with a few side dishes.

Don't you remember how sleepy you used to get in the good old days when mush and milk was thought to be the proper thing for boys to go to bed on?

Gee! but didn't it make you sleepy? And it will do the same yet. You didn't know what insomnia was then, and possibly you wouldn't know now if you had stuck to standard foods instead of following after food fads and fool dietaries.

And when you got good and sleepy after eating mush and milk, together with a few of the plainer viands, how grateful was the soft side of a board, while a straw tick was a very bed of down. And such sleep! No nightmare, nor scary dreams, nor starts nor snores, but quiet, restful sleep such as millionaires would give half their fortunes to be able to enjoy.

Let these money-weary chaps try the mush and milk treatment, cut out champaign and the bromides, drink lots of water and no beer or booze of any kind and insomnia may steal away from them as silently and as surely as did Somnus when he found them to be incorrigible.

The Death Roll

Mrs. D. W. Riggs.

Mrs. Martin Boggs Riggs, well known in church and charitable circles on the North Side, died yesterday at her home, No. 1800 Market street, Allegheny. She was a daughter of John Boggs and was born near Finleyville, Washington county, where she resided till her marriage to Dr. D. W. Riggs, since which time she lived mostly in Allegheny. Mrs. Riggs was a member of the women's board of the Allegheny General hospital from the time of its organization till it was dissolved. She was also one of the managers of the Protestant Home for Boys and a charter member of the Travelers' club. For many years Mrs. Riggs was an active member of the Beth Eden Baptist church, but for some years past she had been connected with the Sandusky Street Baptist church, Allegheny. Funeral services will be held at her late home at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Interment will be made in Mt. Lebanon cemetery tomorrow.

Benjamin Matlack Everhart.

Benjamin Matlack Everhart died at his home yesterday at West Chester, Pa., aged 87. He was known to scientists as one of the most expert botanists in the world. As proof of this it is stated that 15 different plants have been given his name, these honors being largely conferred in foreign lands. Mr. Everhart was also a poet of considerable force and a writer of books of travel. His works on botany are regarded as authority on that subject all over the world. He was the last of the family and it is intimated that the fortune of $1,500,000, which he leaves, will go largely to charity.

Obituary Notes.

John Aukerman died suddenly yesterday afternoon at New Castle, aged 62. He served in the civil war as a member of the Seventy-sixth Pennsylvania Zouaves.

Margaret Warden, widow of Samuel Warden, died at her home at South Church, near Mt. Pleasant, yesterday, of heart trouble, aged 84. The funeral will take place from the house at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

John McConahy is dead at the home of his son, S. E. McConahy, of Scott township, Lawrence county, aged 85. Mr. McConahy was born in County Derry, Ireland, coming to the United States at the age of 14 years. Among the surviving children is Robert H. McConahy, city engineer of New Castle.

Cost of the War.

Several reasons have been given for this peculiar effect of the war. Russia has not yet started hypothecating special revenues for war purposes, and when she does so she can raise large sums. Japan, on the other hand, has already placed a charge on her customs, and as with new external loans internal loans are still being raised, she must hypothecate further and presently charge her land revnues. If the war cantinues long, a financial burden will fall upon Japan that will be exceedingly difficult to bear. One big defeat would probably ruin Japan's credit completely. It is easy to see that the markets are gradually being convinced that the war in the far east is going to be lengthy and expensive.—Kansas City Journal.

Some Proverbs.

Certain proverbs, the pemmican of long experience and observation, are often quoted privately by weary and cynical Democrats. For instance:

"You can always depend upon the Democratic party to make a damphool of itself."

"The Democrats always kick over the kettle just as it begins to boil."

"If Opportunity were all forelock, Democrats wouldn't get a hair."

Will the Democratic convention at Saratoga confirm and reillustrate, or, just for a change, contradict this proverbial wisdom as to proverbial folly? There is Opportunity, with such a wealth of forelock that the delegates can hardly help treading on it. The kettle sends up a cheerful sound.—New York Sun.

"Judicial Propriety."

Judge Parker is running for president as a pattern of judicial propriety. While on the bench, in advance of his nomination, he could not even say whether he was for gold or silver. His scrupulosity has been loudly eulogized by the Democrats who now couple with him a judge who has not scrupled to play politics year in and year out, and direct faction fights of the basest sort in which intimidation and fraud played a part. Would the judge who has so little sense of what is becoming to his office be likely to have any finer sense of fidelity to the duties of the governorship?—New York Tribune.

Buying the Friar Lands.

The payment for the lands of the friars in the Philippines, which began yesterday with an installment of $2,000,000, is the last stage in a plan which is among the most creditable features of the policy of the United States in the islands. * * * There are some ugly chapters in our Philippine history, but this is not one of them. It is creditable both to the intelligence and the humanity of our government.—New York Times.

Paine's Repudiation of Parker.

As Mr. Paine was a candidate for governor when Bryanism was in the ascendant in the national Democracy, the question raises itself whether his repudiation of Parker is representative of a great body of discontent among those who have been forcibly "reorganized." This is a question which only events can answer, but it is an interesting one in view of the apparent absence of enthusiasm from the Democratic campaign.—Boston Transcript.

Draws the Line at Herrick.

The Evening Post cannot advise anybody to vote for D. Cady Herrick. His ability we do not question. On the bench, so far as we know, he has been an impartial judge. But are we to attack Odellism with a candidate adept in all the disreputable arts of Democratic politics in Albany county? Are we to preach judicial propriety while nominating a man who has been a local party boss though a judge?—New York Evening Post.

Bryan's Vacation.

The physicians have ordered Mr. Bryan to take a rest. Some of the politicians wrote that prescription for him years ago.—Washington Star.

Safe and Sane.

Judge Parker was politically judicious in not having McCarren and Murphy pulling his door bell at the same time.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

CRUCIBLE WANTS BIG BOND ISSUE

Chairman Park's Statement Recommends from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 for Funding Debt.

CLAIRTON LOSS IS $1,578,617

A bond issue of $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent is the recommendation of the management of the Crucible Steel Company of America, which will be made at the annual meeting of the stockholders on October 19.

This fact was made known in the statement issued last evening by William C. Park, chairman of the Crucible board. Mr. Park reviews the entire history of the comapny from the time the St. Clair Steel Company was propected up to the present, and gives the details of the transaction by which the Clairton plant was sold to the United States Steel Corporation. His statement shows a loss of $1,578,617.17 to the Crucible on account of its Clairton enterprise.

The statement concludes with the assertion that despite its losses the Crucible could pay all its debts out of its quick assets, leaving a large balance and all its plants free of incumbrances.

A suggestion of dividends is contained in the statement that the distribution of surplus earnings could be made possible much earlier by the plan suggested than would be possible with the indebtedness carried along in the present form. The full statement follows:

Could Not Make Earlier Statement.

For some time the management of your company has desired to lay before the stockholders full information regarding the sale of the Clairton plant and properties to the United States Steel Corporation and the effect of this sale on your company.

Owing to a number of unadjusted accounts at the time of the sale and to the fact that the properties were sold upon a guarantee as to their inventory and assets, the value of which could not then be ascertained with any degree of accuracy, it was impossible to make at an earlier date a complete statement giving the exact extent and character of the loss.

Soon after the organization of the Crucible Steel Company of America its management believed that it was necessary to have a larger supply of open hearth steel than the constituent companies were able to produce. Acting upon this belief the St. Clair Steel Company was organized December 3, 1900, and a large open hearth plant begun. To build the plant and provide working capital, bonds to the amount of $2,250,000 were issued.

Later on it was thought advisable to build blast furnaces to secure a supply of pig iron for the steel works. The St. Clair Furnace Company was, therefore, organized April 24, 1901, and to build these furnaces bonds to the amount of $3,000,000 were issued.

It was afterwards found that the amount of money arranged for was insufficient and that additional funds would be necessary. To obtain this money the St. Clair Steel Company and the St. Clair Furnace Company were consolidated under the name of the Clairton Steel Company, June 9, 1902, under which a further issue of $5,000,000 in bonds was made. The payment of all these bonds was guaranteed by your company.

Clairton Lost Money.

Through the purchase of iron mines, coal lands and other properties, extensions to the plant and delays in construction, which prevented its being operated during a very prosperous period, together with other losses incident to the early operation of the works, this amount was entirely expended, and it became necessary for your company to advance large sums of money to pay the debts of the Clairton company, complete the plant and keep it in operation. This money was largely obtained by discounting short-time notes of your company, indorsed by the Clairton company, which notes at maturity were provided for October 21, 1903, by an issue of $5,000,000 collateral trust bonds of your company, of which $1,600,000 were sold at par, $2,900,000 used as collateral, and $500,000 remain in the treasury.

At this date the undersigned was invited by the management to assume control of your company as chairman of its executive committee and at once entered upon the discharge of his duties.

At that time the Clairton company was not only losing money, but to meet its pressing engagements, growing out of the construction and operation of the plant, was demanding almost daily large sums which your company was unwilling to furnish, and at the same time large amounts of Clairton bonds were approaching maturity. In view of these conditions it was deemed best by the management to apply for a receiver for that company. A bill in equity was accordingly filed by your company January 4, 1904, asking for the appointment of a receiver for the Clairton Steel Company, whereupon the court appointed the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh and William G Park receivers.

Needed More Mills.

A thorough investigation of the affairs of the Clairton Company was then made, and according to reliable estimates it was found that after utilizing all the above-mentioned bonds a further sum of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 would be required for working capital and to successfully conduct the business as the plant then existed. Even this large sum would probably not have been sufficient to meet the requirements of the immediate future because, owing to the restricted market for billets, it would have been necessary to erect a large number of finishing mills to carry the product to a more advanced state of manufacture. Furthermore, the character of the orders of your company for blooms and billets is so varied that it was found difficult to operate the Clairton works profitable on the orders of your company alone, thus making it necessary to largely dispose of its product in the open market.

Therefore, after careful consideration, it was thought best under the circumstances to dispose of the plant rather than place your company under further responsibility and possibly jeopardize its very existence by attempting to retain and carry on the Clairton business.

An opportunity presented itself and a sale was made, with the unanimous approval of your board of directors, to the United States Steel Corporation, upon the following terms:

First—The United States Steel Corporation to guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of the $10,250,000 of the Clairton bonds, and to assume mortgages on real estate, coal lands and mining properties to the amount of $1,666,715 31.

Second—To assume all contracts for ore.

Third—Pay $1,000,000, par value, of 5 per cent United States Steel second mortgage sinking fund gold bonds.

Fourth—To make a 10-year contract with your company for its requirements of Bessemer, basic and low phosphorus pig iron, and standard Bessemer and open hearth billets, etc.

Statement on Clairton Sale.

The following statement shows the total investment in the Clairton enterprises, the sum realized from the sale and the loss sustained by your company:

Total investment, covering 149 acres of land, steel and furnace plants; 12 50-ton open hearth furnaces and blooming mill, 3 blast furnaces, with equipments; 2,807 acres of coal lands, 3 large ore properties, 140 houses, 166 lots, inventories, interests and discount on bonds, etc		$16,696,369 46
Loss prior to sale:
(a) Premium on bonds, interest, etc.	$1,461,346 53
(b) In operation, depreciation in inventory, royalties, taxes, etc	973,454 20	2,434,800 73
		$14,261,568 73
Amount realized from sale to United States Steel Corporation:
(a) Guarantees payment of principal and interest of Clairton bonds	$10,250,000 00
(b) Assumes mortgages on real estate, coal lands and mining properties	1,666,715 31
(c) Delivers $1,000,000, par value, of the 10 60-year 5 per cent sinking fund gold coupon bonds	766,236 25
Total		$12,682,951 56
Loss on sale to United States Steel Corporation		$ 1,578,617 17

Your company has never carried on its books as an asset the $3,500,000 capital stock of the Clairton Company.

Recommends Bond Issue.

Through the sale to the United States Steel Corporation the supply of raw material which the Clairton Company was intended to provide has been secured for a period of 10 years by a contract with the Carnegie Steel Company upon terms very favorable to your company. This contract was an important consideration in the sale of the property, and while it is not appraised as an asset, it is nevertheless a substantial offset against the loss and in value may exceed it.

The effect of the losses incurred in the Clairton enterprise was to increase the floating indebtedness of your company. This debt was temporarily provided for by the issue of $5,000,000 short-time collateral trust bonds heretofore referred to. This floating debt, including the bonds sold, bears interest at the rate of 6 per cent, and the bonds mature in three and five years from the date of their issue. It is deemed advisable to fund this debt by an issue of bonds of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent, to be secured by a first mortgage upon all the property of your company. The bonds to be issued in series, one of which shall mature (after five years) annually during 20 years. At the annual meeting to be held October 19, 1904, the management will ask the stockholders to authorize the issue of these bonds by your board of directors at such time as it may deem expedient.

The carrying out of this plan, postponing the payment of the present indebtedness for a long period of years, will enable your company to distribute its surplus earnings amongst its stockholders at a much earlier date than if the present collateral trust bonds are paid as they mature or the indebtedness be carried along until extinguished in the form of temporary loans.

Notwithstanding the losses to which the Clairton enterprise has subjected your company it is in good financial condition. The additions and improvements made to your plants will offset in value those which were sold or abandoned, and out of the quick assets of your company all its debts, including the $5,000,000 collaterial trust bonds, could be paid, leaving a large balance and all your plants free from incumbrances.

Believing that you will agree with the management that the plan proposed is the best that can be adopted under the present circumstances, we would ask you to execute and return the enclosed proxy if you will be unable to attend the meeting.

GERMANY ARRANGING RECIPROCAL TREATIES

Chancellor Von Beulow and Roumanian Premier Meet to Consider Obstacles.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HOMBURG, Sept. 22.—Chancellor von Buelow and M. Sturdza, premier of Roumania, met here today to talk over personally the obstacles to the proposed commercial treaty between Germany and Roumania, that have caused the failure of prolonged negotiations through other channels.

The German chancellor's great project, begun four years ago, of heightening the tariff and negotiating thereon for reciprocal trade treaties with other continental states is nearing conclusion. One more parliamentary battle must be won in inducing the reichstag to accept the new treaties. The old treaties will then be denounced and German foreign trade will be regulated for 12 years by an intricate system of give-and-take treaties. Treaties have already been negotiated with Italy, Belgium and Russia and an understanding has been reached with Switzerland which can be perfected into the form of a treaty without difficulty. Negotiations with Austria-Hungary have dragged, but lately have been progressing more smoothly.

The Agrarians would like to force the government to denounce the most-favored treaties, under which the United States, Great Britain and other countries have the benefit of conventional rates. Although the government and German manufacturers are not satisfied with the present commercial relations with America and would prefer to regulate differences by means of a direct treaty, Germany is not likely to make proposals for a commercial treaty with the United States because a favorable response seems improbable.

ROBBED GERMAN BOY.

Three Men Take $62 from Chris Eberle on a Bridge and Are Captured.

Chris Eberle, a young German of Iowa who was robbed and beaten by three men early yesterday morning on the Eleventh street bridge, succeeded in landing his three assailants in jail later in the day. Eberle came to this city Wednesday night in search of an uncle. He lost the address of his relative on his way here. After leaving Union station Eberle met Harry Neese of 2120 Webster avenue, and asked him where he could get something to eat. Eberle also asked for a room for the night. Neese took him to 1241 Penn avenue where they met John Murphy.

The men volunteered to find Eberle's uncle and left the house. They met Michael Connell who suggested that Eberle's relative might be in Allegheny, and the four men started over the Eleventh street bridge. In the center of the bridge Eberle's companions turned highwaymen. They kicked and beat him and threatened to throw him in the river if he made an outcry, robbing him meanwhile of $62.

Eberle broke away from the men and ran to Penn avenue and notified Policeman John Kornbauer. The police at the Penn avenue station house were notified and a squad of them turned out in search of the three highwaymen. They were caught as they were returning to the boarding house. In one of Neese's shoes was found $20 and he admitted being a party to the assault.

UNDERTAKERS WANT NEW LAW

Ask That Restrictions Be Placed on Their Country Brethren.

The Pennsylvania Funeral Directors, to the number of about 150, are meeting in the rooms of the Pittsburgh Casket Company, at 1024 Fifth avenue. They advocate a more stringent law governing country undertakers.

At present the country undertakers are not required to stand an examination. They can engage in business in the country without a certificate, and from their places do business in the city. The association will ask the next legislature to remedy this. The visiting members of the organization spent last night at the theaters and exposition. Yesterday afternoon the women in the party were entertained by the Merchants and Manufacturers association in a "seeing Greater Pittsburgh tour" through Allegheny.

NEWSPAPERMEN DINED AT HENRY

Two Hundred Took Respite from Copy Grind and Enjoyed a Merry Evening.

"SCRAPS" WERE FORGOTTEN

The men who make the newspapers of Pittsburgh were the guests of D. F. Henry and Manager E. E. Bonneville of the Hotel Henry last night. It was the largest gathering of newspaper workers in the history of the city, over 200 of the "men behind the pencils" heeding the genial greeting of their hosts to "eat, drink and be merry." It was 6 o'clock when the blue points were served, and two hours later, when the ash was deep on the cigars, the toastmaster indicated that it was time to return for the grinding of "copy" for this morning's editions, but in that short time a splendid menu had been rendered full justice, a dozen speeches had been made, a dozen songs had been sung—merry jests for the moment giving way now and then to the sober thought of cherished recollections of those boon companions for whom the Great Editor had called the eternal "30."

E. E. BONNEVILLE,

Better known as "Bonny," manager of the Hotel Henry and one of the hosts at last night's dinner to newspaper men.

There were no distinguished guests, no head table, no set speeches, no "spike-tails" and no hint of shoe talk. Mr. Henry and Mr. Bonneville understood the bohemian tastes of their guests, and there was a delightful lack of stiff formalities. Each guest knew his neighbor at his right hand and at his left, and across the table. Managing editors, "cub" reporters, route men, department men, artists, photographers and stars of high degree sat in the most congenial relationship. If any one had suggested a "scoop" he would have deserved acute indigestion.

A Gathering of Jolly Good Fellows.

It was the jolliest gathering the Hotel Henry ever had. Even in his banquets the newspaperman must often have it marked "rush." This is not manifested by any unseemly dispatching of the viands, but in his facility in falling into the spirit of the occasion. There was some of the St. Julian left and the Mumm still sparkled when Arthur G. Burgoyne, the revered "All Sorts Man" of the Leader, with a tender cadence of the brogue in his voice, rose up and told of some of the glories of Pittsburgh newspaperdom, recalling the famous men who have graduated here to take their places at the head of the journalistic profession. He called for a vote of thanks to Mr. Henry and Mr. Bonneville, and the "ayes" rang out with a tiger that must have reached the hearts of the hosts.

The Henry's new orchestra gave a charming concert, but after "All Sorts" had his say there was no more time for selections from grand opera or anything classical. The boys took up snatches of topical songs and airs that all loved, and tunes that all joined most enthusiastically in singing. The toastmaster had no program to worry him. All around him were Chauncey Depews and he had only to look the right direction and an orator appeared as if brought forth by a magician's summons. Thus he looked into one corner and Erasmus Wilson, the "Quiet Observer" of The Gazette, and the nestor of the assembly, took the floor.

"The man who is the world's authority on kissing," said "All Sorts." "Talk to us on 'Woman, Lovely Woman.'"

Some philosophy from "Q. O." was followed by Col. W. C. Connelly, Pittsburgh manager of the Associated Press.

Profession Grows With the Town.

"Not so many years ago," said Col. Connelly, "I attended just such a gathering as this in the old Monongahela house. The newspaper profession then had not grown to its present magnitude. One small table here would have accommodated all who attended that little dinner. Many changes have occurred, and I am the only one left. This reflection is striking evidence of the strenuous demands made upon us through the unceasing work of a newspaper office."

Tom Irwin the "Green Goods Man" of the Post, responded with some characteristic potato and horse radish philosophy, Burd Patterson discussed some of the technique of the "Sanctum Sanctorum;" E. P. Couse, who used to edit "A. P." on the Leader while fitting himself to run a country newspaper in Brownsville, talked of the whims of "The Country Cousin," and Charles M. Bregg, dramatic editor of The Gazette, appealed for closer associations among newspaper men.

James B. Johnston of the Post congratulated his fellows on having such cordial hosts at the Henry. He said that nobody could appreciate a congenial hotel man like the reporter, and gave the hint that the man who has rooms to let and meals to serve will hereafter be much closer to the man who deals in news. George Seibel, literary editor of The Gazette, offered a defense for the literary man and the poet, and "Jim" McGrath told of various odd stunts on the industrial route.

Blaney's Tariff club quartet dropped in most opportunely. The singers are well known to the newspaper men and the parodies did not fail to make just the hit they had calculated upon. H. F. Blaney, the soloist, had several new songs and led the chorus when the banqueters joined in old songs that delight the newspaper man after "30."

"Bonney" Was Also Pleased.

The Henry has every facility for handling a big gathering and the prompt service did much toward making the event a happy one for the guests who had "big stories" to look after before the night ended. The service was on par with everything else in the Henry's excellent appointments.

Manager Bonneville expressed much pleasure at the large gathering and said he did not believe it possible, before last evening's dinner, that so many newspaper men could be got together at one time. Several hotel men of Chicago, Cleveland and other large cities were expected at the dinner, but yesterday Mr. Bonneville received letters regretting that they could not be present owing to business engagements.

FATHERS OF SONG ARE REMEMBERED

Theatrical Music in Catholic Churches to Give Place to 16th Century Melody.

NO MORE ACROBATIC MUSIC

Farewell to Papa Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Weber, Gounod, Lambillotte, Farmer and Millard! After the last day of this year their music will be heard no more in the Roman Catholic churches of the Pittsburgh diocese. Instead, there will come a procession of composers of church music, men of the sixteenth century preceding, composers of the present and last century, the gap of more than 300 years being only partially studded with composers whose music is approved by the motu proprio encyclical letter of Pope Pius X.

Good-Bye to Mozart.

It is good-bye to Mozart's "Messe Solennelle," Lambillotte's "Tantum Ergo," Millard's "O Salutaris Hostia," and Gounod's theatrical masses. Even "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Flee as a Bird to the Mountain" will be barred from requiems forever, or until some centuries later another reformation of church music becomes necessary. The day of Gregorian chant, polyphony and congregational singing has come again, and, although the transition period may be marked with difficulty for choir singers and congregations, it is quite certain that the new style and method has come to stay for a while. Style and method are new because so very old that few wot of their excellence.

The commission appointed by Bishop Phelan to prepare a catalogue of mass and other liturgical music has followed the lines of the pope's encyclical and will soon make its report. Proof sheets of the catalogue and letter to be sent to pastors and choirmasters are already in the hands of Father Stephen J. Schramm, pastor of St. George's church. They will be corrected and revised, and the document will be ready for distribution in less than a month.

For 30 years a modest coterie of men has been writing masses and other liturgical music, based on Gregorian chant and polyphony, with Palestrina and Fernando di Lasso as models. For the same period their efforts have been but sparsely recognized, for Palistrina had long lost vogue and the theatrical style of music was become the favorite of choirmasters, choirs and congregations.

Germans Will Lead Style.

As Wagner was the leader in a new style and method of profane music, so other Germans have led in this movement, and such names as Witt, Neckes, Haberl, Mitter, Gruber, Haller and Singenberger will preface the score lying before the choirmaster. Singenberger is the only American among them, and he is one by naturalization. He saw the handwriting on the wall, even as early as Pope Leo's tentative effort at reform in 1884, and will now find his heretofore ridiculed compositions on choir programs.

Church dignitaries and more thoughtful laymen have long recognized that a reform in church music was due. It had not got as bad as in the period immediately preceding Palestrina, when the composer who wrote a canon that could be sung upside down, backwards and forwards, was deemed abler than he who wrote a canon that could be sung backwards and forwards only, while both were held up to be immeasurably superior to the unlearned wight whose canon could be sung forwards only. Modern times have produced no musical acrobats who spent their time writing music that was to be sung by two singers, both facing each other, and reading from the same sheet, one from the top and the other from what was the top to him but the bottom to the other, both meeting in the middle of the sheet.

Nor have there been in modern times composers who took for the canto formo of their proposed mass some secular song, beautiful in melody but vulgar or even immoral in words, as music writers did before the days of Palestrina. Nevertheless, abuses had crept into modern liturgical compositions which were as far from the proper conception of what liturgical music ought to be as the writings of the pre-Palestrina composers.

Work of Bishop's Commission.

Not long after the pope's encyclical, which was issued on November 22, 1903, Bishop Phelan appointed a commission, with power to act. It added to its membership until it now consists of 13 members, all priests, with Father E. M. McKeever as president. Father McKeever appointed a sub-committee of five to do the detail work, the sub-committee consisting of Father Schramm, chairman, and Fathers Paul, O. M. Cap.; Griffin, C. S. Sp.; Louis, O. S. B., of Beatty, and Richard Hamilton of Colfax. The subcommittee has worked for several months on the problem, consulting with the whole commission, until now the work is practically complete.

Most of the compositions in the catalogue that has been prepared are taken from the catalogue issued by the St. Cecilia society, with headquarters at Ratisbon, Bavaria, founded by the Rev. Dr. F. X. Witt. No composition found place in the society's catalogue unless it was first examined by three liturgically trained musicians. The society has the blessing of three popes and Cardinal Steinhuber is its cardinal protector.

Letter to Choir Masters.

The letter to be sent by the commission to pastors and choirmasters is a lengthy document, containing the encyclical, an exhaustive explanation of the principles dictating the selection of the approved compositions and advisory hints concerning the introduction of the music into churches where it is unfamiliar. The letter suggests that training intended to rear singers be immediately begun in the parochial schools. The commission has reformed other things besides the style of the music. The changeable parts of the mass, the introit, gradual, offertory and communion will be accompanied by singing and will not be silent, as heretofore. Three styles of music are represented in the compositions approved, the chant, known as plain or Gregorian chant and figured music; polyphony and homophony, or modern music. There are collections of psalms and hymns for congregational singing. The masses are so arranged and marked that choirmasters will know at a glance what are considered easy and difficult, so that even ordinary choirs will find music adapted to their capacity. Many compositions for vesper and benediction services are contained in the catalogue.

Borrowed a Barrel of Beer.

Because he neglected to return or pay for a barrel of beer he borrowed during "rush hour" from a neighboring saloonkeeper, George D. Stinson, a colored hotelkeeper of Wylie avenue, has been sued for $6.50 before Alderman John Goetzinger.

WHALE OF A FISH TAKEN FROM THE RIVER AT RANKIN

What is believed to be the largest fish ever caught in the Monongahela river was captured yesterday near Rankin by Murry Watt, borough engineer of Rankin, and Albert P. Roderus, tax collector of that borough. It is a spoonfish, with a duck bill 4 feet 10 inches long. The body is seven feet long, and the fish weighs 80 pounds. It was caught with a hook and line."

WINED AND DINED HIS EASY VICTIMS

Swindler With a "Commercial Traveler" Graft Is Finally Rounded Up.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Wining and dining the business men he is accused of victimizing played a prominent part in the methods of J. Fred Morris, an alleged swindler of many aliases, who was arrested in Richmond, Va., after being traced through many cities by a trail of forged drafts. He was arraigned in the central police court today.

The prisoner, according to the testimony of two local business men, represented himself as a member of a prominent out-of-town firm, and placed a large bogus order with them for goods. A forged draft for money to pay traveling expenses followed, and with his victim's own money, Morris is said to have played the "hail fellow well met."

The victims say that Morris operated in the same manner in every case. After placing an order he would buy a dinner for his victim. He always ran short of funds at the psychological moment, when his victim was in a good after-dinner humor, and the offer to accept a draft was easily forthcoming.

Magistrate Kockersperger held Morris under $2,000 bail for further hearing.

Young Man Does Brave Act.

Only the prompt action of Harry Baur, a young man of Whitaker, yesterday afternoon prevented a 3-year-old child of Thomas Ward being gored to death by an enraged bull which broke loose from a drove and ran amuck. The child was playing in the street when the bull came rushing straight for it with lowered head. Baur was in a house across the street and saw the child's danger. He rushed out and carried it to a place of safety.

Dog Catcher Wanted at Reduced Scale.

"Dog Catcher Wanted" is a sign Homestead councilmen are thinking of hanging out, owing to the difficulty experienced in getting a man to serve in that capacity. Council adopted a resolution ordering the ordinance regulating the licencing of dogs revived, and instructed that a dog catcher be employed. A dog pound was arranged at the water works and a horse and wagon secured, but as yet no person has been secured to take the job of dog catcher, as the council is only willing to pay 25 cents a dog, while 50 cents is the scale price.

BOYS OF '61 HELD TWO REUNIONS

Sixth Heavy Artillery and One Hundred and Thirty-Sixth Infantry Mustered Again.

INDORSEMENT FOR ROOSEVELT

Reunions were held by two veterans' organizations yesterday. The boys of the Sixth Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery rallied 'round the flag in old-time fashion in Allegheny. The "boys" are not as young as they used to be. Their backs are not so straight; their heads are not so erect; their step is not so elastic; their hair is no longer black—or red; their eyes cannot see as far, but there has been no change in their hearts or in their loyalty to the flag which for 40 years has been their beacon of sacrifice and devotion. In spirit they are still boys—jolly, proud and patriotic.

To watch them march through the streets of Allegheny and across the bridge to the Pittsburgh exposition last night it seemed almost a ludicrous epithet to term them "boys." Theirs was a melancholy procession—a grim remnant of that fine organization which once was the pride of the Army of the Potomac. They were invited from all parts of Western Pennsylvania to meet again in their annual reunion, but there were scarcely 100 in the unsteady ranks that wavered in the shadows of the old battery's guidons. There was the music of fife and drum, a semblance of military order and the blue of '61, but that was all. It was in the speechmaking at the afternoon's campfire that they showed how their youthfulness is still manifested.

The "boys" in the morning indorsed President Roosevelt and lauded the policy of the chief executive and his cabinet advisors in the firm stand taken by the administration in behalf of the veterans of the civil war, "proving to all critics the president's ability as a statesman, a soldier and a scholar."

The meeting was held in the hall of Post No. 88, G. A. R., South Diamond street, Allegheny. The delegates were welcomed by City Solicitor Stephen G. Porter on behalf of Mayor Wyman of Allegheny. James G. Stewart of Freeport, president of the veteran association, presided. Mr. Porter offered the suggestion that the government could afford to pay the expenses of veterans' reunions. The hint was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration from the "boys."

"Pork and beans," with side dishes that were not plenty in the '60s, was served at noon, and at 2 o'clock the soldiers and their friends gathered in the hall to participate in the "campfire" festivities. Capt. W. H. H. Wasson was master of ceremonies. Solos by Mrs. J. Sharp McDonald, a comic recitation by Miss Nellie Paulin, and several characteristic stunts by Arthur Love, served to entertain the "boys" between stirring addresses by orators who know how to stir the old soldiers' blood. Daniel Ashworth, John Francis, H. Kirke Porter and A. B. Hay recounted the deeds that distinguished the defenders of the American union. Some sharp contrasts were drawn between the present war being waged between Russia and Japan and the strife which soaked the fields of Dixie with the blood of heroes, with the balance favoring the fighters of two-score years ago.

At the close of the speechmaking the veterans and their wives and daughters formed in line to the music of a fife and drum corps and marched to the exposition with Joseph B. Eaton as marshal of the short procession. In the big building the "boys" mustered for dress parade and at 6 o'clock "taps" were sounded.

The majority remained until late in the evening. There were many visitors from out of town.

The committee appointed to prepare resolutions on the deaths of the members who have passed away since the last gathering reported the following as the list:

Battery A, Jesse Fulton and Frank McMillen; Battery B, Sergeant William H. Hutchinson; Battery D, Corporal John K. Skillen, James Walker, Thomas Leslie, Daniel T. Hoax and Robert Henry; Battery E, John Ray, Ashman Dryart, Corporal Samuel R. Miller and W. E. Patterson; Battery F, J. O. McWilliams, Peter Frizzel, Bugler Thomas Welsh and Corporal Andrew F. Dunn; Battery G, John Dawson; Battery H, Samuel Tschume, John R. Davidson; Battery I, John Orris, Jr., Daniel W. Hawl and Elijah Lutz; Battery K, Corporal William Wilson, Isaac Gill, J. E. Collins and Samuel Stoops.

Nineteen of the surviving members of Company D, One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, held a reunion yesterday at the residence of W. J. Steen, on the Washington pike, near Woodville. It was the first gathering of many of the company since they were disbanded in Old City hall, Pittsburgh, at the close of the war. Dinner was served at the Steen residence and a smoker followed in the evening.

The following officers were elected: W. J. Steen, president; J. R. Van Horn, secretary; E. C. Negley, treasurer. The association will meet September 22, 1905, in the East End. Of the 101 original members of the company the following were present: E. C. Negley, John A. Cahlrocker, Philip Kypher, H. R. Reichard, W. O. McKinley, Lemuel Grimes, James Simon, Paul C. Seifert, H. Hunter, William Aber, Sr., William Messinger, J. R. Van Horn, W. J. Steen, William Strahley, James Woolslayer, William E. Long, Frank Limegrover, Michael Fix, Robert Maxwell. The following visitors also attended the meeting: James A. Gill, Adam Esler, William Davidson, A. B. Walker, S. H. Walter, W. H. H. Lee, W. G. Glenn and John A. Reed.

Engagement of "The Runaways."

Owing to the large advance sale of seats for the Nixon & Zimmerman and Shubert production of Arthur Dunn in "The Runaways," the Duquesne management has been compelled to put an extra man in the box office in order to facilitate the remarkable demands made at the ticket window. "The Runaways" engagement will be one of the most important of the present season.

"Tot," Aged 32 Years, Found Things Easy.

Wearing a new gown and hat, alleged to have been stolen from two big downtown department stores, a young woman was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Aymer and McGough as a shoplifter. It is alleged that at one store she exchanged her old hat for a $26 50 creation and then went to another store, and putting on a $16 walking skirt, left her old frayed one hanging in the dressing room. She gives her name as "Tot" Melish of Rochester, N. Y., and her age as 32 years.

Uncommon Colds.

"It is just a common cold," people say, "there's no danger in that." Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal sickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon variety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, "weak" lungs and other diseases of the organs of respiration. It increases the supply of pure, rich blood and builds up the emaciated body.

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured. When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved. That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

If you ask your dealer for "Golden Medical Discovery" because you have confidence in its cures, do not allow yourself to be switched off to a medicine claimed to be "just as good," but which you did not ask for and of which you know nothing.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

ELKINS WILL TAKE NO PART IN THE CAMPAIGN

Senator Will Not Fight His Aged Father-in-Law in West Virginia.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., Sept. 22.—It is positively known that Senator Stephen B. Elkins will take no part in the Republican campaign, his appearance at Wheeling when he presided over the Republican state convention being his first and last. Senator Elkins is not criticised by the Republican leaders for his action, although the Democrats are extracting much comfort out of it as far as West Virginia is concerned. Elkins is a power in the state and his inactivity is hailed with pleasure by the Democrats.

The Republicans are consoling themselves that Mr. Elkins' contribution to the Republican campaign fund is the largest he ever gave and he was let off at that. It is conceded on all sides that Senator Elkins could not well take the stump against his aged father-in-law with whom he has always been so intimately associated, their mammoth business interests being largely common.

Besides, it would be ingratitude on the part of Senator Elkins when it is considered that his father-in-law never stood in his way when legislatures were to be elected to send the son-in-law to the United States senate. When the Democrats upon several occasions wanted aid to elect members of the legislature in Tucker, Mineral and other counties, who would have voted for a United States senator against Elkins, the Davis purse strings were tied and the Davises could not be found.

Further, Mrs. Elkins is known to be a Democrat this year and the senator, for many reasons, desires domestic felicity. Senator Elkins is known to be an uncompromising Republican and his conversation in private indicates it.

TROUBLE OVER UNIFORMS.

Two Firms Wish to Clothe the Allegheny Letter Carriers.

Postoffice Inspector Frank O'Brien called at the Allegheny postoffice yesterday to confer with Postmaster James A. Grier over an alleged dispute that has arisen through the rivalry of two clothing houses that are bidding for the winter uniforms of the letter carriers.

A Cincinnati firm has secured orders for 73 suits, while a company in Utica has orders for 40. The bids of the two rival companies are said to have been the same. A representative of the Utica house personally solicited orders in Allegheny after learning that the contract was to be awarded to the Cincinnati firm. Mr. Grier says the latter house has been making uniforms for the men for the last six years.

PLOT IN NEW YORK AGAINST THE KAISER

Threatening Letters Fall Into the Hands of the German Consul.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The German consulate in this city is wrestling with a mystery which it is considering with more or less anxiety. It is a threat on the life of Emperor William contained in a typewritten letter delivered to the consulate by some mysterious person.

A short time after this letter was written information reached the consulate that a packet of letters, written in French, had been found on the corner of Wall and William streets. The German consul, or his assistants, were also informed that these letters contained threats against the kaiser. The letters are supposed to contain in detail the formation of a plot in this country and in Europe against the life of Emperor William. It was said that £100 was to be paid in connection with the plot.

The German vice consul today admitted that two typewritten pieces of paper of the character described had come into his possession, but that little importance was attached to it. He declared that a messenger boy had delivered the letter.

CONSERVATIVES CONTROL.

They Defeat Proposed Innovations in the Order of Odd Fellows.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—In the sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows and the grand encampment of California the constitutional amendment proposing that young men of 18 years of age be eligible to membership in the order was defeated. The amendment providing for a number of changes in the official titles of the officers of the sovereign grand lodge was also voted down.

Amendments proposing that the barrier of sex be removed so that the Rebekahs might become representatives to the grand lodge, and that the color line be extended so as to permit the admission of men who were partly Indian descent were defeated, as were also two measures tending to reduce the term of office enjoyed by representatives of the sovereign grand lodge from two years to one.

The amendment providing that men who were only indirectly engaged in the liquor business might be admitted to the order was laid on the table because of a technical defect in its mode of presentation.

Will Meet in Indianapolis.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Indianapolis, Ind., was today selected as the meeting place of next year's convention of the supreme council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, Free Masons. The report of the trustees showed invested funds of $232,000.

THANKSGIVING INSTEAD OF MEMORIAL SERVICES

No Ministers of the Allegheny United Brethern Conference Have Died During the Past Year.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SCOTTDALE, Sept. 22.—The second day's session of the Allegheny United Brethren conference opened today with Bishop J. S. Mills, D.D., Ph.D., presiding. For the memorial service scheduled for this afternoon, a thanksgiving service was substituted, as during the year none of the 115 ministers had died. The report of the publishing interests showed a prosperous condition, under the direction of the Rev. Dr. W. R. Funk. The publishing house at Dayton, O., has been rebuilt and a new office, 12 stories high, is nearly completed, so that the denomination will soon have the largest publishing house in Ohio.

The committee on candidates and credentials recommended the transfer of the Rev. A. V. Wondersmith to Virginia. The Rev. W. J. Zuck, college professor at Annville, received an open transfer. The Rev. H. A. Breth's application for a dismissal from the church and conference was referred to the committee. He has been stationed at Path Valley, Franklin county. The Rev. J. A. Graves, who came from the St. Joseph conference of Indiana to Greensburg, is received into the Allegheny conference as is the Rev. G. D. Fisher of Industry, who comes from the Minnesota conference. The Rev. J. E. Lyle of the Scottdale Presbyterian church, the Rev. H. W. Millen of the United Presbyterian church, the Rev. B. F. Hankey of St. Paul's Lutheran Evangelical church, and the Rev. E. J. Barnett of the Christian church, were introduced to the conference. The Rev. George Cavanaugh of East Freedom, Blair county, led the devotional exercises this afternoon. He pleaded for more purity among church members. "I don't think that smoking and chewing will be practiced and I am very certain that there will be no cigarettes there," said he, referring to the hereafter. The Rev. S. S. Hough of Altoona, had charge of the evangelistic services tonight. Tomorrow the election of a presiding elder will be held.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22.—The double defeat of the Pirates at Washington park, Brooklyn, today by Hanlonites 2 to 0 and 2 to 1 and the single defeat of the Chicagos in a double-header at Philadelphia gives the Giants the pennant for 1904, even should they lose every game from now until the close of the campaign.

After waiting 14 innings to see his team score a run, Barney Dreyfuss, who came early and had a front seat, left in disgust. In the next inning the champions evidently discovered what their bats were intended for and managed to squeeze in one run, which constituted their day's work with the willow and saved them from a double shutout.

The Pirates' inability to hit in either game caused their double defeat, especially so in the opening game. Their single error in this contest outside of a battery error cut no figure in the scoring by the locals. In the second game Leach's bad throw and Lumley's triple netted the Brooklyns a brace of runs enough to win the game.

Mike Lynch had as his opponent in the curtain raiser "Red" Scanlon, formerly of the Pirates. Scanlon turned the trick on his old mates by allowing them only two singles and only one Pirate reached third base during the game. Both Lynch and Scanlon were a trifle wild at the beginning and issued a few passes, Lynch's gifts, however, proving the more costly, one of them resulting in a run.

The second contest allowed more young blood to shine. Camnitz and Durham went in for the seven-inning contest. This pair were evenly matched and, as in the first contest, outside of a costly error, the game resolved itself into a pitchers' duel. Neither Clarke nor Wagner played today. The former sat on the players' bench wrapped in an overcoat. Should the weather warm up it is more than likely both players will get in the game before leaving New York. Their batting has been missed in this series. Scores:

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The New York Nationals won their one hundredth game this year by defeating Cincinnati here today in the first game of a double-header. Jim O'Rourke, who formerly played on the New York team, caught for McGinnity in this game, which the locals won, 7 to 5. The second contest went to the visitors after the teams had played seven innings, the game being called on account of darkness. The scores:

FAST GOING ON COLUMBUS TRACK

Major Delmar Failed to Lower Record by 3-4 Seconds Owing to the Wind.

SOME SENSATIONAL RACING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 22.—Sensational racing, with a good though futile effort by Major Delmar to beat 2:02¼ interested a large crowd today. Major Delmar was forced to contend against cold weather and a light wind, which hindered him on the second turn. After trotting the first half in 1:02, he was unable to finish strong and lost by ¾ of a second.

Sweet Marie, favorite in the 2:07 trot, made a break in the first heat, but recovered so that George G. had to trot in 2:06¼ to win. This time makes George G. the fastest trotting race gelding of the year. Sweet Marie won the second heat handily, trotting the last half in 1:03. To win the final heat Oxanem forced the California mare to equal her record, 2:06¼.

Larrie Ginter and King Direct were about equal choices for the 2:08 pace, which developed into a four-cornered battle which could not be finished. Each heat was decided by a neck. Euxenite was an even-money favorite in the 2:15 trot, but Red Lac turned up as the winner. Pulled up at the finish of the second mile, he took a mark of 2:08½, thus becoming the fastest trotting stallion of the year. Summaries:

C. of St. Louis to meet Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in a 20-round bout at a boxing show to be brought off by the club within two weeks.

FOHL THROWS AWAY THE GAME FOR HOMESTEAD

Angered at Umpire's Decision in 13th Inning at McKeesport—Score 3 to 2.

Catcher Lee Fohl, angered because Umpire Prosser had sent Harry Shultz to first on balls when he thought the batsman was out on strikes, threw the ball into deep middle field and Shultz galloped around home with the run that beat Homestead yesterday at McKeesport, in the thirteenth inning, 3 to 2. Fohl complained of the umpire's work throughout. By throwing away the game he spoiled one of the prettiest contests of the season in McKeesport.

Jim Shultz, who worked for McKeesport, and Zellers, the Waynesburg recruit who performed for Homestead, each did good work. As a result of the unpleasant ending of the game McKeesport threatens to call off the remaining games with Homestead. Another brilliant feature was the playing of "Hump" Soffel at second for McKeesport. Cargo did well at short and Sam Brown caught a good game.

Homestead scored first, McKee clouting the ball in the fifth for two bases. Fohl sent him home with a single. Zellers singled in the sixth, Edmundson sacrificed, and Charlie McCloskey laid against the ball for two sacks, Zellers scoring. McKeesport got back both runs in the sixth also. With two out Cargo singled and traveled to third on H. Shultz's double. Brown laced out a single, clearing the circuit. Neither side did much until the thirteenth, when Fohl threw away the ball. SHETTLER'S FINE FORM.

Millvale Pitcher Does Not Let Mt. Troy Reach Second.

Millvale shut out the Mt. Troy A. C. yesterday at Millvale, 5 to 0. The game was devoid of any startling features and was only a question of how badly the home team would beat the visitors, as they were outclassed. Shettler had Mt. Troy at his mercy, only allowing one hit, and not a man reaching second base in the game showed how effective his pitching was. The batting of Kinsey and the base running of Orbin were the bright spots in the game. Millvale meets the Shaners on Saturday on the Denny grounds, West End. The score:

ELECTION IS HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL

Dunc. Worrell Chosen President of Athletic Association—Preps Get Millvale Park.

JUD SCHMIDT IS INJURED

The annual election of athletic officers at the Pittsburgh High school took place yesterday afternoon. Over 250 students participated in the voting. There were warm contests for offices. The results:

President—Duncan A. Worrell.
Vice president—Foster Ralston.
Secretary—E. A. Barchfeld.
Treasurer—Prof. H. B. Cooper.
Executive committee—Academical department, P. D. Woods, B. H. Lytle, E. Dowling, Greer Orr; commercial department, Al Bialas, Wallace Johns, J. Kelly; South Side High school, Ralph Unks, Donard J. Burnside.
Athletic reporter—L. H. Turner.

The gathering of students was the largest in the history of a high school athletic election. Orators from the students' ranks stirred up enthusiasm and at the close of the meeting it would have been a difficult task for anyone to convince a High school boy or girl that a rival school was better in athletics. On account of the meeting there was no football practice at Friendship park.

SHADYSIDE ACADEMY.

Capt. Arch Williams sent the candidates for the Shadyside eleven through two hours' hard practice yesterday. The usual routine was carried out, but all the candidates jumped into the practice with a vim. The squad was increased by younger students coming out. There will not be a lineup until early next week.

ALLEGHENY PREP. SCHOOL.

The authorities of the Allegheny Prep. school have secured the Millvale baseball park for the season, where practice yesterday was held. No new candidates reported to Coach Snitjer. Signal practice was the order yesterday.

W. U. P.

Jud Schmidt, W. U. P.'s prize halfback, had his left leg wrenched in practice at Exposition park. He will be out of the game for two weeks, it is feared. Leidenroth, who has been doing well at tackle, sprung a "charley horse" and was unable to get into the practice. Coach Mosse had two full teams out. The varsity had little trouble in tearing up the scrubs. Edgar practiced goal kicking for some time.

HAYS DOES NOT WANT OPEN TOWN

Says His Orders to Director Moore Are to Close All Gambling Resorts.

KENNELLY TELLS ABOUT THEM

"I have received no official report of the discovery of 13 gambling houses in the lower part of the city," said Mayor Hays yesterday. "Director Moore is acquainted with my wishes. He has orders to close all gambling houses as soon as they are found. This community does not want a wide open town and will not have one so long as I am mayor."

Inspector Edward Kennelly yesterday submitted to Director Moore of the department of public safety a list of 13 gambling houses that are in operation in the downtown district, between Pride street and the Point. Accompanying the list was a detailed report as to the kind of gambling carried on, the names of those in charge, etc. All this was based on the reports of men Inspector Kennelly sent to the resorts with instructions to "get in the games" and gamble just as ordinary people are permitted to do, night after night. Inspector Kennelly was very thorough in making his report, which is one of the most complete and detailed ever submitted to the head of the department. Most of the gambling resorts reported are in the First ward.

Director Moore says he will examine the evidence and if he thinks it sufficient to sustain an information being made against the proprietors that they will be prosecuted. Director Moore refused to permit a publication of the locations of the gambling houses reported on by Inspector Kennelly. He said he believed the houses would promptly close, though he admitted that no orders to that effect had yet been issued from the bureau of police. He said that eventually, if satisfied with the evidence gathered by Kennelly, he would have the places raided.

According to the view Inspector Kennelly takes of the situation, it makes no difference whether the gambling resorts he reported on are closed now or not. He says he has sufficient evidence to convict the men who have so openly run these joints, whenever the district attorney wants it or whenever he is ordered by Director Moore to take the next step, now that the investigation has been made. Some of the places are chartered clubs, according to the inspector. This makes no difference to the police, as these clubs violated their charters when they permitted their places to be conducted as open gambling establishments, and these are open establishments, for according to Kennelly anyone who has the price and is believed to be "all right" can visit them and play until he is broke if he feels inclined to stay that long.

RUSSIA'S PROTEST EFFECTIVE.

China's Objection to the British-Tibetan Treaty Believed to Be the Result.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 22.—The Russian protest against the Anglo-Tibetan treaty, as forecasted in these dispatches Tuesday, has been presented at Pekin. M. Lessar, the Russian minister, is understood to have called the attention of the Chinese foreign board to the fact that China would abandon her suzerainty over Tibet if she ratified the treaty, thus creating a British protectorate.

The foreign office here has not yet received M. Lessar's report, but the dispatch from Pekin to the Morning Post of London, announcing that China is not willing to ratify the treaty, is believed to be the direct outcome of Russia's protest.

GENEVA SCIENTIST SAYS SKYSCRAPERS MUST GO

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—Svyscrapers are doomed, according to the prophecy of Prof. Louis Wuarin of the University of Geneva, who delivered an address on "The Future City" in the urban community sectional meeting at today's session of the International Congress of Arts and Science. Prof. Wuarin maintained that the individual should be subservient to the community, and declared that from a sanitary consideration high buildings were detrimental to public health, and would, therefore, ultimately disappear from the topography of the future city.

HOMESTEAD BUSINESS MEN QUARRELED AT A CLUB

A suit for felonious assault and battery was entered yesterday before Justice John B. Jones of Homestead against Harry Hall, a contractor of that town, who is charged with cutting David Segelman, a jeweler. Both are prominent business men of Homestead. It is alleged they quarreled at the Belvidere club late Wednesday night. Hall is said to have pulled a knife and slashed Segelman on the side of the head. A physician dressed Segelman's wounds and he was taken to his home, where he is still confined. Hall gave bail for a hearing.

TOURISTS SEE POINTS OF INTEREST ON NORTH SIDE

Second "Seeing Greater Pittsburgh" Excursion Was Made to Bellevue and West View.

Under the auspices of the Merchants and Manufacturers association the second "Seeing Greater Pittsburgh" excursion was given yesterday, this time over the North Side division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The tourists filled three cars and were informed of the places of interest by guides in the employ of the railway company. The party started from Penn avenue and Cecil alley at 2 o'clock, crossed the Sixth street bridge to Federal street, from whence they went over the interesting route to Bellevue and Avalon. Returning to Federal street, the cars made the trip out Perrysville avenue to West View, returning by way of East street.

The Pittsburgh Casket Company officials took a party of 18 out-of-town visitors with them, including several women. At West View a stop of 15 minutes was made and the party was taken through the handsome park near the end of the street car line. This part of the excursion was made under the direction of A. S. McSwigan of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. President J. S. Wightman of select council of Pittsburgh was one of a party that included Councilman John Steel, M. Oppenheimer, Bernard Gloekler and W. C. Loeffler, vice president of the American Window Glass Company. Another excursion will be made today. The trip will commence at Cecil alley and Penn avenue, and the route to be covered will be decided by those who wish to make the trip.

PERSONALS

Senator Charles Warren Fairbanks, Republican candidate for vice president, spent 25 minutes in Pittsburgh last night. Mr. Fairbanks had come from Philadelphia, having spoken the night before in Reading. He was on his way to the Pacific coast for a lengthy speech-making tour.

The senator, accompanied by his private secretary, came into the Union station on the Chicago special at 7:05 p. m. and left at 7:30 o'clock. As he strode down the platform his very tall figure attracted much attention. There seemed to be nobody on the platform who knew him personally, but his countenance has been pictured so frequently in the newspapers that he was speedily recognized and soon everybody in the waiting room knew that Fairbanks was in town.

The senator stood for a while in the ticket office corner of the room reading a paper, but soon sat down and chatted with his private secretary. Those who had recognized him gracefully recognized his desire for privacy, for they did not crowd around him, and one man who was about to approach him with hand extended was restrained by a friend, who whispered to him not to "bother the senator."

Senator Fairbanks declined to discuss the political issues, saying that he did not care to add anything to his speeches, which have been published broadcast. The senator lived in Pittsburgh for some months when a young man and he spoke of the remarkable changes he had noticed on recent visits to the city.

When train time came the senator and his companion arose and went out on the platform to board their train, the senator appearing to be utterly unconscious of the onlookers' stare.

Mr. Fairbanks will arrive in Chicago today and will there board a special train for the coast.

Francis L. Robbins has been invited to attend a luncheon to be tendered in New York to members of the Interparliamentary union. John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, and Bishop Henry C. Potter have also been invited as members of the Civic Federation. These three compose a committee to select a successor in the federation to succeed Senator Marcus A. Hanna. It is probable that the position will be tendered to Judge George Gray, chairman of the anthracite commission.

R. L. Richardson, who has been connected with the city office of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company for the past 10 years, has resigned to accept a position with the Allis-Chalmers Company as general correspondent and salesman in their Pittsburgh offices in the Frick building.

The Rev. Dr. Alexander Gilchrist, secretary of the United Presbyterian board of home missions, left last night on a tour of the west and will visit the synods of Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio. He will present the needs and claims of the board and will solicit support for a greater extension of the work. Dr. Gilchrist will address and confer with committees of the various presbyteries and synods on work in their respective bounds and will also investigate new fields with a view to establishing new missions and appointing new missionaries. The new fields which it is proposed to enter are in the northwest and southwest, following the movement of population in that direction. Dr. Gilchrist will be gone about six weeks.

G. W. C. Johnston, secretary and treasurer, and Charles Bickel, architect to the Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company, left for New York last night to witness a fire and load test of a new floor designed and first to be used for their big warehouses on the South Side. The test will take place under the direction of the National Fireproofing Company, at their Perth Amboy plant, today. Some of the most prominent engineers and architects in the east will be present. The construction is to be given a four-hour fire test and an extreme weight test. Eastern builders and insurance men are much interested, because the floor construction is entirely new and has never been tested. It was designed by Mr. Bickel especially to meet the needs of the big warehouse system going up on the South Side.

Chief Charles K. Bryce of the Homestead fire department, who recently announced that he would resign his office, which he has held for the past 26 years, has reconsidered the move and yesterday announced that he would remain as the head of the Homestead fire department.

Democratic Ideas Are Not Popular on the Pacific Slope—Colorado for Roosevelt.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Henry T. Oxnard, who is at the head of the beet sugar industry of the United States and an influential Californian, said today:

"I left California 10 days ago, and the prospects for Republican success were most glowing. In fact, the conditions throughout the Pacific coast portend Republican victory beyond the question of a doubt. The people of the coast, apart from every other consideration, are strongly convinced that the situation in the Pacific demands the continuation of the Republican party in power. We are expansionists out there and do not wish Democratic ideas to prevail.

"I have large interests in Colorado and Nebraska, and the best information which I have leads me to believe that Nebraska can beyond any doubt be put into the Republican column. It is the opinion also of those who are well informed that Colorado will give a sweeping victory. From all I could learn, the people of the western part of this country are more than satisfied with existing conditions, and there is no doubt but that the Republicans can count on an easier victory in 1904 than they had in 1900." FRANK A. PARKER.

Party of Five, on Verge of Starvation, Picked Up by American Vessel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 22.—On the verge of starvation, at a lonely trading post on the Kamchatka peninsula, a white woman and child, two white men and a Japanese fisherman were found when the schooner Emily Claudina reached Uka, June 29. The survivors were conveyed to Nome and there transferred to the steamship Victoria, which reached port today. The party consists of Cecil Meares, representing the London firm of Compton & Schwabe, and Valentine Koceaski and his wife and child. Meares has been engaged in trading with the Siberian natives for furs and whalebone for several years. Koceaski acted as his assistant.

Last year the company chartered a Japanese vessel at Yokohama to take the party to their destination on the Kamchatka peninsula. After their arrival there war broke out between Russia and Japan, and the Japanese merchantmen did not care to venture into Siberian waters.

WEST PROVIDES CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Chairman Cortelyou Surprised by Large Contributions from the Pacific Coast.

MONEY FOR USE IN THE EAST

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

The Republican national campaign fund was unexpectedly increased today by a number of large checks which were handed to George B. Cortelyou, the chairman of the Republican national committee, by men who head large business enterprises on the Pacific slope and in the extreme northwest, who had traveled across the country to hand them to him personally.

These contributions were a complete surprise to the managers of the Republican campaign, as no effort has been made to obtain money in that section of the country, and thus far the campaign west of the Rocky mountains is hardly under way. One of the men, whose name was withheld, represents extensive lumber interests in Oregon and Washington and has large business interests in the Philippine Islands.

The size of his check is said to have astonished both Mr. Cortelyou and Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the Republican national committee. This man told Mr. Cortelyou that he should use the money in the east, where it would do the most good, and that the business men on the Pacific slope would take care of the campaign out there. He is also said to have told Mr. Cortelyou to push the Philippine question to the front, as he did not believe the American people were willing to accept the Democratic theories on that matter.

After this man had finished three or four others were ushered into Mr. Cortelyou's private room, all bearing checks, so that altogether Mr. Cortelyou was well satisfied with his day's work. FRANK A. PARKER.

Agreement Reached on a Crossing.

It is stated that a satisfactory agreement has been reached by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the National Tube Company regarding the disputed steel span over a part of the tube company's property at McKeesport, and that the span will be swung into place on Sunday. It is said that the Lake Erie will not be allowed to use the property thus made available, but that the McKeesport Connecting, the tube company's railroad, will lay tracks through the place to Riverton.

Threw Boarder Through a Window.

John Hopta and Mrs. Eva Tisconich of Woods Run were committed to jail last night by Alderman Humphrey Lynch on charges of disorderly conduct made by John Kalmaynek. Both men boarded with Mrs. Tisconich. The woman's husband did not like Hopta and asked Kalmaynek to eject Hopta from the house. When he attempted to do this Hopta and Mrs. Tisconich threw Kalmaynek through a window on the first floor into the street. They were held for a hearing today.

Fleeced Local Business Men.

W. R. Hassett, who was arrested in Buffalo a few days ago on a charge of using the postoffice of the United States to carry out a scheme to defraud, was brought here yesterday and committed to jail by United States Commissioner Lindsey. Hassett, it is said, victimized a number of business men with an alleged wood graining machine in which he got them to invest.

AN AGED FARMER KILLED BY TRAMP

Ordered from Premises He Fractured the Old Man's Skull With Piece of Pipe.

MURDERER SPEEDILY CAUGHT

John Wasbit, aged 69, employed on the estate of the late George Walker of Walkers Mills as a farmer, was killed last night by Thomas Russell, a tramp, who struck him over the head with a piece of gas pipe when ordered off the premises. Russell was arrested at Carnegie later and admitted killing the farmer.

Russell had been seen about the farm for several days. He was crossing the premises last night shortly after 7 o'clock. Wasbit told him to get off the place and stay away. Russell refused and, picking up a fence rail, made for the aged farmer. Wasbit went into the house and got his shotgun, a single-barreled weapon. Russell stood his ground and Wasbit shot the gun off in the air with the intention of frightening him. After the gun was discharged Russell knew there was no other load in it, and, picking up a piece of gas pipe, assaulted the farmer, so badly fracturing his skull that he died 20 minutes later.

There were two other farm hands in the house, and when they heard the shot they went outside and got out in time to see Russell running away. Word was sent to the police in surrounding towns, and Russell was shortly afterward arrested in Carnegie. He told the police he had no home and tramped the country. He said that Wasbit tried to shoot him and that he struck him with the gas pipe in self-defense. Wasbit was well known in Walkers Mills, having lived there for many years.

John Dailey, aged 50, a barber of 86 Brownsville avenue, died at the county jail yesterday from alcoholism. Dailey was committed by Magistrate Stewart for five days on a charge of drunkenness.

Frank Tross, aged 23, a Hungarian, was found dead in his boarding house at 1114 Ward street, Allegheny, yesterday. He was ill with typhoid fever at St. John's General hospital for five weeks, and was discharged a few days ago. It is supposed that death was due to heart trouble.

A man supposed to be Harold Lewis of Livingstone, Mont., was killed at Port Perry station, on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, last night by a passenger train. On his person was found a letter of recommendation from John Kruza to a butcher in Bozeman, Mont. The man is about 35 years old.

An unknown foreigner employed on the new dam at Port Perry was killed last evening by a Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston passenger train.

SPAIN ORDERS RUSSIAN CRUISER TO DEPART

LAS PALMAS, CANARY ISLANDS, Sept. 22.—The Russian cruiser Terek, which has been stopping British vessels in the vicinity of Gibraltar, commenced coaling here yesterday, but on orders received today from Madrid, she was stopped from coaling and was ordered to leave here during the morning. Her commander replied that he was unable to put to sea, owing to the Terek's engines needing repairs. She was, however, forbidden to take on board any more coal, any water or stores.

TEACHERS' CAUSE WAS RATIFIED

South Siders Held a Mass Meeting and Cheered Speakers Urging High Salaries.

VOTED A 50 PER CENT RAISE

"There is only one poorer paid employe of the state and nation than the school teacher, and that is the soldier who carried the arms of his country, who receives about $16 a month; and if ever I have an opportunity to vote on an appropriation to increase his pension that vote shall be cast," declared Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, nominee for congress from the Thirty-second district, before an enthusiastic audience of 1,000 people gathered in mass meeting last night, in the South Thirteenth street Turner hall, in the interests of the crusade being made by the Pittsburgh Teachers' association for better salaries.

C. B. Connelley, supervisor of industrial training of the Allegheny city schools, was chairman of the meeting. Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, superintendent of public schools in Pennsylvania, spoke enthusiastically on the purpose and work of the schools and the crying need of better remuneration for teachers in this city, drawing comparisons with the nature wealth found here to that of other communities paying higher salaries.

Dr. Barchfeld followed and laid stress upon the educational neglect of the negro in the south, citing Virginia as a state in which the negroes are compelled to pay for the tuition of their children, which, in their poverty, acts as a barrier to education. "If the state does not compel free education for the negroes of the south, the government should take the matter in hand and compel them to afford it," declared Dr. Barchfeld. "If it is ever my privilege I shall vote and use my every endeavor to further any legislation compelling the southern states to afford free education for the negro." The speaker then soundly scored the salaries paid local instructors, and assured the teachers that he was with them in their campaign for better remuneration for their all-important work.

A. G. Smith, president of the Mt. Washington school board; Francis Carroll and C. F. Beinhauer, a South Side business man, also made addresses. At the conclusion of the speeches Mr. Carroll made a motion that existing salaries of Pittsburgh school teachers ought to be increased 50 per cent. The motion was unanimously adopted.

During the rendition of the program music was furnished by a string orchestra, while songs were rendered by several soloists and a quartet.

ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA
NEW WERNER TWENTIETH CENTURY EDITION

You Can Own it Now!

The Encyclopaedia Britannica contains more than twice the amount of reading matter in any other encyclopaedia. If the 25,000 pages in the New Werner Twentieth Century Edition were reprinted in volumes of ordinary size and type—such as novels are usually set in—about 500 of such books would be required to contain the matter embraced in this king of Encyclopaedias. Not only is it the greatest of all reference works in size, but in the conspicuous eminence of its contributors, the completeness of its articles, and in its clear and lucid style of treating subjects, it stands today the most monumental collection of useful knowledge ever brought together into a set of books.

Among its American contributors are such authorities as Gen. Nelson A. Miles, the author of the article on "Coast Defences;" Hon. Carroll D. Wright, U. S. commissioner of labor; Cardinal Gibbons, who writes on "The Catholic Church;" Walter Camp, the famous authority on football; Prof. J. B. McMaster, the historian, who is the author of the article on "American Political Parties;" Prof. R. H. Thurston of Cornell university, and hundreds of others. In its long list of English contributors are to be found almost every eminent living authority in every branch of knowledge.

How a Subject Is Treated

This Encyclopaedia is different from all others in that it presents, in connection with each subject, all that is to be said on that subject from every standpoint. Every article is therefore an exhaustive treatise on the topic in hand. Take, for example, the article on "Napoleon Bonaparte." This comprehensive study, covering 34 large two-column pages—equal to a 200-page book of ordinary size—is by J. R. Seeley, professor of modern history at Cambridge university. It takes up Napoleon's antecedents, his family history, his rise to power, the stirring events of his life, his political influence, his ideas on government—and the article is completed by an estimate of Napoleon's place in history and his influence on the future. You will find in this Encyclopaedia 73 complete courses of study and systematic reading, embracing such intersting subjects as Literature, Astronomy, Botany, History, Geology, Law, etc.

COLD RECEPTION FOR H. G. DAVIS

Wheeling Audience Did Not Enthuse at the Democratic Campaign Opening.

TOWNE SCOLDED ROOSEVELT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Sept. 22.—The Democratic campaign in West Virginia was opened here tonight by Henry G. Davis, the vice presidential candidate, who has set out to carry the state; ex-Senator Charles A. Towne of Minnesota and State Chairman John T. McGraw. The meeting was held in a big canvas wigwam, which will be used jointly by the Republicans and Democrats, and 2,500 persons attended.

The opening was a sorry disappointment, for there was a surprising lack of enthusiasm. The frostiness was remarkable, and can only be explained by the fact that the majority were Republicans who attended out of curiosity. Mr. Davis spoke for less than 15 minutes, and was never interrupted by applause. He declared he was for sound money and against free trade, but favored revising the tariff on the ground that American-made articles were sold abroad cheaper than at home.

He referred to a speech he made in the United States senate in 1883 to show his tariff views were unchanged, and that he still stood for incidental protection. He dwelt on the issue of state tax reform, and advised his hearers to "turn the rascals out." In comparing the two great parties, Mr. Davis said:

What Democracy Did.

The Democratic party always administered the government with prudence and economy. The Republican party is a party of extremists and has been wasteful and extravagant in its expenditure of government funds. More money is being collected in the form of taxes than is necessary for an economical management of the government, both national and state, and if the Republican party is continued in power still larger taxes and greater expenses will follow, as their leaders tell us that they propose to pursue the same policy in the future they have in the past.

He regretted that the national platform of the Republican party raised the race issue, and continued:

The southern people, who have to bear the burden of this question, were dealing with it in moderation and fairness, but its unfortunate agitation by Republican leaders had made its solution much more difficult and hindered the efforts of those who were honestly striving to aid the colored people in uplifting their race.

Towne's spellbinding reputation had preceded him, and the crowd gave him a warmer reception. He read a poem entitled, "Hurrah for 81," devoted to Henry G. Davis and referring to his vigorous age. This poem started the only cordial ovation for Davis.

Towne Scolded Roosevelt.

Towne said Roosevelt was the exponent of the strenuous life, but that Davis was as strenuous at 81 as could be desired. Towne's energies were devoted chiefly to scolding Roosevelt, whom he said was just the kind of a man to be captain of a fire department or to lead a police squad in a tenderloin raid.

Col. McGraw whooped things up on national and state issues with orational flourishes.

Democratic leaders held an important conference today, and mapped out a spellbinding campaign. Senator Bailey of Texas is to be starred, but the big attraction will be a special train of speakers, which will start from Rockville, Md., October 11, and swing into West Virginia and circle the state. In the party will be ex-Senator David B. Hill of New York, ex-Gov. P. White of Maryland, Senator Daniel of Virginia and Henry G. Davis.

Davis leaves for Parkersburg tomorrow to hold a conference. There was a conference of the county chairmen of the First congressional district today, and there will be another for the Second district at Piedmont tomorrow.

FIRES UPON POLICE CHIEF.

Attempt Made by Young Man to Kill a Russian Official at Odessa.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 22.—In Odessa this morning while Chief of Police Neidgardt, in company with Prince Obolensky, his assistant, was inspecting some new government building in the Boulevard Nicholas, near the Pushkin monument, a young man, wearing a blue blouse, fired a revolver from a distance of six paces at Neidgardt.

The bullet did not strike the chief of police, and the would-be assassin was about to fire again when he was seized by Prince Obolensky. The man's weapon fell to the ground, and a desperate struggle ensued, in the course of which M. Neidgardt was wounded in the hand with a dagger. The assailant was secured and placed in custody. He refused to give his name or any account of himself.

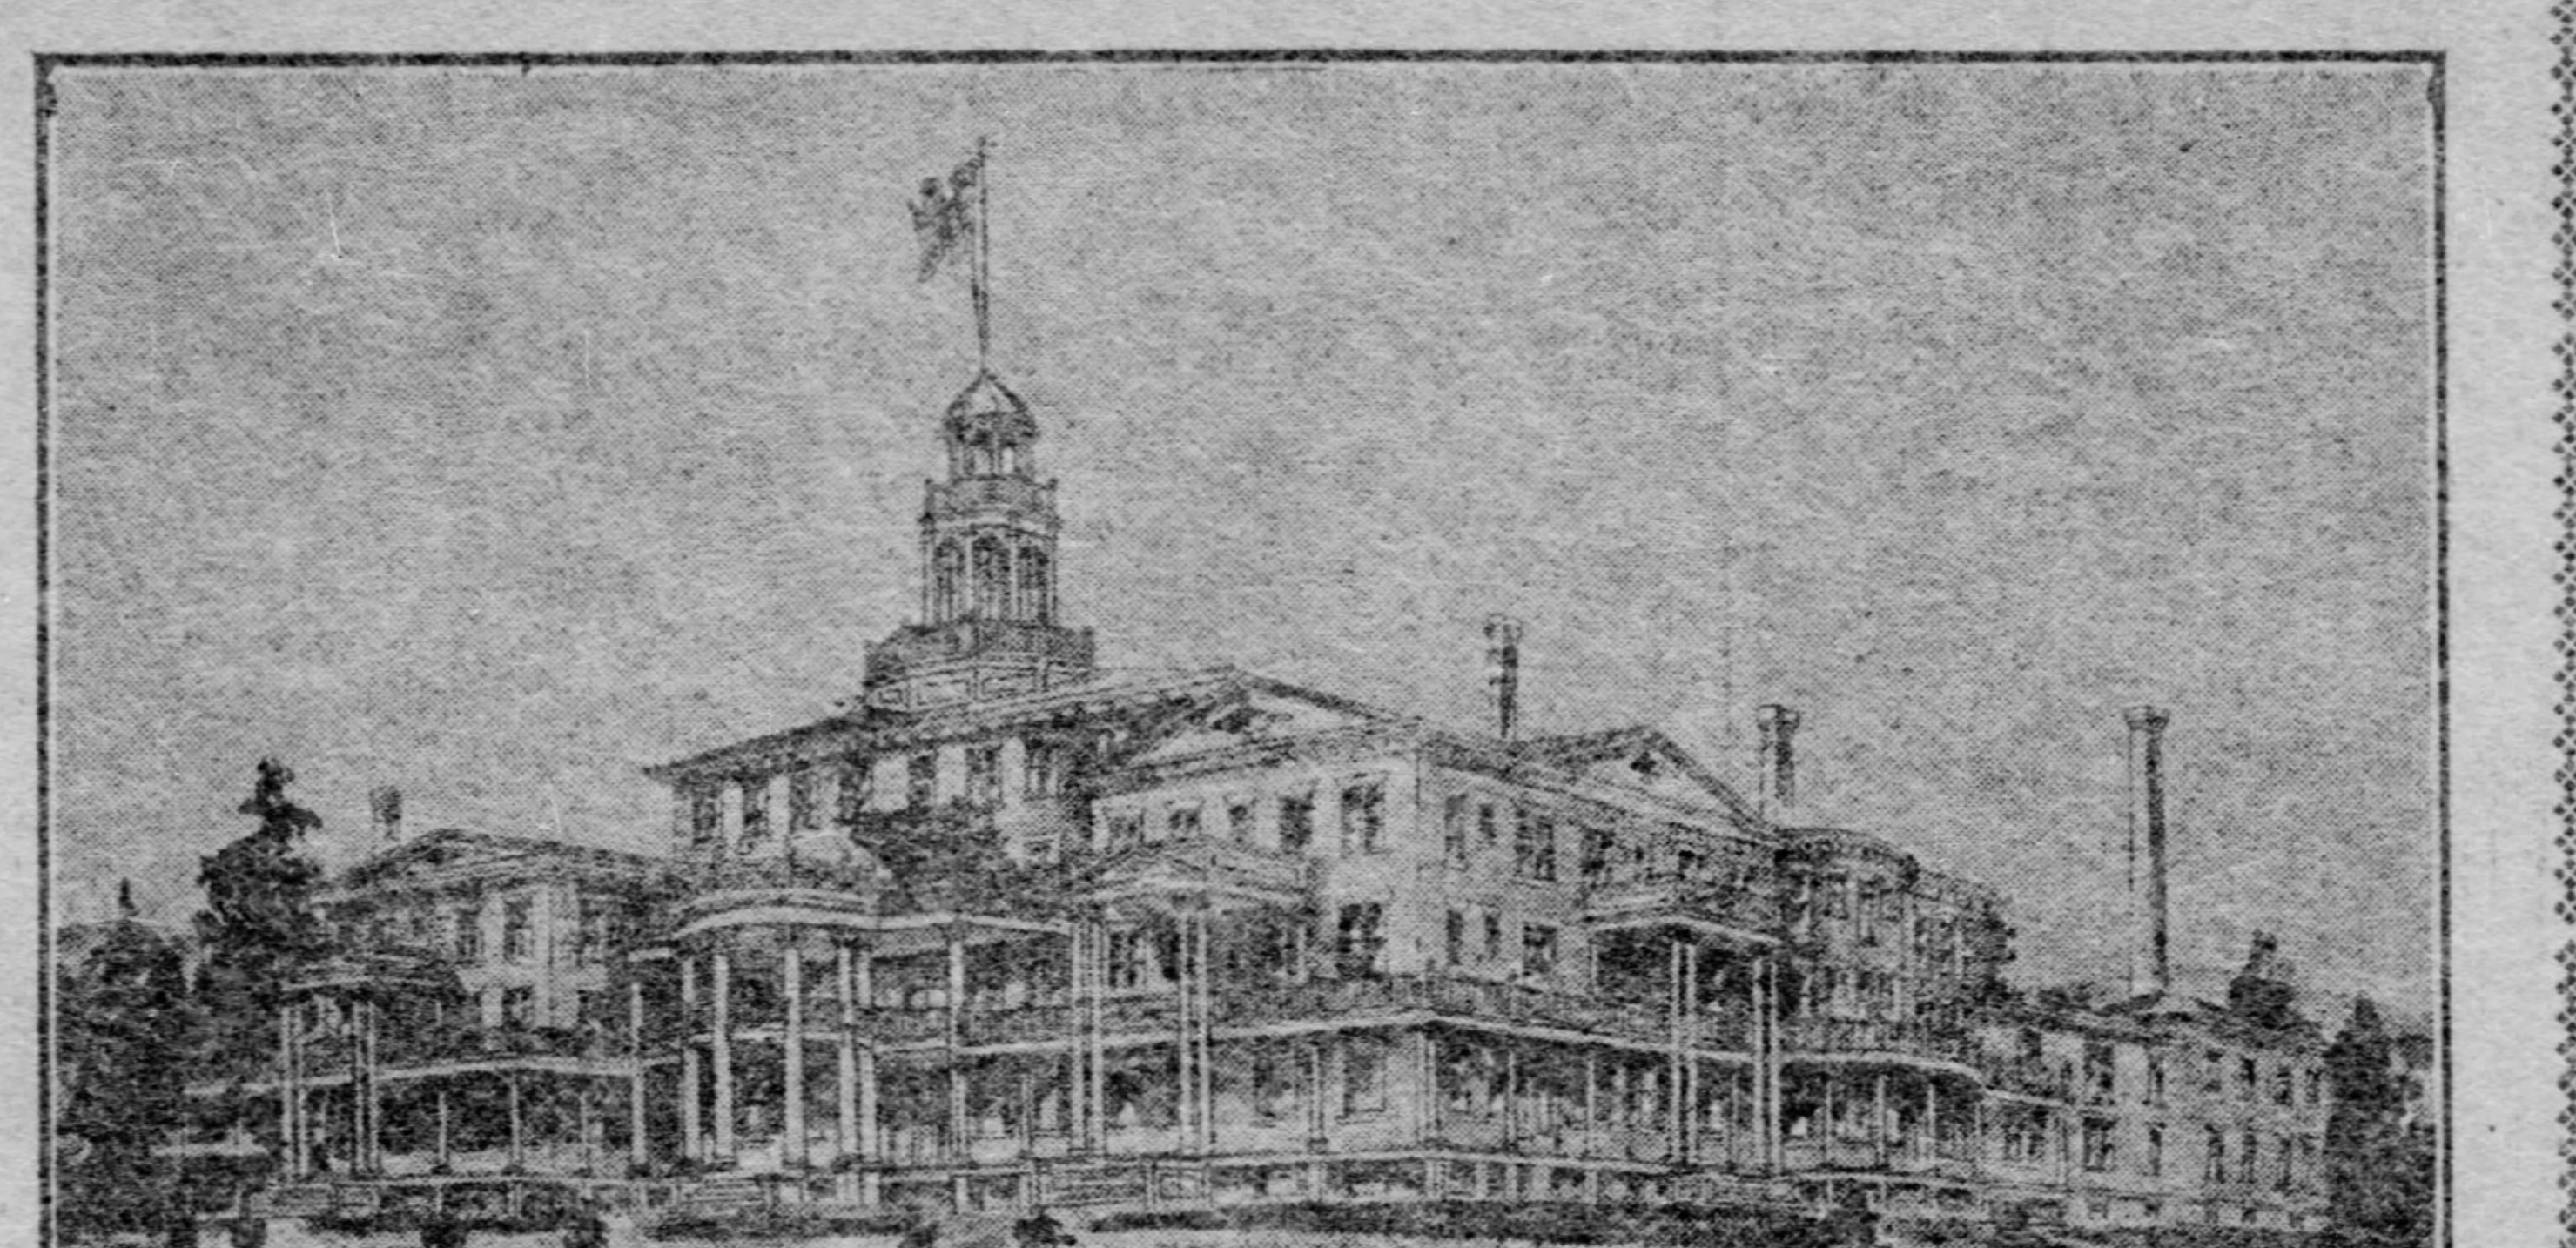
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Pittsburghers Are Making an Investment In a New $200,000 Hotel at Cambridge Springs



A company of Pittsburghers with a capital of $200,000 has been chartered to build a big hotel at Cambridge Springs, to be known as the New Highland hotel, and to be erected on the site of the Old Highland hostelry, which is to be moved back to the rear of a four-acre plot, the largest vacant plot in Cambridge Springs. This property is owned by Gotlieb Anger, treasurer of the new company. The other officers are F. Wilson Haus, president; Attorney E. C. Blackstone, secretary, and J. G. Hiller, vice president.

Plans for the hotel have been prepared by Architect T. Ed. Cornelius of this city, and it is expected that the building will be started before snow flies. The building, as shown in the illustration, will be a three-story structure 190 feet long in front and having two wings each 190 feet long. The walls will be of cement blocks and the building will be strictly fireproof. Provisions are made for 160 sleeping rooms, each with a private bath, a large rathskellar, a lobby 44x100 feet, double porches and a large laundry. A feature of the building will be a winter garden inclosed with glass.

MANY BRYAN DEMOCRATS ARE DESERTING PARKER

John P. St. John, Prohibitionist, Recites His Views on the National Campaign.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—"Bryan Democrats all over the country are deserting Parker. Mr. Bryan himself is suffering with lung trouble and has gone to the mountains. I do not see how his heart can be in this campaign. President Roosevelt will carry all of the central west while Parker will carry the south, New York, West Virginia and Maryland, with a fighting chance in New Jersey."

Thus spoke John P. St. John, former governor of Kansas and Prohibition nominee for the presidency in 1884.

"The outcome of the election in my judgment is very uncertain. Judge Herrick's nomination will help Parker and I should say the trend is toward him in the east. New York Bryan Democrats are flocking to the minor parties and an occasional one will vote for Roosevelt, but the Prohibition party will get the bulk of them.

"The greatest calamity that can befall the Democratic party is to win this election. A change of administration from Republican to Democratic cannot help conditions and conditions are ripe for financial disaster. If the Democrats win and disaster comes the party will be as good as dead for a generation. The Republicans may stave it off, but delaying it will only make matters worse."

WILL CARRY SIX PERSONS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

Robert Graves of No. 483 Fifth avenue has had delivered to him an automobile that has aroused keen curiosity. It is propelled, lighted and heated by electricity. For seven months Mr. Graves has been superintending the manufacture of the machine, and today he owns the most peculiar automobile probably in existence. No duplicate of it can be procured without the consent of Mr. Graves.

While no figures regarding its cost can be quoted, it is believed that the total outlay was not far from $15,000. It is the first automobile to be fitted with the new Edison batteries. It is steered and absolutely controlled from the rear seat. The new Edison batteries are 50 per cent more powerful than the old form and weigh considerably less.

The machine may be run for 60 miles without recharging the batteries, and the total weight of the automobile is only 3,000 pounds. It has a carrying capacity of six persons. FRANK A. PARKER.

ASK ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

Amalgamated Men Reported to Have Interested the Governor and Others.

All hope of settling the trouble at the hoop mills of the Carnegie Steel Company at Youngstown and Girard has not been abandoned by the Amalgamated association officials. They have asked for another conference, and are said to have interested Gov. Pennypacker, Senator Boies Penrose and Senator Charles Dick of Ohio in the matter. It is believed these politicians will be able to induce the company to grant another conference.

The men claim the company has shown there was no necessity for reducing the wage rate in the mills, but simply desired to bring on a battle and thus rid itself of the Amalgamated association.

The organization has several bitter fights on hand at the present time. In addition to the Carnegie company it is fighting the American Iron and Steel Company at Lebanon; the Tennessee Railroad, Coal and Iron Company, in Tennessee, and the Inland Steel Company, at Indiana Harbor.

P. R. R. DEFENDS ELEVATED RIGHTS

Denial Made of Allegation That Plaintiffs Are Predecessors in Title to Duquesne Way.

TO TEST FIRE ESCAPE LAW

The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday filed an answer to the suit of Richard M. Gulick and P. J. McNulty against the railroad and the city of Pittsburgh, to prevent the defendants from erecting an elevated structure in Duquesne way. It is denied that the plaintiffs are predecessors in title or ever had any right, title or interest in the land between the low and high water marks of the Allegheny river.

The defendant company also denies that the deeds of the United States referred to in the bill conveyed land to the Allegheny river's edge, it being alleged that the deed conveyed no land as described; and it is denied that the United States took possession of the land between the low water line of the river and the line of Duquesne way, or afterward continued in open possession for any period whatever; it is further denied that the land was conveyed to Charles McKnight; it is denied that the state or city ever recognized the ownership of the United States or its grantee; it is denied that the United States ever permitted any public right or easement, or any power of any portion of the premises referred to.

Use of the strip in dispute, so it is alleged, was not pursuant to any ownership. The defendant avers that by its charter it is authorized to build the road on the wharf and that the city is authorized to consent to the erection. It is alleged that the erection is legal and will in no sense interfere with the use of the wharf.

In common pleas court No. 3 before Judge J. M. Kennedy the suit of Clara Schmitt, by her mother, Clara Schmitt, against the Kelly & Jones Co., is on trial. The suit is a sequence to the fire in the Water street building of the defendants on May 11, 1903. Clara Schmitt, the younger, made a thrilling leap from a fourth-story window after the building seemed doomed and all avenues of escape cut off. Two other girls made the same leap with her. She was badly injured by the fall, but was in court yesterday and able to testify, although it is claimed her hearing has been impaired and that she is otherwise permanently injured.

The fire started on the second floor and spreading rapidly, quickly filled the building with smoke. It is alleged that the interior of the building was constructed of a highly combustible material and that it was not properly equipped with fire escapes. Damages in the sum of $25,000 are asked. Miss Schmitt is 16 years old and was employed in a spring factory in the building. Her interests are being looked after by Attorneys J. L. Ritchey and David S. McCann.

An appeal has been taken to the supreme court by the plaintiffs in the suit of Byers & Tucker against Amy H. Du Puy. The suit involves changes made to the Hamilton building, in which the plaintiffs were tenants and common pleas court decided in favor of the defendant.

When criminal court adjourned yesterday the case of T. Chalmers Johnston of this city was on trial. He is charged by Archibald MacGregor, representing Raymond & Whitcomb, tourist agents of Boston, Mass., with embezzling $2,082 37, while employed by the company. It is alleged that the defendant was employed as the Pittsburgh agent and that while working in that capacity collected the amount claimed to be embezzled and appropriated it to his own use.

Before Judge McClung Charles Russier, charged with a felony, was on trial and the case had not been finished at the time of adjournment. The defendant is charged by William F. Renniger with criminally assaulting Tillie Shields, a girl under 16 years of age, of East Pittsburgh.

Kate Langkamp was convicted of the larceny of a watch and $10 from Mrs. Elizabeth Sibbet at the Union station on September 1. She was sent to the workhouse for two years.

James Clark pleaded guilty to entering the grocery store of T. J. Quinlan, 540 Second avenue, on August 15, with felonious intent. He was not sentenced.

Judge Buffington in the United States circuit court handed down an opinion in the case of George Mercer, Jr., and his wife, Helen B. Mercer, against James I. Buchanan, et al. The bill in equity was filed by Mrs. Mercer, the second life tenant in a deed of trust dated January 16, 1900, against the trustees named. The plaintiff's mother, Mrs. Kate Bingham, deceased, was the maker of the deed, and the first life tenant.

The deed conveyed a large amount of stock to Mrs. Mercer and stipulated that the trustees pay her a quarterly income after the death of Mrs. Bingham, which occurred April 7, 1900. Dividends were declared on the stock in trust and Mrs. Mercer sued to recover these dividends, which the trustees claimed were to be added to the amount in trust. The court upholds the claim of the trustees and in conclusion says: "After careful consideration of the facts, we are of the opinion that the complainant has not met the burden resting upon her, of showing that these dividends were income, and has not shown as such that she is entitled to take them out of the trust. The question of costs we will dispose of when the decree is submitted."

Judge Hawkins, in an opinion in the estate of Dr. E. S. Warner, deceased, dismissed the exceptions to the adjudication of the audit in a litigation involving an ante-nuptial contract. In the decree the court allowed the widow a one-third interest. Exceptions were filed by the decedent's sons to the decree, which the court now dismisses. Her share of the personal property amounts to $6,000, together with considerable real estate.

Charles W. Grant entered suit against Police Officer John Dillon, asking damages for alleged false arrest and for being charged a suspicious person on the docket. The sitting magistrate discharged the plaintiff.

Judge Collier refused a new trial in the case of Andrew A. Dinan against the supreme council of the National Beneficial association, in which a verdict for the defendant was rendered.

Maud McWilliams, who, about two years ago, filed a bill in equity against the Jones & Laughlin Company to abate the ore dust nuisance, asked the court to reinstate her case. When the court decided the case of E. R. Sullivan in favor of the defendants, her bill was dismissed, but since the supreme court has awarded the injunction, she wants a similar decision in her case.

Judge Marshall Brown has filed an opinion in the equity suit of Phebe M. Bunting against the Equitable Trust Company. He decrees that a note and power of attorney, alleged to have been executed by her and in the possession of the defendant, be declared forgeries and cancelled, in so far as they affect her rights, and that her certificate for 10 shares of the Iron City National bank stock, with the note and power of attorney, be delivered to her.

The decree has been made in the case of H. P. Dilworth against F. F. Nicola. The defendant is ordered to make within 10 days an assignment to Dilworth of the one-tenth interest in any agreement Nicola has with H. C. Frick, and of profits or proceeds of same.

F. O. Harley, a stockholder and manager of the Lincoln Avenue pharmacy, has filed exceptions to the account of the liquidating trustees of that firm. Among other things he alleges the inventory and appraisement of the stock was inadequate and that the trustees were without authority to conduct the business without charging any losses incurred to themselves.

The city of Allegheny has entered suit against John A. Crawford to recover $1,500 alleged to be due as rental on a 300-foot portion of the Allegheny wharf. It is alleged the contract was entered into in March, 1903, for a period of two years, and that he has failed to make the quarterly payments as they fell due.

The inventory and appraisement of the personal estate of the late John R. P. Bell shows a total valuation of $27,731.

In the United States district court Philip Frank and Lewis Simon, partners in the firm of Frank & Simon of Monessen, filed a petition in bankruptcy. In the individual petitions, Simon gives his liabilities as $101 12, with assets of $355, while Frank has no debts, and assets of $15.

In the divorce suit of Philip Steuler against Anna C. Steuler, the wife has filed answer denying that a previous marriage was the cause of their separation. She denies that she violated any of the state laws in marrying Steuler.

WILL FIGHT FOR BYERS.

Former District Attorney Haymaker Says the State Must Commute His Sentence.

The recommendation of the board of pardons in the case commuting the death sentence of G. W. Byers to life imprisonment, has been withdrawn by that body upon the grounds that the record is incomplete, but it is said Gov. Pennypacker declined to approve the recommendation.

Byers killed August Layton, with whose wife he was infatuated, near Turtle Creek, and after confessing his deed implicated the woman, but she was acquitted because of the nature of the testimony, Byers telling such a revolting story of his act, and being the only witness of the woman's actions, that the jury believed there was a reasonable doubt of her guilt.

District Attorney Haymaker, who understood the case thoroughly, assisted Byers to get a commutation, and still insists that it will be a crime against the state if his life is not spared, because of the danger of not securing convictions in the future. He does not favor Byers, but the commonwealth, and cannot see how the state can, with propriety or reason, hang the man after he has turned state's evidence, even though his crime was such that a jury acquitted the woman he implicated as an accomplice. He says he will insist on the state's gratitude in this matter, and will continue to fight for Byers' life without any hope of recompense to himself other than what he believes to be the right and proper thing under all the circumstances involved in this case.

Grand Jury Returns.

The following true bills were returned by the grand jury yesterday: Robbery, Edward O'Brien et al.; felony, David Maxwell; felonious assault and battery, Jesse Clare; aggravated assault and battery, William Chibulski, Adam Tonchikns, Lydia Simmons; assault and battery, Edward J. SOCIETY

AN UNUSUALLY smart wedding, with exquisite decorations, a handsome bridal party—the maids wearing bewitching frocks of the 1830 period—and a church full of guests occurred last evening in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church. It was the marriage of Miss Alice Robinson Maple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Maple, and James Morley Hitzrot of New York. As the organist played the opening bars of the Lohengrin wedding march the bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Entwistle of Johnstown, Miss Lydia Williams of Ogontz, Miss Estella McCallam, Miss Lou Childs McLain, Miss Jessie Clarke and Miss Marguerite Maple, entered the church from the left of the pulpit and, marching to the rear of the church were met by the ushers, Caleb Wright of Philadelphia, Dr. Karl Connell of New York, Dr. Warfield Longcope of Baltimore, and Dr. Edward Graver, Albert Graver and Harvey Thompson, all of this city, who preceded them down the right aisle to the front. The maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Maple, coming from a room at the rear, was followed by the bride on the arm of her father, and all were met at the pulpit by the bridegroom and his best man, Robert Garrett of Baltimore, a Princeton classmate of Dr. Hitzrot.

The gowns of the bride and her attendant maids were effective and beautiful. The bridal robe was an exquisite creation of white crepe silencieux, the bodice trimmed in stole effect with duchesse lace over a shirred yoke. The sleeves were shirred their full length and the skirt had a shirred yoke, the folds falling into the full court train, and over all hung, mist-like, the long tulle veil fastened with a Prince of Wales plume. Clasped in one arm was a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies. The gowns of the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were alike, with the single exception that Miss Maple's gown of cream taffeta had a heavy lace yoke, while the others were made of white net over low-necked slips of pale blue silk, the net forming the yoke. Fishues of pinked taffeta, with tabs both front and back, were fastened at the waist with girdles of Persian ribbon, and around the short skirts, which scarcely touched the floor, were arranged three rows of ruching. The maid of honor carried American Beauty roses tied with white chiffon, and the bridesmaids carried white asters.

The church decorations served to set off the gowns, and yet were not elaborate. A feature of the decorations was the large, round pink-shaded light set in the midst of the clustering palms. At each side of the pulpit was a wicker standard filled with Annunciation lilies. Each room at the home, where a reception was conducted, had its special color scheme. The parlor, where the bridal couple received, was done in white roses and palms, laurel being arranged over the doors and in the hall. Pink roses and asters were in the dining room and American Beauty roses in the library. The bridal table was placed in a room on the second floor and had a centerpiece of white roses. The places were marked by blue satin ribbons, to each of which was attached a water-colored sketch surrounded by a frame of raised gold work.

After the wedding supper Dr. Hitzrot and his bride left for a wedding journey through New England. They will make their home in New York city. The bridegroom, in addition to his medical and surgical practice in the metropolis, holds a position as instructor in Cornell university.

Among the guests at the wedding were the members of the bride's Sunday school class in the Second Presbyterian church, who sat in a space at the rear of the church marked off for them with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Warwick's Dinner.

The dinner given last evening by Mrs. Warrington Warwick of Castleman street was altogether a most delightful although informal affair. It was given for Mrs. Warwick's son, John G. Warwick, who, with his uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. A. Per Lee Pease of Massillon, O., will sail from San Francisco on October 13 for a year's trip around the world. Covers were also laid for Mrs. Eleanor Davo Stewart, Charles Graham and Marquis Bosco, all of Rome, Italy, who are visiting friends in the city; Mr. and Mrs. Verner Scaife, Miss Eleanor McCallam, Miss Julia Harding and Mrs. John Slack. The decorations were of pink roses.

Mrs. Pease is expected in the city on Monday, and, with her nephew, will leave in a few days for St. Louis, where they will be joined by Dr. Pease. During their trip they expect to visit Japan, China, India, possibly the Philippines, the Arroo islands, Ceylon, Siam and the other countries more frequently visited by American travelers. They expect to call at the American legation in Japan and in Rome next May will meet Mrs. C. L. Magee and Mrs. Walter McClintock, who are now at the Italian lakes. Mrs. Stewart will return to Rome in November.

Steinaker-DeLynn.

Miss May Isabel Steinaker and Roman Herbert DeLynn were married last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Bertha Steinaker, in Black street, East End, with the Rev. J. Leonard Levy as officiant. Miss Minnie Steinaker, a sister of the bride, and Moses DeLynn, a brother of the bridegroom, were the only attendants. The bride was gowned in white French lawn and valenciennes lace and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor wore a gown of embroidered lawn. An informal reception followed the ceremony, the mothers of the bride and the bridegroom receiving with them. The house was simply decorated with palms, ferns and white carnations, these flowers forming the centerpieces on the two large supper tables. Among the out-of-town guests were the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. H. DeLynn, of Morgantown, W. Va. After a wedding trip to Cleveland and other western cities Mr. and Mrs. DeLynn will be at home in Black street, having announced at-home days after October 1.

Wible-Keller.

At Alta Vista, Shaler township, the home of the bride's parents, the wedding of Miss Grace Garfield Wible, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wible, and J. Wesley Keller took place last evening at 7 o'clock. The wedding was a prettily appointed affair, with a color scheme of pink and green. The Rev. Dr. T. M. Thompson of Sharpsburg, a cousin of the bride, was the officiant, and the attendants included Miss Pearl McCleary of Allegheny as maid of honor, Charles Keller, a brother of the groom, as best man, and Wilson J. Wible and Clarence B. Wible as ushers.

The bride wore a pretty gown of soft white silk and carried white bridal roses, while the maid of honor was gowned in white net over green silk and carried pink roses. The parlor was decorated with ferns and other greens. A reception and supper immediately followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Keller departed for an eastern trip.

Williams-Harris.

A marriage of interest in the Monongahela valley was solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Williams, in Duquesne. The bride was their daughter, Miss Annie F. Williams, and the bridegroom was Arthur E. Harris of Braddock. The Rev. William G. Reagle, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Braddock, was the officiating minister.

The bridal gown was of white silk with trimmings of French lace. Miss Annie Bowers of Oakland, this city, was bridesmaid, and she also wore white. The flower girls were little sisters of the bride, Mamie and Miss Ida Williams. The best man was Frank B. Miller of Oakland. Mr. and Mrs. Harris left for an extended wedding trip west and will be at home after October 1 in Frazier street.

Pittsburghers at Lock Haven Wedding.

Miss Elizabeth Hudson of Walnut street, East End, left the city last Tuesday and is now in Lock Haven, where she will attend the wedding of her brother, Harold W. Hudson, and Miss Sarah Hepburn Harvey, next Tuesday. The bridegroom, with his best man, Albert H. Hudson, will go to Lock Haven on Saturday and on Monday they will be followed by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hudson. After the wedding Mr. Hudson and his bride will spend a short time in the east and will visit in Pittsburgh with Mr. and Mrs. Hudson before going to Harrisburg to make their home.

Returned from Wedding Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Coyle, Jr., returned from their wedding trip last Saturday. They are with M. and Mrs. Reed B. Coyle, Bellefield avenue and Bayard street, where they will be a thome to their friends after October 13. They expect to visit the Louisiana Purchase exposition early next month. Mrs. Coyle will be remembered as Miss Elizabeth V. Dauler, her marriage having taken place very quietly in Erie a few weeks ago. She is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Dauler of Amberson avenue.

The Sorgs in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arthur Sorg, a bride and bridegroom of last summer, are at the Hotel Schenley for a few days. They arrived in the city on Wednesday evening and will remain until Sunday, when they go to New York, expecting to make their home in the metropolis this winter. REPUBLICANS ARE UNITED IN INDIANA

Two Widely Separated Factions of Democracy Insures the State for Roosevelt.

FAIRBANKS ADDS STRENGTH

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22.

William Dudley Foulke, formerly civil service commissioner, and a Republican orator of note, is here after making a careful survey of the political situation in Indiana, his home state, and says that Roosevelt will carry that state without a doubt. Furthermore, he says that the Quakers of the Hoosier state are not alarmed by the "big stick" stories, and will not be stampeded away from the Republican party. Mr. Foulke spent the summer abroad and returned to this country in August. Since landing he has devoted his time to a study of the Indiana situation, and he is well satisfied with it. Said he:

"I cannot see how there is any doubt in regard to the vote in Indiana. I do not know of a single Republican in Indiana who is disaffected and who proposes to bolt the ticket or to refrain from voting. I have talked with many Republicans there, and they have told me that they do not know of a single instance of that kind. On the other hand, I have heard of many instances of Democrats who will vote for Roosevelt. It is true there are some Gold Democrats who are going to vote for Parker, but not all of the Gold Democrats will vote for him by any means.

Bryanites Will Not Vote.

"There are a good many Bryan Democrats who will not vote at all. They are dissatisfied at the abandonment by the party of the things for which they stood four and eight years ago. I understand that the Democrats are going to have Bryan go to Indiana to straighten these men out, but Mr. Bryan will not be able to do that entirely. Mr. Bryan's tour of Indiana will lose for the Democratic ticket a good many votes of Gold Democrats, who, without his visit there, might have voted the Democratic ticket.

"In Indiana the two wings of the Democratic party are still wide apart, and they cannot be got together, because they are separated by principles which both factions consider to be vital. There is no amount of political manipulation that can restore complete harmony between the two factions of the Democratic party in Indiana.

"While this situation confronts the Democrats, the Republicans in that state are, so far as I could see, an absolute unit. There is no disaffection or faint-heartedness among them. The only possible danger I can detect for the Republicans in Indiana is from over-confidence, for they are certainly absolutely confident of success.

Taggart Is Only a Jollier.

"I do not know enough about Mr. Taggart's personal influence to predict how much effect it will have. Mr. Taggart is a good handshaker and a happy jollier, but I am not aware that he exercises any great personal influence. He has not, I feel sure, enough personal influence to make oil and water mix, and that is exactly what will be required of him if he should undertake to bring the two hostile factions of the Democracy of Indiana together."

"What did you learn about the alleged hostility of the Quakers of Indiana toward Mr. Roosevelt?"

Mr. Foulke was himself reared within the Quaker fold; his father being a Quaker minister.

"That is all stuff," he replied. "The Quakers did not object to Mr. Roosevelt four years ago and they will not do it now. I am a Quaker myself, and I do not intend to oppose him. I know of no Republican who is a Quaker opposing the president."

Mr. Foulke regarded the influence of Senator Fairbanks as very important in strengthening the Republican ticket in Indiana. Mr. Foulke will next week speak in New Jersey, and from that time he will probably be kept busy in campaign work without interruption until election day.

OLDEST NAVAL VETERAN PASSES CENTURY MARK

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—William Maccabee, a retired naval veteran, quietly celebrated his 101st birthday today at the Naval home. He is the oldest veteran in the United States navy. In 1817 he joined the navy as an apprentice on the frigate Constitution. During the civil war he served on the Congress, taking part in the memorable battle between the Congress and Merrimac.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Former Principal Welcomed.

Miss Anna Henderson, for many years principal of the Pittsburgh School of Design for Women, was the guest of honor at a meeting of the Alumnae association of the school held yesterday afternoon. Miss Henderson has been in Pittsburgh for the last three weeks and several small informal affairs have been given for her, but the meeting and reception yesterday was the first occasion on which she has met her former pupils together.

The meeting was not altogether for business and soon resolved itself into more of a social gathering when old school days were discussed. The future of the Alumnae association was discussed earnestly and another meeting will be called in a few days.

The alumnae were received yesterday by Miss Henderson and Martin B. Leisser, who succeeded Miss Henderson as principal of the school, a position he held until the school, because of improvements and the enlargement of the work of the Young Men's Christian association, in whose building the School of Design had its home for many years, was forced to find another home. Overtures for the union of the Pennsylvania College for Women and the School of Design have been under consideration for some time. The trustees of the college have appropriated $500 for the extension of the department and more space has been allotted for its work, the appropriation also including the cost of a lantern to be used in this department.

The officers of the Alumnae association are Mrs. H. L. Swaney of Monongahela City, president; Miss Minnie Darlington, vice president; Miss Haymaker, secretary, and Miss Minnie Stevenson, treasurer. Among the members are Miss Elizabeth Robb, Mrs. Alfred Pettit, Mrs. William C. Moreland, Mrs. W. A. W. Duff, Mrs. Adam Wilson, Mrs. J. Jarvey Wattles, Miss Grace Alter, Miss Anna McKee, Miss Lide Gray, Miss Anna Gray and Miss Frances McCreery.

May Entertain National Officers.

An invitation was extended last night to the officers of the National Women's Suffrage association to stop in Pittsburgh on their way to Warren, O., next week. Should they accept they will be the guests of the Equal Rights Association of Allegheny County at a public reception given in their honor. A conference of the national officers will be held in Warren on September 27. They include the Rev. Anna Shaw, president; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, vice president; Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, treasurer, and Miss Gordon, secretary, with possibly Miss Susan B. Anthony, the honorary president.

A committee was appointed at a meeting of the Equal Rights association yesterday to arrange for the reception should the invitation be accepted, the committee consisting of Mrs. A. S. Martin, Mrs. Margaret Negley, Mrs. Amanda Jones, Mrs. J. Ludwig Koethen, Jr., and Mrs. Stright.

Yesterday's meeting was conducted in the assembly room of the Central Young Women's Christian association. Arrangements were made to hold a debate on the suffrage question in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, at some time in the near future, the debate to be carried on by Attorney Stevenson in the affirmative and Attorney Kidney in the negative. The committee appointed to plan for this includes Mrs. Gormley, Mrs. Margaret Negley, A. S. Martin and Mrs. J. L. Koethen, Jr.

Mrs. Amanda Jones was elected a delegate to the annual meeting of the state association in Philadelphia about November 10, Mrs. Minora Phyllis being her alternate.

Tea Cup Outing.

The members of the Tea Cup club will go to Monongahela today to be the guests of Mrs. H. L. Swaney, the president of the Alumnae association of the Pittsburgh School of Design. The outing is planned especially in honor of Miss Anna Henderson, who is visiting Miss Lide Gray and Miss Anna Gray at their home in the East End. Miss Henderson, who has been in Pittsburgh about three weeks, expects to return to her home in Chicago next week. The Tea Cup club is composed of her former pupils in the school.

Carnegie Club's Round Table Meeting.

The Carnegie Round Table of Braddock will hold its first meeting of the season October 11 in the Carnegie Free Library building, Braddock. The officers and executive committee will meet next Monday evening a tthe office of Libarian George H. Lamb. Preparations will then be made for the winter sessions. At the first meeting a paper will be read by Prof. E. F. Loucks, principal of the North Braddock High school, on the "Russo-Japanese War" and another by Attorney George Weil on "The World's Outlook."

UNION PACIFIC REPORTS CAUSE MANY MISGIVINGS

New York Stock Market Sinks to Lower Level Despite the Activity of the Harriman Issues. Crop Influence Is Good.

Speculative misgivings obtained the upper hand yesterday in the east and carried prices to a lower level. The rate of activity of the trading was much curtailed in spite of the inordinate activity of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, especially in the earlier part of the day.

The misgivings were not due to any actual conditions of affairs, regarding which the day's news was rather favorable than otherwise, but bore on the doubtful status of some of the rumors lately prevalent and which had been made the basis of operations in the market. This was especially true of those bearing on Union Pacific, which have attained such number and variety as to offer their own refutation by their inconsistency, one with another. The result was to increase the suspicion felt toward them. The one most prominently advanced this morning was that dividends on the new Southern Pacific preferred stock are to be promptly inaugurated and are soon to be followed by a distribution on the common stock. This would be of equal benefit to Union Pacific with the expected distribution on Northern Securities, which was used to lift the stock Wednesday.

As long as Union Pacific advances the rumors seem to be given a certain amount of credence, at least by the intimidated shorts in the stock. This strengthens the suspicion that the campaign is primarily designed for the discomfiture of the shorts. But when Union Pacific yesterday began to run off in face of Southern Pacific's one-point advance, the conclusion immediately suggested itself that the actual conditions in the stocks must be out of joint with the rumors, and doubts and caution ensued. There was a report, which was not relished by the bulls, that several hundred thousand shares of stocks are now afloat from London for delivery in New York. It is customary for foreigners to sell their holdings in New York on orders by cable while their brokers here borrow them for delivery until the arrival of the actual certificates, thus adding to the borrowing demand for stocks. Some part of the recent appearance of a large short interest in the market would thus be implied to be fictitious. This report also serves to discredit recent reports of buying here for London account and to point to a New York origin for such buying orders.

The influence of the crop news was not against stocks. A favorable influence was caused by the Price Current's estimate of 2,300,000 bushels of corn assured and 90 per cent of the crop beyond the reach of damage. The warmer weather in the corn belt was a relief to apprehension of frost damage, but the reports of rain were received with disappointment owing to the need of warmth to hasten the ripening of the grain.

Money was reported a trifle easier, although quotations were not perceptibly altered. The lighter speculation in stocks has lessened the demand for loans. The sub-treasury is also taking less from the market than last week owing to the monthly high tide in the disbursement for pensions. Sterling exchange also continued to decline.

The existence of appeals from two parties among the stockholders for proxies for the annual meeting probably accounted for the sudden demand developed later in the day for Ontario & Western. Slight effect was produced elsewhere and was lost again before the closing, which was easy.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,790,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Two "curb" sales of stocks attracted much attention on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday. These were Pittsburgh Oil and Gas at 62 and Union Natural Gas at 91. Another feature of interest was the first sale of American Window Glass preferred since last March. At that time the price was 40. The chairman of the exchange sold 20 shares "for the account of whom it may concern" at 35, and then there was another transaction involving 100 shares, also at 35.

Outside of these sales the local market was without much interest yesterday. The total dealings amounted to only 1,885 shares of stock, $9,000 bonds and $17.50 Pittsburgh Coal scrip dividend. Brewing common lost ¼ and Consolidated Ice preferred advanced the same fraction. Crucible preferred was ¼ lower, closing at 38¾. Luster Mining, on sales of considerable size, lost ¼, closing at 14. Manufacturers Light and Heat maintained its strength of the past few days and closed at 37⅛, an advance of ⅝. Monongahela Water was one point higher at 37 on a small scale and Ohio Fuel showed an advance, like the other natural gas stocks. River Coal preferred lost ¾, closing at 21.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The long-expected statement by the directorate of the Crucible Steel Company through William G. Park, chairman, was given to the press last evening and will reach stockholders this morning. The part of it that will attract most attention is the following:

"The effect of the losses incurred in the Clairton enterprise was to increase the floating indebtedness of your company. This debt was temporarily provided for by the issue by your company of $5,000,000 of short-time collateral trust bonds, heretofore referred to. This floating debt, including the bonds sold, bears interest at the rate of 6 per cent (6), and the bonds mature in three and five years from the date of issue. It is deemed advisable to fund this debt by an issue of bonds of $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent to be secured by a first mortgage upon all the property of your company. The bonds to be issued in series, one of which shall mature (after five years) annually during 20 years. At the annual meeting to be held October 19, 1904, the management will ask the stockholders to authorize the issue of these bonds by your board of directors at such time as it may deem expedient."

Another paragraph of interest is this:

"Notwithstanding the losses to which the Clairton enterprise has subjected your company it is in good financial condition. The additions and improvements made to your plants will offset in value those which were sold and abandoned, and out of the quick assets of your company all its debts, including the $5,000,000 collateral trust bonds, could be paid, leaving a large balance and all your plants free of encumbrance."

The Washington National bank has issued invitations for an inspection of its new banking room in the Washington National Bank building at Fifth avenue and Washington street, on the opening day, September 28. The bank has equipped its new home in the most modern style and claims that it has complete appointments for the transaction of a banking business.

The new financial plan of the Ontario & Western, which is to be submitted to stockholders shortly, is said to include one of these alternative propositions:

1. To issue $30,000,000 general mortgage 4 per cent bonds, reserving $20,000,000 in the treasury to retire outstanding bonds aggregating $19,000,000, with $1,000,000 authorized but not issued.

2. To capitalize its investments in stocks and bonds of other companies, aggregating $12,814,602, and to make the issue a 4 per cent collateral bond with second mortgage rights on the railroad's property.

The management of the Ontario & Western railroad holds proxies for 381,198 shares of a total of 580,000 shares to be voted at the annual meeting. This assures the present management the control of the company. The annual meeting will be held next Wednesday.

Higher prices were noticed yesterday on the various fuel gas issues, which was ascribed mainly to the arrival of the time of the year when the use of gas for heating becomes large. Whether it was because of the increase in the size of the blanket brigade or for other reasons, there were advances in the gas securities. Union Natural Gas and Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, which are not listed, were in demand at 91 for the former and 62 for the latter, both prices being notable increases over the last sales. Manufacturers Light and Heat at 37⅛ and Ohio Fuel at 38⅝ each showed advances of ⅝.

The following comparative figures have just been compiled to show steel prices at this time for three years:

	Now.	Au. 17.	Sep.16. 1903.	Sep.10. 1902.
Bes. pig, Pgh., tons.	$12 60	$12 85	$17 35	$21 75
Bes. bill. Pgh., ton..	19 50	23 00	27 00	29 00
S. rails, Pgh., ton.	28 00	28 00	28 00	28 00
S. bars, P., 100-lbs.	1 30	1 35	1 60	1 60
Iron bars, P. 100-lbs	1 25	1 30	1 60	1 80

Corn acted contrary to the news during the greater part of the forenoon yesterday, ruling firm at a fractional loss on the bullish attitude of the pit crowd. Weather conditions are such as to relieve all anxiety as to temperatures and frost damage, and the indications are for decidedly higher temperatures throughout the belt. Country advices are more and more optimistic regarding the outlook. The Price Current estimates the total yield at 2,300,000,000 bushels and 90 per cent of the crop safe from frost. The Union Pacific and the Burlington both figure the Nebraska crop at approximately 211,000,000 bushels, which compares with 172,000,000 last season.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Since the discovery of America, in 1492, the gold production of the world has amounted to $10,624,712,900. The present stock aggregates $5,382,800,000, so that $5,000,000,000 is unaccounted for, though it may safely be said that half has gone into the arts, the balance hidden and lost.

The gold production from 1492 to 1850 was $3,158,193,000; from 1850 to date, $7,466,519,900, and of the amount mined since 1850 37 per cent was produced from 1891 to 1902. The production for 1903 was the largest on record, with the chances in favor of an increase in 1904 over 1903.

The magnetic system of ore concentration is, as we predicted some years ago, says the Mining Reporter, proving itself capable of solving many problems that the old gravity processes could not touch. At the same time no one believes that the magnetic process has other than a limited application. There can be no question, however, but that the magnetic method is receiving a more and more respectful attention from mine-owners with difficult ores to test.

Among the important moves of the past week was the cutting of the Robinson vein at the 1,000-foot level of the Dalzell shaft at Robinson, near Breckinridge, Col., whence a drift was run south. The contact is now being prospected, and Manger Shepard expects to open a big ore body any day.

A strike of tellurium ore was made Monday on the Benson claim in the McCollough gulch on the Wachter lease, at Breckinridge. The pay streak is about 18 inches wide and shows also pyrites and gray copper.

Lessees Russell and Sharpe, who are operating a block of the Colorado Boss property on Gold hill, have shipped about 10 carloads of ore so far this month that will return values of from two to three ounces. The ore was mined at a depth of 350 feet, where immense ore bodies exist. The lessees commenced Friday to sink the shaft another 100 feet, so that when completed they will have a large amount of stoping ground.

Among the many promising properties being developed in Chaffee county, Col., one that will probably become a source of profit in the near future is the Stockman group of 10 claims, located two miles south of Salida, in the Cleoro district, and owned by Otto Taubert & Son, A. Taubert, both of St. Paul, Minn.

Work has been resumed on the breast of the McClelland tunnel at Idaho Springs, Col., after a number of weeks spent in endeavoring to get through a heavy flow of water and muck which was encountered in a big soft vein. This was successfully taken up and the heading, which is now in 3,320 feet, will be driven on to cut the great Freeland vein, which will be reached within 1,700 feet of driving.

Gypsum to the value of $467,597 was imported into the United States during 1903. It came chiefly from Nova Scotia and entered the ports of the New England northern Atlantic states. A considerable amount has been received at San Francisco from Mexico in previous years, but none was imported there in 1902 and 1903. The United States is the second country in the world in the production of gypsum, yielding precedence only to France. Canada is third, Great Britain fourth and Germany fifth.

TRADING CURTAILED IN THE STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says:

There was a decided flattening out of the stock market yesterday. The volume of business was further curtailed and poorly distributed. Prices were irregular, but a well-defined reactionary tendency developed before the close, which the concentration of buying in a few special issues was unable to check. The market, in fact, was described as "wobbly," and brokers and professional traders alike looked with suspicion on the movements, which were made to stimulate the speculation. Speculation sentiment was much mixed, but was apparently preponderantly bearish. Professionals, as a rule, were much chagrined over the petering out of the Union Pacific movement, the reported competitive buying in which they regarded as a hoax—a sorry one for the short interest in the stock.

News developments were of a generally unimportant character and of mixed variety. The most important development of the day, the violent break in sterling exchange reviving discussion of possible gold imports, was certainly favorable, but it was apparently void of market influence. Weather advices were better, but crop reports were widely contradictory and highly favorable reports were mixed to cheek by jowl with most pessimistic opinions on the harvest outcome. As a result of these wheat advanced, while corn declined, but the movement in cereals was irregular at best. Railway traffic reports were of mixed character, but of a generally unimportant nature. The market appeared to be entirely uninfluenced by any of the news developments.

The Mercantile Trust Company gives notice to holders of its interim certificates representing first and second mortgage bonds of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, that the bonds mentioned and common stock of the Wabash Railroad Company will be ready for distribution to the holders of these certificates at its office on and after October 3.

INCREASE OF PRODUCTION IN THE COKE REGION

Chief Gain in Shipments During the Week Was to Points West of Pittsburgh.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, Sept. 22.—The production of the Connellsville region was increased 11,600 tons last week. Of the 23,300 ovens in the region but 5,600 are idle. There has been some shortage of water, but no plants have been compelled to close. The Rainey ovens are going in blast. All the Cockran ovens are turning out coke, and a large majority of the Hecla Coke Company's ovens are working. The Frick Company will within a few weeks have all their available ovens making coke, if the demand of the United States Steel Corporation for coke keeps up the present pace. Of 11,600 ovens they have in blast 8,700. The report for the region for the week ending Saturday, September 17, shows a total of 23,330 ovens, with 17,657 active and 5,673 idle. The estimated production was 209,791 tons, compared with 194,761 tons the previous week. The active oven list gained 847 ovens.

The shipments last week aggregated 11,079 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh, 3,682 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 6,021 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 1,376 cars. The chief gain was to points west of Pittsburgh. To points east of Connellsville and the Pittsburgh shipments about held their own. In the lower Connellsville region there are 6,083 ovens, of which 4,985 were active. The tonnage was 60,470, compared with 58,200 the week before.

Consuls were dull and home rails suffered from profit-taking and disappointing earnings. Americans opened firm, in response to yesterday's closing tone in New York, but after some hardening sagged to below parity and closed weak.

Japanese and Russian securities weakened. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 96¼. Rhodesians eased on a new issue of $5,000,000 in ordinary shares. Consols for money, 88¼; consols for account, 88 5-16. Money, 1¼@1½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2 5-16 per cent. Newman Hasn't Resigned.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 22.—President W. H. Newman of the New York Central road, in a telegram to a local paper today, denied the report published here that he had resigned. Mr. Newman added that he had no intention of taking such a step.

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 22.—The stage of the river at 6 o'clock this evening marked 4.2 feet and falling. Weather clear and pleasant, cool. The local packets were in and out on schedule. The river is falling very fast here considering the stage. There is no relief in sight and many of the rivermen are of the opinion that the stream will fall at least a foot more before the autumn rises come from above. The channel of Crawfish bar has deepened and been cut within the last few days. This was shown when the Island Queen was taken from the Broadway wharf today to Coney island. The boat, which draws more than four feet of water, passed over the bar without touching or scraping. The craft was taken up there for a repairing preparatory to her being sent to southern waters. Most of the towboats are now receiving their annual overhauling. The towboat George Matheson and Keystone State have been hauled out on the Queen City marine ways, the M. P. Wells has gone to Madison, where she will be pulled out and have a new hull built under her, the Helen M. Gould is also on the Madison ways receiving a general overhauling.

COAL MEN ARE PLEASED.

Navigation May Open Late and They Don't Care—A Few Boats Move.

At 9 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge at the Davis island dam showed the stage to be 2.2 feet and the river was still stationary.

Weather conditions give no promise of a rise in the rivers this week, though prophets have higher water booked for September 25. Packet men are considerably concerned about the situation inasmuch as they are being forced to play a wait-and-lose game. River coal men, however, are not very much worried over the low water. They explain that the later the first rise and the later the opening of navigation this fall, the better market there will be at southern ports.

The Clyde Coal Company has taken three barges up to the Great Scott Coal Company's mine, located at Jimtown, W. Va., in the Ninth pool. The Clyde company's mine at Fredericktown is still tied up on account of a strike.

Capt. Joseph B. Williams, captain of the I. C. Woodward, is ill and Capt. William Lloyd is taking his place on the boat. Capt. Hugh Moren of the River Coal Company is also ill.

The Columbia was in and out yesterday. Capt. I. L. Reno was in command and the boat had a fair trip of freight.

The steamer Clifton has come off the Manchester docks after having been repaired extensively.

The steamer Aubrey, Capt. John Britton in command, went to the Eleventh pool yesterday for a tow of lumber.

The Keystone State has been placed on the ways at Cincinnati and will be overhauled.

Capt. J. A. Henderson has returned from a three weeks' trip east.

Pennsylvania Opens in New Jersey Immense Freight Transfer Station

The largest railroad freight transfer station on the Pennsylvania east of Pittsburgh has just been put into service at Waverly, N. J. A special train was sent from Jersey City to Waverly conveying a force of 135 clerks, typewriters and telegraph operators, and 265 freight handlers. During the first day 304 freight cars were handled at the main station and the outside covered platforms. The plan is to remove, as far as possible, all the freight transfer business from Jersey City to Waverly, only local freight trains being handled at the Jersey City station and yard.

All transferring of freight to and from the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the Long Island railroad and all other roads connecting with the Pennsylvania will be done at Waverly hereafter. At the station cars from the Erie, Lackawanna, West Shore, Lehigh and Central roads will be consolidated, so that freight in cars of several roads destined for one city or town will be transferred to one car, or several, for that place.

The Waverly station is the largest transfer station on the Pennsylvania company's system east of Wall, and the transfer freight yard will hold the same rank when all the projected tracks are laid in it. The yard now holds about 3,000 standing freight cars, but when finished will hold upward of 7,000. The big freight yard at Greenville is a terminal, not a transfer yard.

Will Finish Hollidaysburg Yards.

The work of finishing the big new freight yards at Hollidaysburg will be among the first projects taken up by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for completion this fall. The work on these yards was stopped when the Portage railroad went out of commission early in the summer. The yards are well under way and it is believed that by constant work they can be completed before December 1, and thus add much to the facilities of the Pennsylvania for handling the big freight movement east of here. These yards are to be operated in connection with the Portage railroad, which line was originally built and is to be used as a diverse route for through freight to relieve the main line through Altoona. The road was but recently put in operation after having been idle for several months.

E. B. Boyd With Board of Trade.

E. B. Boyd, general freight agent for the Rock Island's lines east of the Missouri river, has been selected to fill the position of traffic manager for the board of trade of Chicago. As such Mr. Boyd will, beginning October 1, have charge of the new freight bureau of that organization. The salary attached to the office, which Mr. Boyd once declined, is said to be $10,000, and carries with it a five-year guarantee. He will be expected to see that the railroads do not discriminate against Chicago in the matter of rates on grain and grain products. Mr. Boyd has been with the Rock Island many years and has held his present position since March, 1899.

President Ramsey in the City.

President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash spent yesterday in Pittsburgh in conference with the local officials of the Wabash lines. The future of the West Side Belt railroad was under careful consideration and plans for its operation and management were considered. Mr. Ramsey is very well pleased with the outlook for the Wabash interests here and believes that the indications all point to a decided improvement in industrial conditions just at the time when the Wabash will be ready to help move the freight.

Railroad Notes.

T. J. Foley, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio at Wheeling, denies the report that he will resign to go with the Rock Island.

Manager William Cotter of the Missouri Pacific and Frank J. McLean, assistant to the general manager, are expected to follow Russell Harding to the C. H. & D.—Pere Marquette.

A Chicago official of the company confirms the report that the freight departments of the Harriman lines in Texas are to be consolidated. The plan is to be adopted as another means of economy. All lines of the system will be put under one management October 1, except the road known as the Texas & New Orleans.

An important meeting of the joint passenger committee was held yesterday at Buffalo. Its object is to further consider the indebtedness of Chicago-St. Paul lines to the roads that are members of the committee for unpaid proportions of second-class tickets to New York sold to meet Soo line competition at a rate that was not sanctioned by the eastern lines, and which they refused to recognize.

OAKLAND SITE IS UNDER OPTION

Local Capitalists Propose to Build Hotel at Wilmot and Boquet Streets.

LATE DEALINGS IN OAKMONT

Pittsburgh capitalists have secured an option on a plot of vacant frontage, 220x270 feet, at the corner of Wilmot and Boquet street, Fourteenth ward, for a site for a big hotel. The property belongs to Thomas Loughrey and the project is the outcome of the building of the new bridge over Four Mile run near this corner. Just previous to the letting of the contract for the Wilmot street bridge frontage in this neighborhood was on the market at $150 a foot. Now some parcels are held at nearly twice that figure for business locations. The site optioned is six feet above grade and when the bridge is completed will be a very desirable corner for hotel purposes. It commands a fine view of the entire boundary line of Schenley park and is convenient to both the business district and the East End residence sections.

The foundations for the Wilmot street bridge are now being set. It is expected that the bridge will be completed by March 1. For the residents of the South Side, Second avenue and the Hazelwood district this will afford a short route to the park and the resulting increase in travel along the streets near the bridge is certain to stimulate building there next year. In anticipation of the accruing advantages considerable frontage has been taken off the market lately, among the plots being 935 feet of the Loughrey property in Boquet street and Park View boulevard.

Bought Home for $11,500.

Through the Real Estate Trust Company H. E. Smythe of the Smythe Contracting Company has purchased from J. R. Johnston 1.25 acres at the foot of C street, Oakmont, for $11,500. The place is set with fine trees and shrubbery and has on it a two-story frame house which will be improved at a cost of $5,000. This property adjoins the holdings of the Oakmont Boat club. When the present deal was started, two weeks ago, the price was fixed at $10,000, but the eagerness of two or more would-be buyers sent the figure up $1,500 more. Mr. Johnston, the seller, will build a fine house at once on the river front near this lot.

The certainty of greatly improved suburban service as soon as the Brilliant cut-off on the Pennsylvania railroad is completed is bringing into the market desirable frontage in and around Oakmont and values are advancing rapidly. The sales made this summer have nearly all been to men of means who propose to build fine houses on their lots and make their homes in Oakmont. Five fine houses are assured for Oakmont Heights, which has been the choice of most of the buyers, this fall. Charles Bailey has started a large brick residence to cost $25,000. W. G. Taylor of the Pittsburgh Gauge and Supply Company has plans for a $30,000 residence at T and Tenth streets, and E. E. Jones is taking bids on a $12,000 house in Eighth street. G. A. Mueller is just finishing a $20,000 house in H street and a $15,000 house is being built by Edward Arensberg at A and Fourth streets. Mr. Taylor and Chester D. Hoag will start their houses as soon as councils have decided on the grading and macadamizing of H street, which is the main thoroughfare from Hulton station to the Oakmont Country club grounds. The club has agreed to pay $3,500 of the cost of this improvement and citizens have sent in a petition widely signed, but so far the councils have held up the project.

Interesting Purchase Downtown.

The Bushel property at Nos. 36 and 38 Second avenue, more recently owned by Joseph Cohen, has been sold to Frank C. Jones, treasurer of the Vandergrift Lumber Company, for $44,400 through the Aronson Realty Company. The property is in the heart of the Wabash territory adjoining one lot already owned by the railroad and it is rumored that this deal was made in their interest. The lot faces 40 feet on the south side of Second avenue between Ferry street and Redoubt alley, and is nearly opposite the big plant of McClure & Co. Two brick houses stand on the lot. The sale figures at the rate of about $1,100 a front foot. The Wabash has just condemned several properties along Redoubt alley, and this property is in the track of its improvements.

In part payment for the Second avenue lot Mr. Cohen received a modern brick house on 24x120 feet in Quincey street, a frame house on 20x121 in Onyx street, and five lots, 30x100 feet each, in Hays street. These were valued at $23,000.

Charles Weinemann sold to W. H. Vaught of Robinson township an improved property, 58x78.5 feet, at the corner of Sycamore and Smith streets, Thirty-second ward, for $13,500.

On Tuesday night the board of education of Swissvale borough approved the plans of Architect F. G. Scheibler, Jr., of Wilkinsburg for the two school houses to be erected at Wilkins place and Hawkins station. The former will be at Braddock avenue, Charles and Milton streets, and the latter at Braddock avenue and Vernon street. The buildings will contain 12 rooms each and the contracts for them will be awarded in a few days so that work may be started this fall.

The new Edgewood club, which was chartered last July, will build an addition to its club house in Maple avenue. The addition will be 40x115 feet and will cost approximately $12,000. On the first floor will be a bowling room, 40x87 feet, with four alleys, and a billiard and pool room, 20x25 feet in size. An assembly hall, 40x80 feet, will take up nearly the whole of the second floor. The addition will be started in a few days and meanwhile the old clubhouse, which was formerly the Alexander residence, is being thoroughly renovated and redecorated. The club has four tennis courts and will provide for other athletic exercises. The limit of membership, 200 persons, was reached a short time ago. Following are the officers: President, James B. Graham; secretary, Charles W. Garland; treasurer, C. E. Willock. The other directors are: John F. Miller, A. F. McDonald, E. J. Lloyd, O. B. Craig, F. G. Wallace and Charles N. Thorpe.

COFFEE IS LOOKING UP; PLENTY OF PEARS HERE

Currant Crop Light—Prune Market Quiet—Produce Still Dragging.

There is a decidedly upward tendency in the coffee market at present and higher jobbing prices are looked for. Cable advices from prominent foreign houses reiterate the estimate of 6,250,000 bags as the yield of the present Santos crop. It is stated that the flowering of 1905-1906 crop promises badly, and this information has made higher European markets, thus bringing about a different tone here. Attention is also being called to the fact that the world's stock of coffee is larger than a year ago. Europe has 600,000 bags less than at this time last year, the increase in the supply of coffee being wholly in the United States, which is about 900,000 bags larger than last year.

Flour looked better yesterday, in line with the better feeling on wheat. Dried fruits are quiet for this time of the year. Apricots are reported easier on the Pacific coast. Latest estimates put the new currant crop at less than 130,000 tons, and the market in this line is erratic. There is a light demand on prunes and prices are on a very low basis. The coming crop will not be large, but sufficient for requirements in that the carry-over stock will be heavy. Shelled nuts of all kinds are firm, especially almonds, which are rapidly tending toward a higher price level.

Produce trade is still slow here. Arrivals are big and demand is not very good. Onions are showing weak at present. Celery is looking better than it did one week ago, and prices are advanced. Bananas and pineapples are easy under full supplies. Arrivals of Jamaica oranges are still light and find ready market at present quotations. The yards are crowded with Delaware pears. Lima beans and tomatoes are quoted higher. Utah peaches are coming in now.

Straw is still in active demand and hay of all grades is being disposed of easily at prevailing prices. Ear corn is firm and oats are holding their own. Millfeed is quoted lower, but the market is in good shape.

After Many Days Oil Men Are Rejoiced by News of a Gusher Strike

For the first time in a number of weeks a well has been drilled in with a production sufficient to warrant an estimate by the hour instead of by the day. This new gusher strike is the property of the Philadelphia Company and is located on Church run, near Burton, Wetzel county, and is its second test on the Sarah Anderson farm, located 500 feet west of the first test on the same farm.

When drilled into the first pay, in the fourth sand, the well began to flow and for the first 12 hours averaged 25 barrels an hour. When drilled deeper it should get a second pay and if it duplicates the actions of No. 1, should get an increased production. This is the first well completed in the immediate vicinity of the initial producer and has improved the chances for opening a new pool. Within a week three more wells should get the sand in that development.

South of Littleton, in the same county, the South Penn Oil Company's second test on the Enix Anderson farm is in the Gordon and has a show for a light pumper. In the same district the South Penn company has touched up its No. 1 on the George Albaugh farm with a 16-quart shot and the well produced 20 barrels the first 24 hours.

In the Pine Grove extension the South Penn company has drilled its No. 4 on the Pitman-Yeater farm 25 feet into the stray and the hole has filled up 1,000 feet with fluid. In the Smithfield district the same company is drilling in the top of the fourth sand at its No. 56 on the B. W. Peterson farm.

On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 3 on the Mary Moore farm 33 feet into the stray and has shut down to move back the boiler. In the same district the same company has drilled its No. 4 on the John Price farm into the stray 27 feet and has developed no oil or gas. In the Downs district, Marion county, the South Penn company has drilled its second test on the E. W. Hamilton farm into the 50-foot and has developed a fair gas pressure.

DEMAND FOR FLOUR STRENGTHENS WHEAT

Depression in Corn and Oats Continues—Provisions Are Steady.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Improved demand for flour in the northwest was largely responsible for strength in wheat here today. Another vital factor was high prices for cash grain in southwestern markets. At the close the December and May deliveries of wheat showed a gain of 1½c. Corn is off ¼@⅜c. Oats are down ⅜@½c. Provisions are steady.

Under the influence of lower cables and favorable weather throughout the corn belt, wheat opened a trifle easier, December and May each being unchanged to ⅛c lower, at $1 08⅞@1 09 and $1 10⅜@1 10¼ respectively. Moderate liquidation by local traders resulted in an additional decline, December selling off to $1 08⅝ and May to $1 10⅛@1 10¼. The decline apparently was due more to a lack of demand than to selling. As the session advanced trading became more brisk, prospects of rainy weather in the northwest bringing out a number of buying orders from commission houses. There was also some heavy buying credited to the leader of the bull clique. The market gradually assumed a strong undertone, which developed into decided strength late in the day. The flour situation in the northwest was perhaps the most prominent factor that contributed to the improved feeling in the wheat market here, reports from Minneapolis indicating decidedly increased demand. News from the southwest also was bullish, a private message from St. Louis predicting a radical falling off in wheat arrivals there. The force of this statement, however, was largely offset by the day's total primary receipts, which were considerably in excess of those of a year ago. An advance of three cents in the price of cash wheat at Kansas City accounted for much of the late bullishness in speculative trading here. The market closed practically at the high point of the day. The high point on December was reached at $1 10⅝, and final figures were at $1 10½. May closed at $1 12¼. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 46,700 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,152,600 bushels, compared with 974,300 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 964 against 459 cars last week and 715 cars a year ago.

Higher temperatures throughout the west were the main factor in producing a weak corn market. A report of a Cincinnati trade journal, however, had much to do with the general liquidation that was in evidence during the entire day. The report claimed that 90 per cent of the corn crop is now safe from frost, thus insuring to a certainty a total yield of 2,300,000,000 bushels. The market was weak from start to finish. December opened a shade to ¼@⅜c lower, at 50@50¼c, sold between 49⅝c and 50⅜c, and closed at 50c. Local receipts were 369 cars with 36 of contract grade.

Heavy selling by cash houses and liquidation by local longs caused weakness in oats. The declining tendency of corn and the immense stocks of high-class oats were factors that could not be resisted. December opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 31⅝@31½c, sold between 31½c and 31¾c and closed at 31⅝@31¾c. Local receipts were 180 cars.

Provisions were steady in sympathy with hogs. Owing to a strong cash situation there was considerable bullish talk on lard and this had some effect on the general market. The weakness of corn induced a little liquidation by outside holders. At the close January pork was up 2½c, at $13 12½. Lard was off 2½c, at $7 27½. Ribs were a shade higher, at $6 80.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 97 cars; corn, 354 cars; oats, 176 cars; hogs, 14,000 head.

FIGHT MAY BE FOUR-CORNERED

Thirty-Third's Republican Senatorial Candidates Will Carry Contest to Polls.

DEMOCRATS MAY DO LIKEWISE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 22.

Failing in their efforts to reach an agreement, the rival candidates for the Republican nomination for state senator in the Thirty-third senatorial district will take out nomination papers and carry their contest to the polls at the November election. Both aspirants have secured blank nomination papers at the state department in anticipation of a failure to agree on a nominee at the next meeting of the conference, which will be held here Monday, and are prepared to secure the requisite number of signatures to entitle them to a place on the official ballot.

Allen S. Welch, Huntingdon county's choice for senator, said at the close of today's session, at which several fruitless ballots were taken, that the conference might as well adjourn and go home, for he did not propose to agree to any compromise that did not involve his nomination. Senator Alexander Stewart, Franklin county's candidate, said he would never yield to Mr. Welch, and that he was willing that the contest should go to the polls.

With both candidates determined not to compromise, it is unlikely that a nomination will be made at Monday's meeting, which probably will be the last, as the time limit for filing certificates of nomination in the state department expires on Tuesday.

Senator Penrose wants Stewart nominated and recently told Welch that if he withdrew in the senator's favor he would recognize him as the leader of the Republican organization in Huntingdon, and support him for re-election as county chairman. Welch has refused to consent to this proposition because he believes the Republican voters of Huntingdon want him to have the nomination, and would be satisfied with nothing else.

The only chance for the Democrats to carry the district is for both the Republican candidates to stay in the field. The Democrats are now quarreling among themselves over the senatorial nomination. The state campaign managers desire the nomination of ex-Senator H. J. McAteer of Huntingdon, who was elected in 1884 over two Republican candidates, and they are trying to induce Sheriff James F. McPherran of Chambersburg to withdraw his candidacy when the conference reconvenes Monday afternoon. McPherran, however, thinks he is just as much entitled to the nomination as McAteer, and if the Republican conferees fail to make a nomination he will remain a candidate and deadlock the Democratic conference.

The outcome probably will be that all four candidates will fight it out to a finish, in which event one of the Republican candidates is almost certain to be elected.

TUNKHANNOCK, Sept. 22.—The Democrats of the Fourteenth district today nominated John Kubach of Honesdale for congress.

TANCRED COMMANDERY HOME, TIRED AND HAPPY

Traveled Over Seven Thousand, Five Hundred Miles and Only 45 Minutes Late Getting Home.

Tired, happy and hungry, after traveling 7,500 miles on American soil, about 40 members of Tancred Commandery No. 48, Knights Templar, arrived at Union station yesterday afternoon only 45 minutes late on a schedule that took them to the Knights' triennial conclave in San Francisco and brought them back again, going via the northern route and returning over one of the southern lines. The run from Columbus was made in 4 hours and 30 minutes, an hour and a half faster than schedule time.

"The finest ever," is the way the enthusiastic members of the commandery described it when asked about the trip. "There was not a day that was not filled with new wonders and new delights. Even to those who had practically followed the same itinerary in jaunts across the continent before, the event was a most delightful one. Our receptions could not have been kinder. From Pittsburgh all the way up to Victoria, in the dominions of King Edward, the trip was one delightful reception everywhere we stopped. In every town the inhabitants seemed to vie with each other in extending courtesies to the knights.

"In San Francisco we had the best of accommodations and the finest treatment, and the order made no mistake in selecting the Golden Gate city for the triennial conclave. The California people were particularly pleased to meet Pittsburghers. There were great delegations of the Golden state men at the triennial gathering in Pittsburgh a few years ago. They remembered their reception here and returned every compliment with compound interest. We traveled a little over 7,500 miles and the trip was completed within 45 minutes of a schedule arranged weeks before we started. We look upon this as a triumph in railroad science.

"We would undoubtedly have reached Pittsburgh on time had it not been for the wreck at Shirttail Bend, on the Union Pacific, this side of Kansas City. That was the crash in which the Providence, R. I., commandery was involved. The wreck delayed us several hours. We were over two hours late in getting into Columbus, but we made that all up between there and Pittsburgh, within 45 minutes. The balance of the Tancred party stopped in St. Louis to see the fair."

FOUND BOYS IN A CAVE.

Policeman Fell Through the Earth in the Midst of a Youthful Gang of Lawbreakers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Six boys between the ages of 11 and 14 were arrested this afternoon by Policeman Moon in a cave in the middle of a vacant lot in One Hundred and Forty-fourth street. A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against them and they were turned over to the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

The police first heard of the band through Max M. Pullman, who reported that the boys were breaking all the glass in an apartment house. Policeman Moon saw a pair of legs going over a fence. He started over after them. Moon got over the obstruction in less than a minute, but there was no one in sight. He walked to the middle of the lot and pondered. Suddenly the earth began to give way beneath him and he fell through the ground, coming down hard on a table around which were seated the band in the midst of a feast. Surprise was mutual.

HAD TRUNK FULL OF DAGGERS.

It Made Trouble for Californian Arrested by Russians as a Japanese Spy.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—Dr. Herman Bayless of Los Angeles, formerly of Cincinnati, has written his sister, Mrs. Helen Lansdowne of Covington, Ky., from Vienna about being arrested at Radonsk by Russian secret officers and held for 24 hours under suspicion of being a Japanese spy.

Dr. Bayless and his companion took a short route from Northern Germany across a portion of Russia. Passports which had been arranged for did not arrive, but the travelers proceeded, expecting that the passports would be forwarded. Meantime they were arrested. Dr. Bayless had a trunk full of daggers, having a fondness for collecting such souvenirs. It was this trunk which came very near getting him into trouble, even after he had identified himself and his companion.

"It won't do to foget you, officer. You know I was on the force myself."

President Roosevelt this afternoon thus greeted two of the many persons who thronged West Philadelphia station when the Pennsylvania limited for Washington, bearing the chief magistrate from Oyster Bay to the White House, pulled up a few minutes before 3 o'clock.

The president's first remark was addressed to Senator Philander C. Knox. The subject of his second greeting was Patrolman Russ, who was one of the detail of bluecoats lined up along the platform to restrain the spectators.

Senator Knox was in waiting to keep an appointment with the president. As the train to which the Roosevelt car was attached pulled into the station he greeted the president and entered the private compartment. The former attorney general was speedily recognized by the spectators about the station, who hoped that they might witness an important diplomatic meeting. Mr. Knox did not satisfy their curiosity, for he merely shook hands with the president and then stepped aboard the latter's private car.

"I had an appointment with the president at Oyster Bay on Monday last," said the junior senator. "I was unable to keep that appointment at the time by reason of having a severe cold. The president notified me to meet him at his train in this city today, and that is why I am here. I have no idea of the matter he desires to discuss with me. I suppose he wishes to talk over matters in general."

Asked if he would remain in Washington for any length of time, Senator Knox said he would return tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson of this city shared the president's private car.

As Senator Knox was about to enter the train, President Roosevelt espied Patrolman Russ. He smiled and stepped to the platform, while Russ, expecting the president desired some errand done, walked up to him and saluted. The president held out his hand. Russ transferred his club to the left hand as he met the president's grasp.

"It won't do to forget you," said Mr. Roosevelt, as they shook hands. "You know I was on the force myself."

Then the train pulled out, amid the cheers of bystanders.

HALL SYNDICATE WILL HAVE TO MAKE A FIGHT

Pittsburgh Railways Company Will Ask for the Discharge of a Special Committee of Councils.

Effort will be made at a meeting of select council, to be held next Monday, to discharge the special committee from further consideration of the three ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company referred to it. Members friendly to the Hall syndicate are expected to fight the proposition.

Over a month ago the ordinances were referred to this special committee, which is composed of Messrs. Walters, Schempp, Thomas O'Brien, Cavitt and Burns. This is supposed to be a committee friendly to the interests of the Hall syndicate. Yesterday it was said that the Pittsburgh Railways Company had decided to try to force the reporting of the bills to council.

MORMON PROPAGANDA BARRED IN HUNGARY

Count Tisza, the Minister of the Interior, Approves Expulsion of Two Amercan Missionaries.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

VIENNA, Sept. 22.—Count Tisza, the Hungarian minister of the interior, has rendered a decision prohibiting Mormon propaganda within Hungary upon the ground that such a movement is undesirable both from the standpoints of state policy and religion. The immediate occasion of the decision was the expulsion of two Mormon missionaries, Franklin Pingree and William Wetzel, who came from Salt Lake City to Temesvar 18 months ago, and attempted to organize a Mormon community among Hungarians who had formerly resided in Utah.

The two missionaries were promptly expelled, whereupon their Hungarian friends appealed to the minister of the interior, the result being the present decision.

Fish Commission Employes Drowned.

PORT ARTHUR, ONT., Sept. 22.—Robert Smith, Thomas Williams and Harry Shelly, engaged by the United States fish commission in getting trout spawn, were drowned in Moffatt's straits by the overturning of their sailboat in a squall.

Women who work, whether in the house, store, office or factory, very rarely have the ability to stand the strain. The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women, and adds further proof that woman's great friend in need is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restful sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recomended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."—MISS FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is reponsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The case of Mrs. Lennox, which follows, proves this.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Last winter I broke down suddenly and had to seek the advice of a doctor. I felt sore all over, with a pounding in my head, and a dizziness which I had never experienced before. I had a miserable appetite, nothing tasted good, and gradually my health broke down completely. The doctor said I had female weakness, but, although I took his medicine faithfully, I found no relief.

"After two months I decided to try what a change would do for me, and as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was strongly recommended to me I decided to try it. Within three days I felt better, my appetite returned, and I could sleep. In another week I was able to sit up part of the day, and in ten days more I was well. My strength had returned, I gained fourteen pounds, and felt better and stronger than I had for years. I gratefully acknowledge its merits. Very sincerely yours, MRS. BERT E. LENNOX, 120 East 4th St., Dixon, Ill."

Millinery Opening
Continues Friday & Saturday

As was to be expected, the department was crowded all day with enthusiastic admirers of the beautiful creations on display. It is generally acknowledged and known that ours is by far the largest millinery store in Western Pennsylvania. Accordingly our opening always causes a mild sensation, for it sets the styles of the coming season in this section.

Our milliners have been at work for weeks preparing for this opening. Every establishment of prominence in New York was visited, and a thorough study made of the new ideas originated in Paris, Berlin and London. Of all the beautiful things they saw they selected only those ideas which would prove acceptable to the wants of the Smoky City. Of course there are gorgeous conceptions on display, but they are practical and will most becomingly adorn the fair face of its owner. This feature, noticeable in all the hats, will appeal to you most, although there are many more styles shown than you'll see at any other store. The care that has been exercised and the individuality that has been displayed in each single hat will prove to you that we get the lion's share of the millinery business, because we have your interests most at heart.

[illegible] display is ready for you—rare in style—daring in originality—astonishing in variety—pleasing because so practical. The fascinating achievements of our own artists are shown side by side with the flower of the [illegible] foreign designers—there is little [illegible] except in price. You are all cordially invited.
